RIOT AT FORT McPHERSON

Eight Men S' abbed or Shot—Officers Try to Keep the Details Secret.

The Atlanta Journal of last evening gives the following account of a riot at Fort McPherson:

A big riot occurred last night at Fort McPherson between the regular and the volunteer troops stationed there. The rioters of the fray have been floating about the city all day, and it is said that the army officers in charge are suppressing the details of the affray.

According to the best reports obtainable, eight men were seriously shot or stabbed, and are today languishing in the post hospital. The names of the wounded are not known, owing to the strict censorship which is being exercised by the officers at the post.

It seems that many of the troops were drunk during the afternoon, and that the old trouble between the regulars and the volunteers broke out on the campus while the men were arguing some insignificant question.

The men ran for their weapons and returned to the field. Some were armed with the Krag-Jorgensen bayonets and some had revolvers. The fight became so serious that the commanding officer of the post ordered out a company of the regulars to interfere.

The company charged the rioters with fixed bayonets according to the report, and cleared the field of the fighters. Eight men lay on the ground when the fracas was over, unable to get up. They were picked up and taken to the hospital, where they are confined today.

The exact extent of the injuries sustained by the victims of the brawl could not be obtained, but it is said that several of the men are desperately wounded. It is almost a miracle that some were not killed outright when the nature of the weapons used is considered.

The paying off of the troops yesterday and the day before, and their frequent visits to the barrooms of the city is the cause of the riot. Many of the men were arrested by the police in the city, as they were unable to get to the post.

Now, then, where could there be a better man found for the place, provided he can be induced to accept it, than Mr. D. S. Hamilton. He is a No. 1 all-around man, and would undoubtedly give entire satisfaction to all the people.

IMPEACH WOODWARD

Atlanta's Mayor Falls From Grace.

MUST RESIGN BY MONDAY

A Formal Demand will be Made by the Council for His Resignation—Then—Political Stir.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 4.—Unless he submits his resignation before Monday next Mayor James G. Woodward of this city, will doubtless be forced out of office on impeachment proceedings. He will be charged with improper and immoral conduct and being intoxicated, bringing disgrace upon himself and the city of Atlanta.

Two months ago Rev. L. G. Broughton, a Baptist minister, who is now in New York to preach in Dr. A. C. Dixon's pulpit in Brooklyn, charged Mayor Woodward with being a drunkard, a libertine and a disgrace to the city, demanding his retirement from office. Charges were made before the city council, and Mayor Woodward asked for clemency, promising to reform and to refrain from drink if the charges were dropped.

Through the influence of his friends the matter was hushed and the Mayor was put on probation. He resumed his duties and worked without interruption until Monday, when he again fell from grace by drink, and is now unable to perform his duties as Mayor.

A formal demand will be made by the Council Monday for his resignation, and if he refuses to submit it, as he says he will do, there will be an immediate step to impeachment. He was inaugurated as Mayor in January last, having been elected as the workmen's candidate.

His downfall has unsettled the local political situation and there will be an election for Mayor when he retires.

SUPERINTENDENT HUMILIATED.

Deputy Revenue Collector Surlis, of Johnston county, tells of an interesting capture of a moonshiner who was found to be the superintendent of a Presbyterian Sunday school. Surlis went to his house early last Sunday morning and found him in the act of taking a drink of corn whiskey. The moonshiner was then told to show what whiskey he had. He produced a quart. Search was made and whiskey was found in his wife's room, hidden in concealed trenches under his barn, under brushes and brush heaps, etc. Next his distillery was found. The entire plant and liquor supply was made to walk past his Sunday school, while fifty or more children gathered there watched him with a two-gallon jug of his precious "corn liquor," which the officers forced him to carry.

Nashville, Aug. 5.—Late last night a section of the Broad street viaduct gave way with a trolley car. GOD FELLOW NOTES.

The Doing's of the Order in this and Other States.

Manteo No. 8 has admitted thirteen on the club plan and has another club growing.

Seaton Gales No. 44 has taken fourteen on the club plan and expects another club later on.

The Grand Encampment meets in Charlotte on Wednesday next. Several will attend it from the Encampment here.

The crowd attending Manteo Lodge at its last meeting indicates a decided change in the interest felt in the order here.

The amateur degree staff that worked for Manteo Lodge Tuesday evening last while by no means perfect, did themselves and the order credit.

The Grand Secretary will leave Monday, stopping to pay Golden Link Lodge at Durham a visit, but will be absent the balance of the week. Meantime Bro. C. W. Ezell writes August 1st, "Ten new names for Golden Link Lodge last evening." This is a fine start for the second club in that Lodge.

Phalanx Lodge No. 10 at Washington, N. C., reports a club already elected of over a dozen and expects others to follow. This Lodge was organized by the Grand Secretary December 28, 1898.

Brother, have you ever thought of what the heart in the hand implies, in connection with Odd Fellowship? It implies that when we greet our brother, even when we say good morning, good evening, how do you do, or any other greeting it should be with sincerity. A formal greeting shows politeness, but the world can practice that without sincerity. Odd Fellows in spirit cannot. A cold, formal greeting is unknown to Odd Fellowship. Members of the order, so called, may practice it, but the heart is not in it, neither does the obligatory sanction it.

The scales and sword in Odd Fellowship emblemize justice. Justice that rewards to every man his due with candor and without partiality. We know that the distinctions of society sometimes permit justice. We know also that stern justice is needed many times when mercy could be shown. Justice with candor and impartiality is right when administered in love, for where love is mercy will be shown. Odd Fellowship teaches love to humanity as a cardinal virtue. A principle of the order that should rule and predominate in the life of every man. Where love reigns supreme there is no fear of an abuse of power. Hence we claim that in our order both justice and mercy are administered without regard to societies' false distinctions. Is our claim established by the conduct of our members? Do members always live up to the teachings of the order? Sadly we have to confess they do not, but it is the "old Adam" in them and not Odd Fellowship.

ALDERMEN.

The board of aldermen met last night Chairman Miller of the finance committee recommended that the tax rate remain the same, namely: 90 cents on the $100 for general purposes; 33 1-3 cents on the $100 for special purposes and to pay interest on bonds and create a sinking fund; $2.00 on the poll for general purposes; $1.70 on the poll for special purposes.

The Finance Committee find that the assessment on real property as made for 1899 has increased $312,735. The personal property has decreased $52,778. The number of polls has increased 539. The street committee recommended an assistant for Street Commissioner Blake.

The water question was postponed. Various petitions were presented and referred. The caucus nominees previously mentioned were elected.

The Primitive Baptist church will hold services at the Soldiers' Home tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

WHOLE CHOIR IN A FIGHT.

Colored Woman Starts A Row in an Altoona Church.

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 4.—George W. Coleman, president of the Westmoreland Afro-American League, a politician of national repute among colored men and William McKinley's private messenger during his term as Governor of Ohio, is in jail at Greensburg on the charge of aggravated assault and battery. Coleman sings in the choir of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, and so do Mrs. George Washington Dorsey has objected to Coleman's attentions to her daughter, it is said, and when she saw the two whispering together during the services on Tuesday evening she lost her temper and drew Coleman a blow on the head with her umbrella. This angered Coleman so that he loosened Mrs. Dorsey's teeth and cut her eye.

The whole choir soon became involved in the melee, and the congregation stood on the seats to get a better view. Pastor Tompkins closed his Bible and shouted to the sexton to turn out the lights. Peace came with the sudden darkness, and it lasted until the interested parties could reach a squire's office, where cross suits on various charges were brought.
