The Mayor's office was crowded before 9;39. Indeed since the arrest of the defendants was made public in The Times-Visitor last afternoon the matter has been almost the sole topic of conversation on the struct. The news created a profound sensation. The hearing was to begin at 9:30. Mr. Charles M. Busbee appeared as counsel for the prison authorities.

Mr. Walter A. Phillips was attired in a neat summer suit and showed no uneasiness as he sat by his attorney, Mr. S. G. Ryan during the hearing. Col. J. C. L. Harris represented Mr. and Mrs. John Holderfield.

J. T. Broach, the pardoned convict, is apparently about thirty. He is a rather fine looking young fellow, with black hair, dark complexion and a boyish HEARING REMOVED. Upon affidavit of all the defendants the hearing was removed from Mayor Powell. He then sent the case to Justice J. C. Marcom and the latter came to the Mayor's office to conduct the hearing. When court convened Mr. Ryan moved for a severance of the several cases so that each defendant could be tried separately. This course was considered unnecessary by the prosecution, but Justice Marcom gave the defendants the benefit and allowed the cases to be di-BROACH WAIVED EXAMINATION

Thereupon Mr. Busbee said that the of Walter A. Phillips would be considered. At this point Moses, Esq., who had been in consultawith J. T. Broach, announced Broach would waive examination. ce Marcom then bound him over to under a $200 justified bond, but this was reduced to $100. Broach originally from South Carolina. He was living in Surry county, however, when he was tried for his life and sentenced to the State prison for killing his wife. He was never in any trouble before that he says and when the crime was even mentioned to him his eyes filled with tears and he exclaimed: "Oh, don't, don't say anything about it. I don't remember it, I was crazy it must have been an accident." He says that he was not drinking at the time. He had s pistol in his hand, but the next thing he knows he was on trial for his light Unrepresented by attorney he threw himself upon the mercy of the court and was sentenced for ten years and pardoned out by the Governor after he had served four, upon the petition of the collector, the judge, the prosecuting torney and many citizens.
PHILLIPS' CASE.

The case against W. A. Phillips was then proceeded with. The first witness was J. S. Turner. sary Steward at the State prison He said that he had missed one bag of flour and one bag of meal. Last Sunday, acting under instructions of Mr. Aren dall, the witness made a careful list of all the supplies in the department, and went over his list twice to verify Monday he found all the supplies here. Monday evening he took anothe inventory and next morning found a bag of flour and a bag of meal missing.

On cross examination Mr. Turner said he alone had a key to the commissary department so far as he knew. It wa an ordinary lock and had been on the MR. ARENDALL SWORN.

Mr. F. B. Arendall, general manage at the prison, testified that the commis sary was entirely in charge of Mr. Tur-There are two trustys, Hollingsworth (white) and Jordan Pritchard, (colored), who are not locked up at night and if they had keys they would have an opportunity to remove articles from the commissary. On cross examination by Mr. Ryan the witness said there were several ways by which a person could go from the commissary out through the prison without seeing any one. There are no guards on the stockade at night. he guards are then in the cell block oldingsworth and Pritchard, trustys came to town each night for Holder field. As trustys they could go out of the prison at night.

CONVICT ON THE STAND. M. D. Hollingsworth was placed on the stand and said a sack of meal and a sack of flour were brought to town a sack of flour were brought to town Monday night in a hack. This meal and flour were in the back when he hitched up. Pritchard (a colored trusty) was with him. Hollingsworth said he and Pritchard delivered the meal and flour at Holderfield's house. cross examination Hollingsworth from Henderson county, for violating the revenue law. He said that he had been in the habit of carry sacks of meal, flour and meats to Holderfield under order of the penitentiary authorities, he supposed it was charged to Holderfield. He never carried any at night except on Monday night. He had no idea that it has stol-en. He did not ask how it came to be in the back.

Hollingsworth is apparently about 34. He is rather stout and has a rather good face. No one would judge him to be an had known Mr. W. A. Phillips for twelve years. He never heard anything against him. Regarded his character as grand jury.

Justice Marcom then recognized Mr. Phillips upon his personal recognizance under the sum of $50 for his appearance at the next term of the court.

HOLDERFIELD DISMISSED.

Mr. Busbee stated that the authorities desired to persecute no one, but that they wanted the matter thoroughly in-vestigated. He did not think there was any evidence to hold Mr. Holderfield, thereupon Justice Marcom dismissed

TWO MORE WITNESSES. Mr. Busbee did think that Mrs. Holderfield should be sent on to court. Col. Harris asked if the prosecution had any evidence against her other than that already introduced. The prosecution replied by placing first the negro trusty Jordan Pritchard on the stand and he swore that he was told not to deliver the goods to Mr. Holderfield. Ed. Dancey, colored, then testified that he had car-ried three notes to Mrs. Holderfield from Broach. When he handed her one of the notes she told him to go into the room and get two sacks of flour and three sides of meat and carry them to Mr. Phillips.

When Col. Harris concluded a brief ar gument in favor of Mrs. Holderfield, his client, Justice Marcom took her personal recognizance under a $50 bond for he appearance at the July term of the CONCLUSION. Thus the hearing ended, Mr. Phillips and Mrs. Holderfield being recognized for their appearance, J. T. Broach being placed under a $100 justified bond, which he will probably give, and Mr. Holder-field being dismissed.

BAR-KEEPER KILLED ONE

The Troops Attack a Barroom in Winnemucca, the Culprits are not Detected by Officers

WINNEMUCCA, NEV., June 30.-Last night a special train, containing members of companies I and M of the Twenty First Infantry and Company E of the Twenty Fourth Colorado Regiment, arrived here.

A number of men left the train and raided the neighboring saloons. They wrecked one bar and stole all the liquor in sight. The barkeeper shot down one soldier and the rest then fled.

Excited citizens soon surrounded the train. Sheriff McDeid and District Attorney Van Duser desired not to permit the train to leave until the guilty men were given up. The three companies were ordered out twice for inspection but the culprits were not identified.

The District Attorney finally allowed the train to proceed in order not to delay the sailing of the troops for the Philippines.

KIDNAPPING.

A Cace in Which a Greensboro Lady Figures. The Charlotte Observer's Greensbor

orrespondent writes:

There is a great deal of interest shown here in a case of kidnapping, in which Miss Elvia M. Bell, of Greens boro, plays a leading part. Her sister, it seems, had married a man named Case from Ocean Springs, Miss., from whom she separated on account of mis treatment. There were two children which it was arranged should be returned to the mother on the 7th of May, but when that day arrived Mr. Case, refused to either give up the children or communicate with his wife on the subject. Then comes in the heroine, Miss Bell, who left here on the 10th of June for Ocean Springs. Upon arrival there she found that Case would give up but one of the children, but in her resolve to bring both of the little girls to Greensboro Miss Bell made friends with several lawyers, a newspaper reporter and many other people, who as-sisted her with successful execution of her plan. She secured permission for the children to dine with her, took a sail down the river, boarded a train and concealed them until she got to Memphis where she was arrested. Here the reporter again appeared as a parallel hero, obtained counsel for her; and finally, according to The Mo-bile Daily Item, Judge Sumner made an order discharging from custody the young woman. . . . . . The Judge stated that he did it on the contract produced by Miss Bell, but that if the matter were before him otherwise or between father and mother he would give the custody of the children to the mother." Miss Bell then received quite a general ovation in Mobile. She arrived in Greensboro with the two children safe and sound Sunday night.
