THE LEADER IN THE NEWS AND
IN CITY CIRCULATION.

TIMES-VISITOR TELEPHONES:
Inter-State Phone 179
Bell Telephone 132

Communications or items of news concerning subjects of local interest are desired by this paper and will be published if worthy of space. All such communications should be addressed to The Times-Visitor, and not to individual members of the staff. Names of authors should accompany communications, but will be omitted in publication if desired.

The Market election will be held next Monday. It will receive the attention of the people of the entire city and while there may be objections to the plan as it now stands, it is the only feasible one yet suggested, whereby an auditorium may be secured for Raleigh.

This week's Statesville Landmark contains the following local item:

Sunday morning, for the first time in several weeks, there was a case in the Mayor's court. The victim was Mack McDonald, alias Mack McDaniel, a white man from the country.

Statesville is the most forward town in the State in this one respect. There is no other place, of which we have heard, where court is held on the Sabbath day and we hope it will stand alone.

STONEWALL JACKSON'S WAY.

Yesterday's Durham Sun treats editorially the subject of what should be read by the young and the influence of books on the youth of the land. In its editorial the Sun said:

"One of the strongest reasons, from a moral point of view, for the dissemination of good literature and especially that which may best be characterized under the title of 'Character-builders,' is beautifully and impressively illustrated by a little incident which was recently brought to our attention.

A school director of South Carolina received a copy of the 'Life of Stonewall Jackson.' His little son, twelve years of age, almost devoured the book. The following Sunday, someone passing the postoffice brought the mail, including a letter for the boy. Some hours afterwards his father asked him from whom was his letter. He replied: 'I don't know, I haven't read it.' 'Haven't read it?' asked his father in surprise. 'No,' said the boy, 'I have not read it and will not until tomorrow. Stonewall Jackson didn't read his mail on Sunday, and I don't intend to read mine on Sunday.'

Let the children be encouraged to imitate the manly and noble qualities of such true heroes as Stonewall Jackson if we would have them grow up into beautifully developed men and women.

OFFERINGS FROM THE PRESS.

The Press of North Carolina is offering good official timber to the Democratic State Convention. Editor London, of the Chatham Record, is receiving encouragement in his race for the nomination for State Treasurer, and now our good friend, Editor Varner, of the Lexington Dispatch is rushing things in the right direction, as is seen from the following from the Greensboro Record:

Davidson county is urging the nomination of Mr. H. B. Varner, editor of the Dispatch, as Commissioner of Labor and Printing. Mr. Varner represents the young Democracy of North Carolina, and is a worker. For a number of years he has been chairman of the executive committee of his county, and in the last election won a great victory. He is a member of the executive committee of the National Editorial Association, and is serving his second term as the Southern member of the legislative committee of the same association. By perseverance, honorable dealing and unrelenting work Mr. Varner has won the admiration of all who know him. 'If the delegates to the State Convention should see fit to give Mr. Varner favorable consideration, no mistake would be made,' say his friends.

WRECKS ON THE SEACOAST.

Disasters Which Are Caused by Dense Fogs and Riotous Seas. From Hargetts Weekly. Dense fogs and riotous seas have set at naught the schedules of navigators within the past two weeks. Fogs are sufficient in themselves to create a terra incognita from the once familiar approaches to the home port impenetrable curtains shut down upon the shore outlines, giving only false reports to captains on whose tense and searching eyes the security of human lives and property interests constantly depends. Thus when night and an arch cloud close in upon a vessel as she coasts in or out of New York harbor, restless apprehensions fill the mind of every seaman on board. And these fears are often justified by the long grinding jar which announces to alert ears the stranding of the ship.

Such was the experience of the Gate City of the Savannah line, bound for Boston with a short list of passengers and a cargo of cotton. She put out of New York harbor with confidence in the late afternoon of February 8, and faced down the harbor in the teeth of an increasing fog. At 9 o'clock the Gate City grounded in a dense fog on Great South Beach, L. I., while under almost full speed. The vessel had overrun her reckoning, and her speed was sufficient to cast her well up on the outer bar.

The New Jersey coast has also its terrors for seafaring men, though winter fogs give a menacing aspect to every coast. The splendid four-masted, County of Edinburgh, bound for Cape Town, stranded on February 12 in the sand bars lying off the Manasquan life-saving station. She struck bottom almost head on, but the heavy seas have almost swung her broadside to the beach. She now lies slightly imbedded in the sand, not more than 200 feet from the mainland. With her sails loosed for drying she appears from shore to be settling forth under full canvas for a Southern port. The fact of her helplessness seems contradicted by her appearance. The success of the efforts being made to float her depends on our capricious weather.
