The Anti-Amendment priver will Senator Butler's personal legal "The Cancasian." When he was in Raidigh the last time attending the meeting of the Populist State Executive Committee he bud the matter under advisement in conferred with several Populisis and Republicans here upon the subject. No defully plans seemed to have Hin le. however, urtil his return to Washinton City. There the matter was tavotably received by the opponents of the Amend-ment who are in enhoot with him in his fight and the only contingency which may now arise to prevent the consummation of his plan will be the lack of sufficient campaign famils to sustain the enterpri-This movement is simply a part of the plan hald by the Republican and Popu-list leaders of this State for conducting he campaign against the pending amond ment to the Constitution to respect the right of suffrage in North Carolina. These leaders have decided that it will he indoesible for them to carry out the active campaign which they propose to wage in North Carolina without the as-sistance of newspapers, which they now lack. The only papers besides a few Re-publican weeklies scattered in the State. which are opposing the attendment are the "Asheville Gazette," a morning paper, and a little weekly, published at Gastonia, Senator Batler and Senator Pritchard, it is reported, consider these papers et tirely inadequate for the work proposed hence, it is intended to have the Can-casian for a morning paper in Raleigh to cover Eastern and Central Carolina while the Asheville Gazetre will reach the vot ers of the Western part of the State. Ar-rangements are also being minde to establish three weekly papers to fight the amendment in sections east of Raleigh The counties in which these three papers will be located are yet unknown, is safe to say that one will be established at some town on the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad, while another will probably be placed in Cumberland or Roleson county. The Morning Caucasian, or whatever name will be given it will receive itmost outhusiastic welcome from the Ral eich Typographical Union, for it will. corrainly make more work in Raleigh for the members of that organization.

When this paper makes its first ap-pearance there will be three morning dailies in Baleigh and such a condition never before existed in any town in North Carolina. This is the first campaign in this State in which the Republicans have sought to wage their war through the State press since the days of the Rateigh Standard, and the situation is not without sense of humor when it is remembered that the class to be affected by the Constitutional Amendment are said to be solely those who cannot read or write. There has been no announcement as to what press service will be used or the staff of the new paper. An effort was first made to move the Asheville Gazette to Raleigh, but this trilled, hence the plan to run a paper here. Of course it is only intended to run this anti-amendment paper during the cana paign.

'Country Visitor."

Tonight at the Academy of Music "A Country Visitor" will be presented. In the company is Frank Wilson, au old Raleigh boy, whose apearance will be welcomed by his old friends. 'This morning's Durham Herald, whiel paper is fair-minded and generally give a just criticism of a show, contains the following account of last night's performnee in that city: "A Country Visitor" was the attraction mm at the opera house last night, and i drew an andience a little above the av erage in point of numbers. The play is a rural councily drama in four acts, and is much better than the average play of this kind, and was fairly well presented. Mr. Harry Green, as the "Country Visi-tor," being especially fine. In fact in his particular line of work Mr. Green has but few equals, and his portrayal of character of Hiram Homer, comthe pletely enptivated the audience.

Mr. Frank Wilson, of this city, and for merly with this paper, is a member of the company, and essayed the role of Robert Callington very acceptably. Mr. Wilson received the glad hand from his friends upon his first apearance, and they manifested a keen apreciation of his work throughout.

The specialties introduced in the last net were above the average, Mr. Hayes, the bicycle rider, and Mr. Green in a monologue and songs, being especially fine. The company carries a good band and orchestra and puts out a novel street pa The company travels on its own rade. special car, the "Country asitor," which left for Raleigh this morning, where the company shows tonight.
