

Stops Irregularities.

Brookshire, Texas, Feb. 25, 1893.
My menstrual periods have been very irregular both in time and color. They would return in every 24 or 25 days, and last from 5 to 14 days. I would almost suffer death from them. I also had heart palpitation, and every kind of ache and pain. I took Wine of Cardui and followed your advice, and this month for the first time in years I passed my period without pain.
MALINDA JACKSON.

WINE OF CARDUI

Think of such suffering as this. Long years of aches and pains that might have all been saved. That's the pitiful part of it—to think that Miss Jackson did not try Wine of Cardui years ago. It would have cured her then as easily as it did later, and what it did for her, it will do for you. It banishes headaches, and backaches and pains, and regulates the menses like clockwork, so that there is not too much or too little or none at all. It has done this for thousands of the best women in America, and it will do it for you. The least deviation from the monthly habit is dangerous. If you will use Wine of Cardui each month in connection with Black-Draught, to keep the stomach and bowels in good condition, you will have painless, regular periods and feel as well as Malinda Jackson does. You can get a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist.

DRAININGS FROM THE PRESS.

Durham Herald: Although this town paid nearly two million dollars into the national treasury last year, it has thus far been found impossible to secure an appropriation of a paltry $125,000 for a public building.

Atlanta Journal: A big-hearted man in Pennsylvania has divorced his wife and married his mother-in-law. We have long been of the opinion that men loved their mother-in-law more than they pretended.

Newbern Journal: If each individual in a community, not merely its best men or its best women, but every citizen of the community is a natural law, with its own moral and political principles, and the maintenance of the rights, laws, and their observance. But the selfish citizen of a community is a direct hindrance to the advancement of a community's progress.

Charlotte News: Arguments are being made to secure the State public conventions. This is to be done by a special act of the legislature. It will give a seating capacity of 1,000. Raleigh came in to being the Democratic convention this time, and is planning to discuss seriously the erection of a building to accommodate the numerous large conventions that meet there.

Durham Herald: Booker Washington does not approve Bishop Turner's scheme to deport the negro to Africa. This does not necessarily mean that Washington is a superior man to Turner, but indicates that he has studied the history of the race in this country more closely. There has been many attempts to deport and colonize the negro, but each and every one has resulted disastrously, especially for the negro. A few years ago negroes were carried out of this State by the one hundred and many of them have not succeeded in walking back yet.

Greensboro Telegram: On subject of reopening of the State Normal and Industrial College. "We believe with all the precautions that have been taken and the improvements made that the Board acted wisely in selecting an early date for the reopening. Let us all hope that with favorable conditions the college will at once resume her place in the educational march of the State, and that never again may she have such a sad experience."

Wilmington Star: A six-year-old boy in Georgia deliberately shot and killed a seven-year-old girl who was visiting at his house. He said sorry refused to give any reason for the shooting and was put in jail. Perhaps she refused to marry him.

THE PHILOSOPHER'S STONE.
In mercantile life success depends upon publicity. The merchant who permits his business to remain unimproved can never obtain prominence; but he who insists upon making himself known to the public through the medium of newspaper advertisements will rise from obscurity and through fortune to fame and affluence. In like manner, the successful merchant who has always advertised can sustain and still further develop his trade. The advertisement does for business what the ancient alchemists believed the philosopher's stone would do for the base metals.—Philadelphia Record.
