STORM GATHERS OVER ENGLAND

Government Severely Criticised for Apathy of Campaign

CONSERVATIVES MAY LOSE MAJORITY

General Buller Probably Executing a Flank Movement on the Boers Facing the British Army.

London, Jan. 10.—The plight of British arms in South Africa is overshadowed at present by a storm which is bursting over the head of the home government. The Manchester speeches of Balfour, the Government leader in the House, have loosed such a torrent of criticism from press and individuals of his own party that were Parliament to assemble today, it is doubtful whether the Conservatives would retain power in spite of their tremendous majority at the last session. The pent up dissatisfaction with the government's lack of energy in waging war is no longer concealed. For the present Balfour is the scrap-goat, but the Marquis Landowne, Lord Salisbury and other Cabinet Ministers will not escape criticism unless a wonderful change comes over the war situation.

FLANK MOVEMENT.

London, Jan. 10. Where are Sir Charles Warren and the Fifth Division of ten thousand?

That is the question which is agitating London today. They have not been heard from in ten days. They joined General Buller at Frere Camp several weeks ago, and silence concerning this force, together with significant hints gathered here and there, and leading many to believe that the force is executing an important flank movement to the westward against the Boers in front of General Buller.

BRITISH FIRED ON BRITISH.

London, Jan. 10.—Private letters received here from Sterkstrom say that at the recent battle of Sterkstrom when General Gatacre was so badly defeated by the Boers, that the British artillery fired upon the British infantry through mistake. The letters state that the distress of mind of General Gatacre was pitiful to see.

STEAMER RELEASED.

Durban, Jan. 10.—Authorities released the steamer Herzog, seized January 6th, on the way to Lorenzo Marquez.

ST. PAUL NOT CHARTERED.

New York, Jan. 10. James A. Wright, second vice-president of the American Line, said today that the St. Paul had not been chartered as had been reported for a British transport.

INFLUENZA SWEEPS ENGLAND

Many of the Royalties Overcome by the Malady.

London, Jan. 10.—An epidemic of influenza is spreading throughout the entire county, and is causing alarm in many sections. All of the London newspapers contain this morning long lists of notable personages who are sufferers from the disease, and the lists of the dead are abnormally large. Alarm is felt in official circles as the Royal Household at the Osborne House on the Isle of Wight has not escaped the attack of the dreadful epidemic. Many members of the household, including several of the attendants of the Royal Family, who are sufferers from influenza, have been sent to the sanitarium.

NEW CHURCH ORGAN

The ladies of the First Presbyterian Church and a number of their friends are arranging for a musical, which is to be given in the session rooms of the church on next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock from the best musicians in the city. It promises to be a rare musical treat and doubtless will prove so to lovers of music and pleasure who are able to attend at that time. The ladies of the church are engaged in the work of raising funds for a new church organ, which they hope to be able to purchase by the time that the new church is completed, and the receipts of the musical of Tuesday evening will be appropriated to this purpose.

FUNERAL OF MR. MACY.

The funeral over the remains of the late Mr. Robert Macy, of Macon, Ga., was held from the Presbyterian church at 10 o'clock today, the service being conducted by Rev. Dr. Eugene Daniel. Many friends gathered to pay this last tribute to his memory. The interment was in the city cemetery.

The pall-bearers were Messrs David Hamilton, James F. Jordan, W. W. Vass, James N. Norwood, Dr. R. S. McGeachy, and J. R. Young.

MISS LUCIE WEST ENTERTAINS.

The Afternoon Euchre Club was entertained this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by Miss Lucie West at the home of her father, Captain N. W. West, on Hillsboro street.

There were several tables, at each of which euchre was played by the young women members of the club. After the presentation of the prizes dainty refreshments were served. The following were Miss West's guests: Misses Hal Morson, Mary Porter Ashe, Mrs. Susie West, Misses Alice Stronach, Windham Trapier, Lily Gray, Helen Primrose, Belle Heartt, Kate Skinner, Belle Pescud, Frances Hoke, Adelaide Boylan Snow, Mary Latta, Lena Latta, May Bryan, Maude Latta, and Rosa Battle.

On Friday morning at 10 o'clock the club will hold a business meeting, at the home of Misses Mary and Maude Latta, on North Person street.

HAYWOOD-BAKER

Beautiful Wedding Ceremony in Christ Church

THE BISHOP'S BLESSING

Large and Representative Gathering of Raleigh's First Social Circles—Ceremony Performed by Rev. Dr. M. M. Marshall, the Rector.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, Christ Episcopal Church was this morning the scene of the assemblage of a large and representative gathering of members of the first social circles of this city, the event being the marriage of Miss Katherine Boylan Haywood to Mr. Benjamin Whiteley Baker, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Dr. M. M. Marshall, rector of Christ Church, and the blessing being given the bride and groom by the Bishop of the Diocese, the Right Reverend Joseph B. Cheshire.

According to the announcements the wedding ceremony was to be celebrated at 10:30 o'clock, but long before that hour friends of the contracting parties began to arrive at the church. No cards were issued in this city, so general was the acquaintance of the bride and groom, and for this latter reason the church was well filled for some time before the ceremony. The chancel rail, choir loft and reading desk were beautifully decorated with palms and other evergreens, and on the altar were cut flowers of white.

Before the arrival of the bridal party, Mr. Samuel Parrish rendered several beautiful selections from Tannhauser and Lohengrin.

The bridal party entered the church from the west entrance, Mendelsohn's Wedding March pealing forth from the organ loft, the ushers, Messrs. John B. Stronach and John Faison in the left aisle; and Messrs. Frank S. Whitman, of Baltimore, and George S. Snow, in the right aisle, first, and followed by the bride's sisters, Miss Martha Haywood and Miss Elsie Boylan Haywood in the left aisle. The bride approached the altar from the right aisle on the arm of her uncle, Mr. William Montford Boylan, and at the same moment the groom, with his best man, Mr. Upton S. Brady, of Baltimore, approached the altar rail from the vestry room.

The ceremony of the Episcopal Church was performed by the Rev. Dr. M. M. Marshall, the bride being given away by her uncle. Mr. William M. Boylan. Bishop Joseph Blount Cheshire pronouncing his blessing on the newly wedded young people, both congratulating the bride and groom at the conclusion of the ceremony. The bridal party left the church to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march.

The bride was handsomely attired in a tailor suit of gun metal gray, wearing a hat of gray velvet, and carrying a bouquet of palmar violets.

The bridesmaids wore gowns of gray crepe, and picture hats of black velvet, each carrying white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker left on the northbound Seaboard Air Line trains for an extended tour. They will spend some time in Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York before returning to their home in this city.

The wedding presents were numerous and handsome, and are a slight evidence of the universal popularity of the happy wedded young couple.

The bride is a granddaughter of Mrs. William Montford Boylan, and has large family connections in this city. She has always been popular esteemed, loved and admired throughout the city on account of her many admirable qualities of mind and rare beauty.

Mr. Baker is one of the most progressive business men of this city and numerous among his friends every one with whom he comes in contact. He has for the past few years been in business in this city and has met with marked and deserved success.

RALEIGH COTTON MILLS

Directors and Officers Elected—4 Per cent Semi-Annual Dividend.

The stockholders of the Raleigh Cotton Mill met at noon today in the Mayor's office. The following directors were elected for the year: Messrs. C. E. Johnson, V. B. Moore, R. H. Battle, W. J. Young, J. R. Chamberlain, Julius Lewis and F. T. Ward.

The directors then met and elected officers as follows:

President, C. G. Latta.

Vice-President, C. E. Johnson.

Secretary and Treasurer, J. S. Wynne.

The directors declared a semi-annual dividend of four per cent, payable January 15th.

The mill is in excellent condition and the reports were most gratifying.

GYMNASIUM BURNED.

New York, Jan. 10. Charles Starr's mammoth gymnasium and bowling alley, on West Forty-Ninth street, was burned today. Forty firemen were overcome with the smoke, and were rescued with difficulty. The building was six stories, of brick and brownstones, and is a total loss.

The Grand Lodge of Masons met this morning in business session, the attendance being large. Tonight the Grand Lodge will elect the Grand officers for the ensuing year.

Lumsden Brothers made a shipment yesterday of a large steel range to Huntington, Tennessee. Shipped also two barrels of lamp goods to a point in central Florida. Their trade is not confined to Raleigh and vicinity alone.

Dr. Goode Cheatham, of Henderson, has been commissioned as second assistant surgeon of the Third Regiment, N. C. S. G., with rank of First Lieutenant.

RUSH OF OFFENDERS

Two Juries Try One Offender---Two Verdicts

NEGRO SAYS CRAZY

No Dirth of Bicycle Thieves—Judge Hoke has Some "Tiny" Offenders Before Him Today.

Wake Superior Court convened again this morning, Judge Hoke presiding.

Late yesterday afternoon Mariah Pool was tried for the larceny of a ring from Mr. Moses Bledsoe Sr., and also for the larceny of a ring from Mr. Moses Bledsoe Jr. The same witnesses were examined in each case and the evidence was practically the same, but, a different jury heard the two cases, and one returned a verdict of guilty and the other not guilty. Judge Hoke had the woman take the debtor's oath and discharged her.

Maggie Perry was sentenced for 12 months for the larceny of some harness from Mr. Charles Crawford. Maggie said that at the time he was crazy from quinine, corn whiskey, ammonia and vichy water.

A little negro boy, Frank Upchurch, aged 12, was charged with stealing a bicycle from Mr. Fred Mahler. Mr. J. C. L. Harris appeared for the boy and since he has never been in trouble before the incident debtors' oath was administered to the boy and he was discharged, having spent three months in jail.

Frank Utley, another negro, age about 12, was a recent prisoner, and Judge Hoke inquired, "Mr. Solicitor, have you any smaller than these?"

Solicitor Peet then arose and said: "It has been some time since your Honor has held court here and I must say that there are a number of little chaps about this size here who are as confirmed thieves as can be found anywhere. I say this in justice to those who have sent these cases here and to your predecessors, who have found it necessary to sentence boys this age to the pen."

Judge Hoke stated that he was aware of these facts and that he intended to impose the penalty of the law on boys. He had let the solicitor off because he had been in jail three months.

Frank Utley was accused of stealing $6.30 from John Harris. The case was not concluded at 3:15.

Other cases today were:

Anthony Griffis, larceny, 4 months on the roads.

Kline McIntyre, ten months on the roads.

Vann Ratcorn, carrying concealed weapon, $5 and costs.

J. R. Carr, carrying concealed weapon, $5 and costs.

Alvia Morris, larceny of shoes, six months in the workhouse.

Henry Jackson, stealing the bicycle of Mr. Richard Busbee, 7 months on the roads.

William Bethel, larceny of watch, 12 months on the roads.

Will Mitchell, larceny of a lamp, 12 months on the roads.

Will Clark, larceny of a pair of pants, 7 months on the roads.

John Upchurch, a white man from the Falls of Neuse, 4 months for the larceny of a pipe and a razor.

Buck Watson, a one-legged negro, plead guilty to the larceny of some clothes and was given six months on the roads.

In the case of William Creed judgment was suspended upon the payment of costs.

RAIN AND COLDER

For Raleigh and vicinity: Rain tonight and Thursday; north to northeast winds; colder Thursday night.

The storm over southwestern Texas has increased in force with the pressure this morning below 29.80 inches, while the depression yesterday central over Minnesota, has moved to the St. Lawrence valley, and has been replaced by a high area in the northwest. Cloudy, threatening weather prevails everywhere except on the Rocky Mountain slope. The amounts of rain reports from widely scattered stations throughout the country is generally small, though 1.38 inch occurred at Palestine.

FOR OUR SOLDIERS

It is announced that on Friday, the 26th instant, there will be a concert given in this city by some of the best local amateur musicians and comedians. The company to give this concert is now being organized and the list of specialties, it is said, will include many popular selections and will be rendered by people who have already won the applause of the theatregoing public.

The place of presenting this concert has not yet been state, but the date and the names of those to take part has been arranged. The concert is to be given for the benefit of the Raleigh Light Infantry, which organization is compose to a great extent of veterans of the Spanish-American war.

MESSRS. SHERWOOD HIGGS & CO. INCREASED THEIR FORCE.

Misses Annie Rogers and Bessie White have identified themselves with this firm; also, Messrs. James Arrington, Everett Weathers and Sydney Glover have taken positions with the house. All of them tender their services to relatives, friends and acquaintances when in pursuit of that class of goods which abounds so plentifully in this immense establishment. They feel amply fortified in saying that the best results will follow as the variety of stock and betterment of prices do not seem to exist, soliciting to each and all the most courteous treatment at all times.

After the election of officers of the Capital Hose Company last night, Capt. J. R. Ferrall tendered the members a supper at Dughi's.

SECY. GAGE REPLIES

Answers the Questions Propounded in Sulzer Resolution

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—Secretary of the Treasury Gage today sent to the House of Representatives his reply to the inquiry of that body regarding his action in depositing certain funds of the United States Government with certain financial concerns in New York. Secretary Gage, in his answer, defends his action in every particular, and cites similar action on the part of former Secretaries of the Treasury in support of the claim that he had the right to make every move of which there is complaint.

In his answer Secretary Gage says his reason for utilizing the national banks as depositories, as authorized by law, has been to avoid disturbance of business which the withdrawal of large sums from active circulation must inevitably cause. He says this has been the established policy of the Government. His reason for directing the internal receipts into the depository of banks is that at this time the revenues are now largely exceeding the disbursements and seem likely to do so for some time. This would be a menace to the business world if assurances were not given that this surplus would be diverted from the Treasury vaults to public depositories, where while secure to the treasury, they would remain available for business use. His reason for directing all the deposits into one depository at first was that it was more convenient than to give instructions to 113 collectors daily.

The resolution which Secretary Gage answers, was presented to the House by Mr. Sulzer, and is as follows:

"Resolved, That the Secretary of the Treasury be and he is hereby, requested to furnish the House of Representatives the following information:

"First. Copies of all letters, agreements, papers, or documents between the Treasury Department of the United States or any person connected therewith and the National City Bank and the Hanover National Bank or the city of New York or any person acting for them, or either of them, since the 4th day of March, 1897, relating to the depositing of public funds, bonds, or revenues in said bank or banks, or any other relations or business transactions now existing or heretofore had between the Government and the said banks, or either of them.

"Second. The amount of public money, bonds or revenue deposited with said banks, or either of them, or with any National bank by the Government, upon what security, for what length of time and the reasons therefor and whether said banks, or any of them, have paid the Government any interest on said deposit and if so how much and all other information concerning the same or in any way relating thereto.

"Third. And also the date of the sale of the custom house property of the United States in New York city to said National City Bank, the date of the execution of the deed thereto, the date and manner of payment of the purchase money therefor, the disposition of the proceeds of the said sale and whether or not the Government has paid any rents for the said property or any portion thereof for any purpose, since the day of sale, and if so to whom and all facts relating to the said transaction."

A LIFE OF SERVICE

One Who Consecrated Her Every Hour to the Happiness of Others.

Died, Tuesday morning, at 1:15 at the home of Mr. John P. Wyatt, Miss Fannie R. Hicks. She was born in Spottsylvania county, Virginia, August 9, 1825. Hers has been a long life of beautiful usefulness. When she was eleven years old her mother died leaving her in sole charge of the house and care of the other children. Even her father trusted and depended upon her in all the arrangements of their home life.

In 1859 Miss Hicks came to Raleigh to live with her brother, Col. W. J. Hicks. Since that time she has been the comfort and blessing of the entire family. To Col. Hicks' children from their baby days "Fan," as they lovingly called her, has shared with their mother their trials, confidences and pleasures.

Since the death of Col. Hicks' oldest daughter, Mrs. J. P. Wyatt, Miss Hicks has lived at Mr. Wyatt's and had entire charge of the children. The youngest was at that time a mere infant and now, a boy of nine, mourns the loss of the only mother he has ever known.

During her last illness Miss Hicks showed the same sweet spirit of thoughtfulness for others that had characterized her whole life. A few hours before her death she gave directions for the comfort of the household, and asked that a fire be made in her brother's room, fearing he would take cold.

Few beside her family and neighbors know of the usefulness of the life just ended.

"God calls our loved ones, but we lose not wholly
What He hath given.
They live on earth, in thought and deed, as truly
As in His Heaven."

ARM AMPUTATED

John Brown, the Canadian expert employee of the Raleigh Cotton Mills, who had his arm so badly burned on the day after Christmas, by the overturning of a lighted lamp, and who has since that time been at Rex Hospital under treatment of several members of the Raleigh Academy of Medicine, was yesterday operated upon successfully, the surgeons amputating the arm at the shoulder joint. The patient stood the operation well and is reported today as doing nicely.

FUNERAL SERVICES

The funeral of Mrs. Teresa Clare Vernon, wife of Captain William H. Vernon, took place at 10 o'clock this morning from St. Paul's Catholic Church, and was conducted by Rev. Father Brady, assisted by Rev. Father Leonard. The interment was in St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery, Norfolk.—Norfolk Ledger.

A. J. MARSHALL'S CASE WITH JURY

Argument Concluded at 5:30 this Afternoon

JUDGE PURNELL'S CHARGE TO JURY

Attorneys Meares, Argo and Bellamy for the Defense, and Spears and Bernard for the Prosecution Spoke Today.

The defense as well as the government having yesterday afternoon concluded the introduction of testimony in the case of A. J. Marshall, attorney at law, of Wilmington, the argument of the case before the jury was begun in the Federal Court this morning before Judge Thomas R. Purnell, counsel on both sides having agreed to a limit of one and a half hours for each speaker and that the prosecution should begin with Assistant District Attorney Spears, and be concluded by the District Attorney, Mr. Bernard.

Court met at 10 o'clock. There were in the court room at the beginning of the argument a large number of attorneys from this city and from other points in the State to hear the speeches of the counsel on both sides, it being expected that the argument would be unusually able. Besides the lawyers within the bar there were also present a number of the visiting Masons who have become interested in the case on account of the widespread publicity which has been given to it.

In the case of the counsel presenting as well as in that of the defense, up to the time that we go to press, there has been little argument, the speeches being given entirely to attacking the character of the witnesses introduced on each side.

Mr. Spears, of the counsel for the Government, was the first speaker. He talked to the jury of the seriousness of the charge and of the straight testimony given by Darkley and the convict Politz. He reviewed the testimony introduced by the prosecution attempting to show to the jury the unlikeliness of such an unbroken chain of evidence, and then attacked the evidence offered by the defense in rebuttal of that given by Darkley and Politz. His speech was a strong one before a good jury, which paid close attention to the words of advice that Mr. Spears saw fit to give them.

Mr. Meares, of the counsel for defense, one of the ablest members of the Wilmington bar, followed Mr. Spears. Mr. Meares devoted the first portion of his speech to that of Mr. Spears, answering one at a time the latter's statements and bringing another view of them before the jury. He attacked the character of the witnesses Darkley and Politz, showing at the same time alleged objects which induced those witnesses to testify against Marshall. He recalled to the minds of the jurymen the number of denials that had been given to the testimony of the witnesses, and the times when, under no inducement other than to tell the truth, Darkley and Politz had each stated to their intimate friends the innocence of Mr. Marshall. Mr. Meares took up the testimony of Architect Benitz showing that the best story of a witness for the government that Marshall had been seen in the rooms of Politz, and that he was seen through the keyhole, was impossible, even had Marshall been in the room, which he maintained that he was not.

Mr. Meares received the congratulations of a number of attentive listeners upon his able presentation of his case.

Colonel Thomas M. Argo, of the counsel for defense, then addressed the jury, which at the beginning of the trial he had selected for the defense. Colonel Argo argued the cause of today in maintaining that the second account created table at the Penitentiary when Politz refused to two of his fellow prisoners for innocence of Mr. Marshall and that the reward offered to him by the detectives from Charlotte if he would implicate Marshall in the counterfeiting was put such a one as would call forth the confidence of a man and would be the time for truth-telling. He recited the causes that he believed led to the giving of the testimony against Marshall, and attempted to bring fairly before the jury the weight that he believed should be given to the testimony of rebuttal offered by the defense. Colonel Argo presented his case to the jury admirably, and often held its members in rapt attention, sometimes bringing from them laughter at the recollections secured arranged by the witnesses who testified against his client. Colonel Argo knew the best to whom he was speaking and his address was familiar and apparently had great weight upon his hearers.

Colonel Argo concluded his argument at 1:30, and at that hour court took a recess until three o'clock, at which hour the argument was continued by Mr. Marsden Bellamy, of the Wilmington bar, of the defense. Mr. Bellamy had not finished his speech when the forms of The Times-Visitor went to press.

Judge Purnell's charge to the jury will be short and will be delivered to the jury off hand as has always been Judge Purnell's custom since he has been on the Federal Bench.

Besides the attorneys and visiting lawyers present, there were several ladies in the court room to hear the argument.

The case, it is expected, will go to the jury at about 5:15 o'clock.

LADY MONTAGUE DEAD.

London, Jan. 10. The Duke of Manchester has received advices that his sister, Lady Alice Montague, died at Davosplatz, Switzerland, this morning.

Mr. I. M. Meekins, of Elizabeth City, is here on business.

ISSUE AN ADDRESS

Capt. Robt. Glenn a Candidate to Succeed

SENATOR PRITCHARD

Makes His Announcement While in Washington City—The Selection of Senator Marion Butler's Successor

A Washington special to the Atlanta Journal of yesterday says:

Colonel Robert B. Glenn, of Winston, N. C., will be a candidate for the United States Senate to succeed Pritchard, Republican, whose term expires on the 3rd of March, 1901. Colonel Glenn, who is in the city, made this statement to me today, the first announcement to that effect he has made.

"I shall be a candidate as I want a Senatorial primary so that the people may pass upon the matter. If I am elected I shall represent the people of my State to the best of my ability. If some other candidate is chosen I shall support him with all the loyalty and earnestness that a good Democrat can possess."

Colonel Glenn is one of the most prominent Democrats in North Carolina. He is a member of the law firm of Glenn and Manly, Winston, and was United States District Attorney during Cleveland's last administration. Manly, his partner, was lately chairman of the State Executive Committee, and is also a prominent politician.

Colonel Glenn thinks that the senatorial race this year in North Carolina will be settled by a primary. There are four candidates for Butler's seat, Simmons, Carr, Woodell and Jarvis. Simmons is the chairman of the State Committee, and is in control of the Democratic machinery.

He was chairman and conducted the campaign in which the State was redeemed from negro domination, and for this reason there are many who regard him as the logical candidate. Colonel Carr is one of the wealthiest men in the South, and one of the most charitable. He is a man of wonderful popularity, but he is not experienced as a politician. The other two candidates are both popular and among the State's foremost citizens. Jarvis has been Governor, Minister to Brazil and served out by appointment the unexpired term of Vance in the Senate.

In the race for Pritchard's seat the announcement of Glenn is the first made.

There is not the slightest doubt that Democrats will fill these two seats when the terms of the incumbents expire.

"Speaking of the constitutional amendment," said Colonel Glenn, "we shall ratify it by 50,000 majority. It is considered legal, so decided by the best constitutional lawyers of this country, and even a great many Republicans will support it men who are tired of the ignorant vote."

Colonel Glenn will issue an address on the subject on his return to his State.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Mr. Joseph Gelschuer, who has been ill for a week in a hospital in Atlanta, Georgia, has sufficiently recovered to be discharged. His little son is ill here with pneumonia.
