REPUBLICANS SWEEP KENTUCKY

Goebel Defeated and the Legislature Probably Republican by Seven

JONES POLLS A TREMENDOUS VOTE IN OHIO BUT NASH WINS

Magnificent Victory for Bryan in Nebraska—Maryland Safely Democratic—New York and New Jersey Legislatures Republican—Republican Rural Gains in Ohio.

New York, Nov. 8.—Returns from the States in which elections were held, at this moment indicate:

Ten thousand majority for the Fusion Democratic ticket in Nebraska.

Twenty-five thousand Republican majority in Ohio, with the Legislature.

Kentucky goes Republican, Goebel being defeated for Governor.

Iowa Republican by sixty-five thousand.

Maryland Democratic by fifteen thousand.

Massachusetts Republican by sixty-five thousand.

Pennsylvania Republican by over one hundred thousand.

KENTUCKY.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—With only three counties in the State to be heard from, the vote of Taylor, Republican for Governor, is 121,032; Goebel, Democrat, 112,206; and Brown, Independent Democrat, 7,391.

The Republicans carried everything in Louisville and claim the Legislature by seven majority. This will give them the United States Senator.

In almost every county the Republicans made big gains, and in some instances former Democratic counties by good majorities went Republican.

The Brown vote of little figure. GOEBEL CLAIMS KENTUCKY.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 8.—Senator Blackburn still continues to claim the State by a small plurality. Goebel telegrams from Louisville that today's developments insure his election by from five to seven thousand.

TAYLOR GAINS AHEAD.

New York, Nov. 8.—The Sun says that the Kentucky Legislature is in doubt. Taylor is 5,500 ahead of Goebel on the face of the returns.

24 KILLED IN KENTUCKY.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—Twenty-four men were killed in election riots at different places in the State on election day and night. Some were shot, others ambushed, others stabbed and in one case a man was stoned to death. Most trouble occurred in Eastern Kentucky.

At White Sulphur Springs, Kentucky, shot James Cornick. A negro was shot in Lexington and seriously wounded during a riot.

OHIO.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 8.—Mayor Jones, Independent for Governor, carried Cuyahoga county by nearly fifteen thousand. Nash carries the State by fifty-five thousand. The indications are that the vote will reach one hundred thousand.

JONES' ROUSING VOPE.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 8.—Jones' majority in Cuyahoga county over Nash and McLean equals McLean's entire vote.

LEGISLATURE REPUBLICAN.

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 8.—Outside of fusion troubles in Cuyahoga county and Jones' movement in other places, the Republicans seem to have gained throughout the State, especially in the rural districts. The Senate stands 19 Republican, 4 doubtful, including 2 from Hamilton county. The House 59 Republican, 34 Democrat, 17 doubtful, including ten members from Hamilton county.

AT CINCINNATI.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Nov. 8.—The Jones vote in this county is 11,000; McLean's plurality 1,100.

NEBRASKA.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 8.—The Fusionists carried the State by 16,000 majority. Newell, fusionist, is elected Congress man. The total vote in the State is close to 220,000 over 2,000 more than the Presidential year. This is conceded in a large measure as a personal victory to Col. Bryan.

Assistant Secretary Melkbehn says that fusion carried the State, but the principle of expansion is still popular in Nebraska.

NEW YORK.

New York, N. Y., Nov. 8.—The Republican majority in the Assembly is 23 against 24 last year. The constitutional amendments probably all carried.

MARYLAND.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 8.—Walter Smith's, Democrat's plurality for Governor is now stated at ten thousand.

NEW JERSEY.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 8.—The Republicans retain control of the Legislature.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

Pierre, S. D., Nov. 8.—The Republican plurality in this State is eight thousand.

IOWA.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 8.—After the same ratio as returns already in coming in other districts, Shaw's, (Republican), plurality, is sixty thousand. The Republicans gained a few members in the legislature.

Pennsylvania Republican. Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 8.—Narrett,

Republican, is elected State Treasurer by from 110,000 to 120,000 majority.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 8.—Crane, Republican, has a plurality in the State for Governor of about sixty thousand.

KANSAS.

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 8.—Retura indicate that the Republicans made gains throughout the State.

VIEWS ON THE ELECTION.

Mr. J. H. Pou and Mr. J. C. L. Harris' Opinions—Dr. Thompson Tells a Story.

The election occasioned much gossip here in Raleigh. Mr. Pou, Mr. Harris and Dr. Thompson were seen and informed of the purport of today's despatches.

Mr. James H. Pou, one of the most astute and conservative Democrats in the State, said that in his opinion the fact that Ohio went Republican and Nebraska Democratic, settled the question of candidates for the next national campaign. Mr. McKinley and Mr. Bryan will be nominated by acclamation by their respective parties. The only matter now open was the selection of the vice-president. Mr. Pou said further that the fact that Maryland had dropped back into the Democratic line was gratifying.

Mr. J. C. L. Harris said: "The Republicans have lost nothing. Yesterday's election was an endorsement of the present administration. Maryland was lost on a factional fight and State issues, but now the issues of 1896 in 1900 Maryland will go Republican. As to Kentucky, not speaking as a partisan, the defeat of Goebel will have a wholesome effect throughout the country and tend to purify political conventions and elections."

Dr. Cyrus Thompson was asked his views as to the election upon the contest in 1900, but said that he did not care to discuss this. However, in respect to Goebel's alleged crooked methods in Kentucky and his conduct at the State, Dr. Thompson said: "I will tell you a story. A customer in Connecticut summons a jury to pass upon the body of a murdered man. The jury announced as their verdict 'It served him right.' They were informed that such a verdict would not do and were instructed to bring in a proper verdict; but again they announced to the court, 'It served him right.' This was when only verdict they would render, and that is all I have to say to you."

BYRON'S ANCESTRAL HOME.

Admiral Lord Byron will be sorry to learn that Newcastle Abbey, his ancestral home, is doomed to disappearance. Some time ago coal was discovered on the property. Mines were opened, and these are proving so popular and rich that they are being worked to their fullest extent. The nation expect, however, by extended and careful engineering, the destruction of the abbey, with its cloisters and quaint old garden.

In this connection the Courts of Europe seem ill to regard its owners of the fact that the "wicked Lord Byron" was not the poet, but his cousin and professor in the title. This Lord Byron killed a near kinsman in a singularly cowardly manner, and after being convicted by the House of Lords of manslaughter and punished with imprisonment and banishment to the remotest of his days in New South Wales, shamed by the people and so embittered against his fellow-creatures that he sought in every way possible to shock and horrify them. It was he who brought down the famous euse upon Newstead Abbey by violating the tomb of some of the old-time abbots of the house of Lords, and covering their skulls with drinking cups, which he used for his orgies. The curse was to the effect that Newstead Abbey should never from that time forth pass from father to son, and although it has changed hands repeatedly and has been owned in turn by nine nobles, yet by Colonel Wildman and by the late Mr. Welby, yet the delight seems to be to hang to it, for, although his late owner had a son, it descended to his eldest daughter, who is about to demolish the historical landmark.

ONE OF THE TROUBLES OF A ROMAN MAN.

According to his own admission, Henry Willard, one of the two surviving brothers of the three who were famous in Washington hotel history for a third of a century, is in failing health, although he is active as a cat on his feet and has every appearance of robust vitality.

Henry Willard is one of the wealthy business men of Washington. He retired from active business several years ago—that is to say, he retired as much as he could. A day ago a friend called him on the street and inquired about his health.

"I am feeling badly," was the reply. "I do not sleep well. I toss all night long, and wake up unrefreshed. I do not know what I am going to do."

"Thinking to 'jolly' him the friend remarked: "If I were as comfortably fixed as you, I think I would sleep soundly. I certainly would not lose sleep from worry."

"I am not so sure of that," rejoined the old man, and his voice took on a querulous tone. "I am not so sure what you would do if you were in my place. Why, just think of it! Suppose you had from $500,000 to $1,000,000 lying idle in the bank all the time, and had to worry about investing it. Maybe you wouldn't find it so blamed easy to sleep as you think. Just think of it—all that money not earning a dollar!"—Chicago Post.

Miss Julia Tompkins, who has been the guest of Mrs. Marion Butler at Elliott, is stopping over in Raleigh with Mrs. R. C. Myers, on her way to Charlotte.

Mr. Alfred Upchurch left on the morning train for Durham, where he goes to accept a position with the Postal Telegraph Company. He is a bright young man and may succeed at this time.

Mr. Albert L. Baker, of Chicago, who will train the company for "The Chimney of Normandy," arrived in the city today.

EUROPEAN WAR

Kaiser to Visit Victoria on Errand of Peace

THE CZAR ALSO INTERESTED

Important Delayed Despatch from Petersburg on the Routing of a Boer Force by the British Troops.

Petersburg, Nov. 8.—Wide-spread rumors from both Dutch and native sources have been current since yesterday that during the reconnaissance at Ladysmith northward the British engaged the enemy, and it is said that a Lyddite battery drove the Boers into the valley, where the cavalry charged through them. The enemy's casualties are estimated at a thousand. A scribble followed the further success of yesterday. Rumors brought to Pretoria being report the Boers who were killed and wounded. The disclosure of names occasioned much mourning by their relatives here. It is a fact that Deibert drew in his lines today. He has only the outpost Colaba. The town was looted. Bridges are intact and the railroad is unobstructed only at Neuthoppe.

PETERSBURG'S VIEW.

Berlin, Nov. 8.—A sensational article in the Cologne Gazette says that the main point of discussion in today's conference of the Czar and the Kaiser at Potsdam, will be means of preventing the Transvaal war from spreading beyond the boundaries in South Africa, causing a general European conflagration. The chief object of the Kaiser's subsequent visit to Queen Victoria is finally settling the question of a gradual all danger of a European war arising from the South African situation.

TRANSPORTS.

Cape Town, Nov. 8.—The first transport leaving an army corps is slighted. Over twenty one thousand should be loaded before the end of the week.

BRIDGES BLOWN UP.

Queenstown, Nov. 8.—Delayed.—It is rumored that the railway bridges at Stenburgh, Spruit and Storkburg Junction are blown up.

REPORTS.

Cape Town, Nov. 8.—Delayed.—Volunteers for the British army are recruited with enthusiasm. A corps goes to the front tonight. The Cape Colony Dutch have remained strictly neutral, and on the occasion many Dutch in Boerland are believed to have joined the Boers.

BOERS ACTIVE.

Estcourt, Nov. 8.—Delayed.—An armored train left here today to attempt to reach Ladysmith. It got beyond Colenso, but was forced to abandon the project and return. The Boers formed a force at Pieters Station half way between Colenso and Ladysmith and the track was torn up. Boers have not demonstrated south of Colenso. Captain Murray in command here is awaiting himself of delay to strongly fortify the town.

MR. SOWERS LEAVES.

Mr. C. F. Sowers, former owner of the Excelsior Steam Laundry, will leave tomorrow for Washington City, where he will operate a steam laundry. Mr. Sowers has made many friends during his residence here and these wish to bid him much success in his new field which he merits and will no doubt receive.

Mr. E. F. Prasse, of Tampa, Fla., an up-to-date lumberman, arrived today and will manage the Excelsior in the future for Mr. B. W. Baker, the present owner.

CLEARING TONIGHT; WARMER.

For Raleigh and vicinity: Clearing tonight; fair, warmer Wednesday.

The weather is cloudy about the entire Atlantic coast with light rains from North Carolina to Florida. Generally fair weather prevails in the central valley, southern states and in the west with moderate temperatures everywhere.

The only point reporting a temperature below freezing was Huron, S. D. Gale, Southerly winds in the west indicate rising temperatures.

ACCIDENT.

New York, Nov. 8.—Two locomotives, Buffalo Express and the O. L. W. left the track at Lake Hopalong last night. Two express cars and a baggage car were dragged after them, turned around, with two hundred passengers. None were badly hurt.

HANDSOME OFFICES.

One of the prettiest suites of offices in the handsome checker building is the suite occupied by Mr. J. R. Johnston, manager of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada. These offices are on the fourth floor and furnished in the most luxurious style, and the arrangements are most complete and convenient. Room 403 is the private office of Mr. Johnston—the furnishings and furniture is most expensive and handsome in design. Room 402 is the engineers department, well arranged and is in charge of Mr. George Allison. Room 402 is the city agents department, and is presided over by Mr. C. B. Brickman, the clever representative of the Raleigh district of this company.

Mr. Johnston has been located here for nearly four years as the manager for the Sun Life for North and South Carolina, and by his ability has built up a large and profitable business.

The Ariel Ladies' Sextette Company came in this morning. They appear at the Academy of Music tonight.

Mr. Hugh O'Keefe Kendrick, son of Christian and Mrs. W. B. Kendrick, who are with him, is seriously ill with typhoid fever in Atlanta, Ga. It is with sincere regret that the illness is serious and that Hugh is very weak, yet we do hope so bright a boy may be spared. He is at the Halycon Sanitarium, one of the best for good treatment and nursing.

WEDDING BELLS

A Day of Marriages and Giving in Marriage

DON CUPID CONQUORS

Two Marriages Solemnized in Raleigh.

Two Raleigh Men Leave to Capture Fair Prizes in the Lottery of Life.

This morning at ten o'clock at the residence of the brides mother, Mrs. A. E. Ray, on Fayetteville street, Miss Annie Ray and Mr. J. T. Burke, of Wilmington, were happily united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The spacious drawing-room was tastefully decorated and a large number of friends and acquaintances were present to witness the ceremony. The service was impressively performed by Rev. Dr. A. M. Starnes, of the Baptist tabernacle. The attendants were Mr. John Burke, of Goldsboro, brother of the groom, and Mr. P. H. Ray, of Raleigh, brother of the bride.

Many beautiful and handsome presents were presented to the bride and groom. The bride wore a handsome traveling suit.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Burke, accompanied by many friends, went to the Union station, where they took the train for Wilmington, for their future home.

The bride is a most charming young lady and has a host of warm personal friends. Her charming manner and noble Christian character evoked the admiration of all who knew her. A fine groom is a rising young business man of Wilmington, and has the hearty congratulations of the people of Raleigh.

WIDELLY SPREAD.

This evening at nine o'clock in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Miss Mary O. Wadwell and Mr. Joseph C. Ellington, Jr., were united in marriage. Rev. Dr. L. M. K. Pottinger, performing the ceremony.

The marriage of these two popular young people will be witnessed by many of their friends. The church is being handsomely decorated for the event.

The ceremony will be performed at nine o'clock.

The brides, Messrs. Thos. C. Denson, Edwin P. Jones, Armstrong Cowan and Dr. H. A. Roster, will enter by the center aisle and take their places near the altar. The brides will be followed by the following ladies' maids in order: Miss Myrtle Lee of Danville, Miss Margaret Hill of Raleigh, Miss Trilotta North of Raleigh, Miss Sannie M. Maikin of Raleigh, and Miss Clyde El-Branon of Raleigh.

Mrs. Fred Woodlett, as maid of honor, will precede the bride, who approaches the altar, bearing up in the arm of her brother, Mr. Walter Woodlett, who will give her away. The bride and her groom will be met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. B. H. Ellington, the groom's brother, from Richmond.

The bride will be attended in a handsome evening gown and carry a cluster of bride's roses. The middle of her hair is white, she wears a spray of bride's maids' roses, pink, while the bride's maids, dressed in white organdies, carry white carnations.

The bride and groom will leave at 2:30 tonight for a trip north, where they will visit Mr. Ellington's relatives.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Linn Woodlett, of this city. She is a young lady of rare grace and is beloved by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

The groom is the skilled keeper of accounts for the firm of Messrs. DeLinn and Ferrall and few young men enjoy the confidence and respect of the entire community as does Mr. Ellington.

The Times's sister notes with a host of friends in extending best wishes for long voyages and a happy home.

PASTORAL LETTER.

Tonorrow afternoon at five o'clock in the Cathedral church at Tarboro, N. C., Miss Martha Porter Doney, of Tarboro, and Mr. Henry Evans Lightford, of this city, will be united in marriage. A reception will this evening be tendered them in Tarboro.

Mr. H. E. Lightford left this morning for Tarboro, accompanied by the following relatives and friends: Mr. James O. Lightford, Miss Mary Lightford, Mr. John P. Lightford, Mr. Hal W. Ayer, Mr. Frank Hayes, Jr., Mr. Thomas Pasoud, and Miss Florence Holt.

After the ceremony tomorrow evening the bride and groom will leave for a trip to New York and other points.

Mr. Lightford is cashier of the Citizens National Bank and an eminently successful young business man. The bride will receive a most cordial reception into the homes and hearts of the people of Raleigh.

MAIETTIE PARKER.

At five o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride in Portsmouth, Miss Sarah Elizabeth Majette and Mr. Chas. J. Parker, of this city, were married. Mr. Parker was accompanied to Portsmouth by Dr. J. R. Rogers, Mr. J. W. Bailey and Mr. Richmond Hunter. A reception was rendered the couple last evening. This afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Parker leave for Boston to visit Mr. Parker's relatives.

The bride is a native of Virginia, but has spent two years in North Carolina. She is greatly admired by all who know her. Mr. Parker is one of this State's foremost educators.

WANTS WORK.

Methodist girl, white, aged 20, good character, wants a home in a well to do family to do general house work. Address Ella Fry, Union House, opposite Union Depot.

Col. Benjamin Cameron is in the city. Mr. A. Duell left this morning for Greenville to furnish and serve the elegant supper at the home of Judge Douglas tonight.

WHAT THE DIOKEY BIRDS SAY.

The "Diokey Birds" were in convention this morning and were in a tremendous uproar over something which was merely hinted at by way of preference, but commented on vigorously by way of discussion. It appeared to be a sort of gossip, flavored with an approach to a small scandal, which may break out at any time. But other matters were freely talked about and there are some remarks that were caught on the wings.

That the effecting of certain improvements ought not to involve a barricading of the town.

That a certain amount of public sentiment ought to be radder over rough-shod to the extent of taking some of the old, decayed and dangerous tree trunks out of Capital Square.

That it is nothing to the credit of the city that its memorial arch or entrance gates the approach of Pullen Park.

That some people on some occasions can suddenly change the objective of a premeditated act, and not be disappointed in the act.

That a certain charming home north of the city is evidently causing a dejection of attendance at some other houses.

That while the race may not always be to the swift, at this time a victory is always to the strong in Raleigh.

That the election of an ordinance by a city council and not endorsing it is too much like the common rule of preaching and not practicing to inspire any best progress.

That the doctrine of unattached ownership of public utilities is not thought to be so unchristian in this town as it once was, and hence the city is making some reputation.

That the next conference time lying ought to be for an ordinance offered to the use of conventions, conferences, etc. meetings, etc.

That the efforts of some people to appear fashionable by arriving late cause some sniggering that admiration.

That the word pendens is a Latin word having a close resemblance to something in this city which nobody wants to define.

That the star attraction of the "Win the Tin" production is by no means the only attractive star of the same name in this vicinity.

That temporarily increased attendance in certain congregations is attributed, by some sinners, to the completion of numerous new fall costumes.

That certain young ladies who contemplate straggling in the near future are advised that there are certain conditions under which sinners can be utilized for sinners.

That the chorus, "I want my Lulu," is being made, by numerous individuals, to express much more in this town than it was ever intended to convey.

That there is something significant in connection with the presence of numerous automobiles in the vicinity of Allen's monthly Springs on Sunday afternoons and other occasions.

That people who have seen stars under such adverse conditions as qualified the beauty of the phenomenon at the time, may be able to appreciate the grandeur of the display if they stay up and keep position on the night of the full moon.

That with a lesson just given, the local theatrical managers might even smother Shakespeare and thus achieve two desirable ends: First, relieve a patient public of inappropriately costumed and chaste comedy pieces; second, learn something while attempting a production.

That in Raleigh the "signs of the times" are becoming more indicative of things than signs on the streets.

That there are occasions when a most charming and well managing business can inaugurate unnecessary interiors with lights.

That more than one wallah bent of the city are realizing the existence of a comfortable life on their own rack and affections.

That there are nearly enough daily visitors to a certain military office in the town to enter the Philistine war in short order if they could all be enlisted for service.

That Raleigh has the dirtiest and most charming little business to be found anywhere, and this assertion is sufficient to enable people to identify and realize her.

That the fair past which has been set by society for the past two months in this town is what has prevented the entrance of the cold wave into the division of the earth.

Manager Rivers takes great pleasure in announcing to the theatre goers of Raleigh that he has secured The Merry Makers, one of the strongest repertory companies on the road for one week's engagement, commencing Monday, November 13th. The repertory consists of "The Sultan Daughter," "The Phantom," "Miss Horn," "The Dreamed Mystery," "A Bachelor's Household," "East Truce," "Tom Sawyer" and "A Hero in Rags."

Mr. F. H. Hoover, one of Carolina's most restless young men, has gone to Oxford.

HORROR RETTWER.

Patterson, N. J., Nov. 8.—Vice-President Hobart is this morning in such a condition as gives hope for his ultimate recovery. The doctor spoke hopefully and cheerfully.

New York, Nov. 8.—Cotton: Feb. 5; March and April 62; May 64.

RAILROAD WON

Overby's Heirs Get Nothing From the Road

ASKED FOR $18,000

The Jury was out Only Fifteen Minutes—Two Divorce Cases Were Decided and Marriage Bonds Severed

After continuing over two days the suit of J. C. Marston, administrator of Alex. Overby, against the Raleigh and Augusta Air-Line, was decided at noon. Overby was a colored employee of the road and lost his life in the wreck near the penitentiary. A suit was previously instituted against the road, the plaintiff given $2,500 damages. Judge Timberlake set the colored wife and the Supreme Court given a new trial.

This trial was completed today. The plaintiff asked $18,000 damages, but after being out fifteen minutes the jury brought in their answer to the issue.

"Was the plaintiff's negligence the defendant's fault?"

"No."

In the suit of Emma Overby against Charles W. Overby, white, verdict and judgment was given in favor of the plaintiff granting a divorce from the bonds of matrimony. Plaintiff was allowed to resume her maiden name, Emma Maynard.

Wm. M. Page, vs. Herrie Page, verdict, verdict and judgment in favor of plaintiff granting a divorce.

Noel Bullock vs. Robert P. Stewart et al. S. Superior.

The Superior Court met at the Federal Court room yesterday. Judge Wm. S. O'R. Robinson presiding, says the Statesville Lumber.

The judge's charge to the grand jury occupied about an hour and covered the usual ground. It was interesting and instructive and in many places distinctly Robinsonian. In calling attention to the matter of making returns for taxes, the judge alluded to a recent case in Yadkin county, where an old man with $18,000 worth of solvent credits had returned $4 worth of personal property and $2 worth of provisions as all he had on hand. He was found guilty of failure to file his property and fined $200.

But the most interesting part of His Honor's charge was at its close, when he read section 1727 of the Code as to the duty of the county commissioners in reference to drawing the jury for the first and second weeks of court. He stated that it had gone forth in the State press that the commissioners had not drawn the jury for the second week because he had treated the bar here discourteously; that the grand jury should investigate the matter and see whether instructed the solicitor to draw a bill against the commissioners for failing to do their duty. Judge Robinson stated that one of the members of the bar, Mr. Long, had written him that the report, printed first in the Charlotte News, was untrue, but that the other members of the bar had remained silent.

As soon as the grand jury had retired, Mr. L. C. Caldwell was on his feet. He stated that the judge had shipped the bar in the fact that he did not think he intended to do so. Judge Robinson here said that Mr. Caldwell misunderstood him; that he had not meant to do that. Mr. Caldwell proceeded to say that the bar, he thought, that the jury had been drawn for the second week because of the judge's discourtesy to the bar when he was here before was false; that the local papers had corrected it and stated the real reason that cases from this district will be called next week in the Supreme Court, at the bar here had in thought of making such a charge.

Judge Robinson said this false report had been circulated everywhere, that referring to nothing it had even been sent to his office that he had felt badly over it, as he had had no thought of being discourteous, etc., etc.; and that he was glad to understand matters and that he believed had with Mr. Caldwell had settled.

Mrs. Turner, Long and Grier also made statements supporting Mr. Caldwell's version of the matter.

After hearing these explanations and all had been said and done, Mr. Long had the solicitor not to draw any bill against the county commissioners, and the day of page being finished by the court, it settled down to business.

A NEGLECTED HERO.
