The management this year on the grounds and found him a busy but delighted man. "It is impossible to tell the attendance just now," he said, "but we can to-night when the gate registers are ex-amined. But did you ever see such a crowd?"

Secretary Pogue and the reporter then went into the race track to a point where a birdseye view of the entire grounds could be had. In every direction there was a wast set of humanity. People were packed like sardines in the exhibi-tion hall, which holds nearly 10,000, thing every time, but the articles drawt varied greatly in value. The game was where they were slowly trying to edge their way in and out. The midway had been broadened ten feet, which makes a big difference, yet it was packed. The great grand stand which easily holds 3,000 was crowded.

Secretary Pogne said, "Yes you can state that the prediction which I made Tuesday, that the record would be brok-en if we had fair weather Thursday, has been realized. This is the biggest crowd in the bistory of the North Caroina Agricultural Society. They are ful-tively 17,000 people on the grounds and they are still pouring in. The number will be at least 20,000, 1 believe. We have had o use more enterance gates than even before.

The cotton growers held a brief ses-sion today and perfected a plan of organization.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS. The Confederate Veterans' annual meeting last night was the largest ever held, J. S. Carr was re-dected presi-dent; J. A. Ramsey, vice-president; Claude B. Denson, secretary, A resolu-tion of sympathy with General W. W. Kirkland, now here, in his recent illness, was adopted. It was reported that Mrs. Stonewall Jackson was in a needy condition and arrangements were made to aid her. Walter Clark was thanked for completing the records of the North CONFEDERATE VETERANS. for completing the records of the North Carolina regiments after five years' work, and they were ordered printed January 1st. A report showed that the amount required to erect a memorial shaft in Winchester connetery had been raised and that the monument would be completed next month. The action of L. O'B. Branch Camp, of Raleigh, to ered a monument to the women of the Confederacy was endorsed and all camps will be asked to co-operate. Preliminary steps were taken for a great remnion next year, either in the summer, to con-

B. Parker, Westbrook of Mt. Olive, B. Parker, Westbrook of AR, Onve. Commissioner of Agriculture Patterson and Geo. T. Weston. It was decided that there ought to be a uniform sys-bem of organization and that the printof plans for this should be sent out, so boal organizations can be offseted. Chairman Grimes said it was his idea to have a State organization, with the Eastern Carolina 'Fruckers' Association lation of the midway. License these at-tractions and then employ half a dozen as the parient one, and also to have the local organization. George T. Weston, J. B. Cotfield and Mr. Westbrook, of good Pickerton detectives to arrest any fakir working a progressive or cheating Mt. Olive, were appointed a committee to draft the plan.

MIDWAY POOR.

The Times-Visitor trys to be plain and honest in all matters. In point of num-ers the Fair is a glorious success. In exhibitions it is extremely creditable. All the space is occupied and many of the exhibits are handsome and interesting. The poultry and stock display is exceedfine. However, when you come to the midway, which is the most attractive part of the Fair to many people, it is poor. The truth should be told. The midway does not compare favorably with that of previous years. There are some sgraph tents, many lunch and fruit s, a miniature railway, a spluning

, Millie-Christine, a fellow-playing al instruments at once, a reputed pino wild man and a four legged chicken, and that is about the crop. The side shows which have added so much to the Fair in the past are not to be WRONG TENDENCY IN LITERA-TURE.

The Raleigh Christian Advocate this week contains an editorial on "A Wronk Tendency in Literature" from which the ollowing extract is taken:

"A few years ago, books and maga zines of the better class dared not us profamily except by printers' dashes, and but soldom (not way. Today the oaths are brazinly spelled out, and used in profusion. Not only this, but sacred ment. taings are succeed at and impur-apotheosized. "Nor is this state of affairs conlined to literature. Popular locturers regule us with anecdotes of drunken men, imitat ing their movements, and making their condition a joke. We regret to say that even ministers sometimes listen with since to stories of questionable propriety whose sole pithoften lies in a well-turner in semi-orth or in obscenity?

The remedy for all this is a rigid su pervision of literature that comes into our homes, and a severe let-alone policy toward those lecturers who do not send from the lecture hall better men and omen.

We should be as careful in these affairs as we are in lesser ones, and far more so. A government closes its mails to the treasonable writings of any of her citizens. A public assembly in a Western State drives from its hall a famous ex-Congressman because of his plea Aguinablo, Then should we besitute to boldly attack and destroy anything, how ever strongly championed by fashion and affuence, that detracts in any degree
