BOERS FIERCELY ASSAIL BULLER

Three Times They Took the British Entrenchments

BULLER REGAINS POSITION BY A BAYONET CHARGE

Sunday's Terrific Engagement—Losses Very Heavy—Buller's Attack on Colenso Had Little Effect—Boer Speaker Speaks of Boer Courage and Energy.

London, Jan. 8.—White reports under date of Sunday afternoon that Boers were repulsed with heavy losses.

London, Jan. 8.—The War Office has just published a dispatch from General Buller, dated today, giving the following from General White, dated Sunday afternoon:

"An attack was commenced on my position, but chiefly against the Cassas camp and the wagon hill. The enemy was in great strength and pushed the attack with the greatest courage and energy. Some of our entrenchments and the wagon hill were three times taken by the enemy, but retaken by us. The attack continued till seven at night."

"One point of our position was occupied by the enemy all day, but at dusk, in a heavy rain storm, they were turned out from this position at the point of the bayonet in a most gallant manner by the Devons, led by Col. Park."

"The troops have had a very trying time. They have behaved excellently and are elated at having rendered service to the queen."

"The enemy was repulsed everywhere, with very heavy loss, greatly exceeding ours, which he reported as soon as the lists are completed."

"As far as known General Buller's demonstration against Colenso had little effect. In spite of the heavy artillery fire the Boers did not reply."

BOERS CAPTURED.

Friars Camp, Jan. 7.—Delayed. Reports received today state that General White had captured four hundred prisoners in the Boers' attacks on Ladysmith yesterday. The Boers were allowed to come up on the south side right in the British lines, when the British ordered a bayonet charge. Besides these prisoners the Boers lost heavily in killed and wounded. Although the report is not official, it is believed here.

TONY BURNS DEAD.

London, Jan. 8.—A letter from a private of the Irish rifles written at Stornoway, where he was taken prisoner after Gaure's defeat, says that Gatacre was so enraged when he found that he had been misled that he pulled out his revolver and shot his guide.

The letter, addressed to Mr. King, according to the paper, was introduced in court this morning.

The object in placing each of these witnesses on the stand was to show that Gatacre, at one time and another just prior to his arrest, had stated to the witnesses that Marshall was not guilty and that he was not in any way connected with the counterfeiting. These witnesses had known Gatacre prior to his arrest and in one time or another off the stand, and at times when there was nothing else to do, they told each other than the truth regarding the matter.

Mr. A. Harris, W. J. Johnson, C. E. Collins and G. C. Simmons were the first witnesses introduced in court this morning.

The object in placing each of these witnesses on the stand was to show that Gatacre, at one time and another just prior to his arrest, had stated to the witnesses that Marshall was not guilty and that he was not in any way connected with the counterfeiting. These witnesses had known Gatacre prior to his arrest and in one time or another off the stand, and at times when there was nothing else to do, they told each other than the truth regarding the matter.

The fifth witness on the stand was Mr. J. D. King, to whom, according to his testimony in court this morning, Darkley had made the statement that Marshall was innocent and that he had caused a disturbance at the restaurant on East Morehead street and was well and favorably known by the people of Raleigh, white and colored.

He has been a deacon in the First Baptist church for about forty years and was also a member of the Enoch's Masonic Lodge, by which he will be buried from the First Baptist church tomorrow afternoon.

He was one of Raleigh's best colored citizens and will be generally missed.

MR. MARSHALL ON THE STAND

Testifies in His Own Behalf in Case for Counterfeiting

THE DAY IN COURT GOOD FOR MARSHALL

First Letter for Silver Written by Politz Months Before Marshall Knew Him—Circumstances Under Which Letters Were Written Recited in the Court Today.

The trial of A. J. Marshall, attorney at law of Wilmington, was continued in Federal Court this morning, the defense continuing until noon, placing disinterested witnesses on the stand for the purpose of rebutting the evidence of Theodore Darkley and Nicholas Politz, the co-conspirator, and of Detective Perry, and after noon the defendant himself, A. J. Marshall, went on the stand in his own behalf. This is to be the most important portion of the hearing of the case which has attracted the most widespread attention throughout the entire State.

Miss Marshall, wife of the defendant, was at the court room this morning, as she has been each day since the beginning of the trial. She was seated near her husband among the counsel for defense, and Mr. Marshall took the stand and did not leave the court room.

She listened with rapacious attention to the examination as it was conducted by Mr. Marsden Bellamy, of Wilmington, and after noon the defendant himself, A. J. Marshall, went on the stand in his own behalf.

Mr. Marsden Bellamy, attorney at law of the city, was the first to question him, and he was asked if he had ever been engaged in the practice of law.

"I have never been engaged in the practice of law," he said. "I have been engaged in the practice of law in the fall of 1888, and in November 1888, and the letters written in my handwriting, which are dated October 22nd, 1888, and November 2nd, 1888, were written by me."

"The circumstances under which you wrote these letters were as follows:

"On August or September, 1888, Nicholas Politz was induced to sell some silver to me, and I paid him $100 in gold and silver, and he sent me a bill of exchange for $100.
