MEMORIAL DAY.

This is a reunited country for the American people after years of bitterness and narrowness have learned to love and admire and respect valor, whether it be of friend or foe, and the men who wore the gray and the men who wore the blue today hold as a sacred memory the blood of sons of the North and sons of the South, who have fought and fallen side by side in the cause of the New Nation.

It is not alone in Raleigh and every other great city of the South, but in almost every town and village of this State and in many localities in those parts of the United States which were arrayed against the South in the Civil War, that today, men, women and children are gathered about the graves of the men who wore the gray, who fought and suffered and died under the Southern cross.

The recognition of the nobleness, honesty and heroism of such men as those who made glorious the name of the Twenty-sixth North Carolina Regiment, which was so magnificently eulogized at the cemetery this afternoon by Captain Henry M. London, and the survivors of the armies that followed Lee and Stonewall Jackson and Branch and Ramseur, and the other great leaders of the Lost Cause, is now general throughout the world, and nowhere is this sentiment more clearly defined or more openly expressed than among the wearers of the blue who met the Southern heroes on the field of battle and in those States which stood solidly aligned against our section in that great struggle.

No longer should it be said that Memorial Day in the South and Decoration Day in the North are occasions for a revival of the bitter feelings of the War Between the States. Wherever is found the grave of fallen Confederate or Union soldier certain it is that those who sympathized with the cause of each and the sons and daughters of such parents, and citizens generally, today do honor to the memory of the victims of the conflict and decorate with flowers their last and sacred resting places.

Memorial day and Decoration day appeal to the better part of our nature and bring to our minds high ideals of duty, devotion and courage which were realized in the lives and deeds of the men who followed the flags of both the sections of this country in the most heroic war of history.

TOWNSHIP CONSTABLE.

Joint discussions seem to be the rage, but it remained for progressive Durham to produce the first joint canvass of candidates for township constable.

The Durham Herald says: "P. B. Check, who is well known to most of our people, is a candidate for the office of township constable. . . . We are requested to announce that he will speak in West Durham tonight. The hour of the speaking was not given."

The next issue of the Durham Sun contained the following card from Mr. Ed. T. Lee: "I am also a candidate for constable in Durham township, and I desire to ask Mr. Check if he will divide time with me at this appointment, as I think we can give the people an interesting discussion on the issues of the day—expansion, retention of the Philippines, the constitution in Porto Rico and the vital question involved in the South African war."

We shall immediately begin grooming our staunch friend Ed. Potter for a joint canvass with any candidate who shall possess the sublimated audacity, transcendent impudence, immaculate nerve, unadulterated gall, and triple-plated cheek to enter the arena against him. Ed. can win hands down, he is seventeen up and one to play against the whole crew, whether it be in catching rogues or in discussing our moral responsibilities to the Filipinos. But Durham has won over Raleigh in this respect for we do not believe that a single citizen of Raleigh will demand a display of Ed's oratorical powers in this campaign. Should an opponent loom up, however, Ed. will squelch him and after the primaries Ed. will be back of the flag and pulled up lame with the stars and stripes wreathing his victorious brow.

The town elections passed off quietly last Monday in this State and one of the most encouraging signs of the times is the freedom men are now using in selecting municipal officers. In an ideal State city politics should be divorced entirely from political parties. In addition to the towns mentioned yesterday Greensboro re-elected Mayor Taylor. (Dem.) He received 686 and L. M. Scott (Citizens' ticket), 642. The Telegram says 320 negroes voted. All the Democratic aldermen were elected, the majorities in some wards being close. Hendersonville, in Henderson county, went Republican by a narrow margin.

The rain yesterday afternoon and last night brought relief to the residents of Raleigh who live on the principle and most travelled streets. The relief had long been looked forward to and has caused a number of communications, the good to be accomplished by which at the present time being out or reach. On those streets where macadam and cobble stone have been placed it is impossible with the present street sprinkling facilities to keep down the awful dust that has been such an inconvenience and trouble to pedestrians and housekeepers alike.

The summer is near at hand and the pulverized dust that covers the streets is to do a deal of destruction unless some step is taken to increase the street sprinkling facilities. Merely as a suggestion, and in no manner as a complaint, would it not be wise for the proper authorities to consider the advisability of increasing the number of street sprinklers or arrange the rounds of the water wagons in such a way as to cover all the principal streets that are in need of sprinkling?

"Welcome, Evil, If Thou Comest Alone."

One evil that cannot come alone is impure blood. If this as allowed, it is attended by kindred ailments galore. This condition means that every vein and artery of the body, instead of carrying to the organs a health-giving flow of life, is laden with a slow and impure fluid that is harmful instead of healing.

It is unfortunate when there is "bad blood" inside of you. Hood's Sarsaparilla will not make enemies friends, but it will make "bad blood" good blood, and blood should be of the best quality. Hood's never disappoints.

Grip—"After a severe attack of grip, my health was poor. I got no relief until I used Hood's Sarsaparilla, which did what was needed, purified my blood." M. M. Stewart, Okeaha, Miss.

Liver Troubles—"My wife and I are advanced in years and have derived great benefit from Hood's Sarsaparilla for liver and stomach. We do not think of being without it and Hood's Pills." Mrs. Hervey, Blissfield, Mich.

Hood's Pills cure liver bile; the non-irritating and only cathartic to take with Hood's Sarsaparilla
