The Glove and the Lions. ing Francis was a hearty king, and loved a royal sport, nd one day as his tions fought, sat looking on the court; he nobles filled the benches with the ladies in their pride. mongst them sat the Count de Lorge, with one for whom he

And truly 'twas a gallant thing to see that crowning show, Valor and love, and a king above, and the royal beasts below.

Ramped and roared the lions with horrid boughing jaws;
They bit, they glared, gave blows like beams, a wind went with their paws; With wallowing might and stifled roar they rolled on one another;

The bloody foam above the bars came whisking through the air; Said Francis, then, "Faith, gentlemen we're better here than there. De Lorge's love o'erheard the King, a beauteous, lively dame.

With smiling ups and sharp bright eyes, which always seemed the same:

She thought, "The Count, my lover, is brave as brave can be; He surely would do wondrous things to show his love for me; Kings, ladies, lovers, all look on; the occasion is divine;

I'll drop my glove, to prove his love,
great glory will be mine."

She dropped her glove to prove his love, then looked at him and smiled: He smiled, and then in a moment leap-

cd among the lions wild;
The leap was quick, return was quick,
he had regained his place,
Then threw the glove, but not with love, right in the lady's face, heaven! said Francis, "rightly "By heaven!" said Francis, "rightly done!" and he rose from where

"No love," quoth he, "but vanity, sets such a task like that." - Leigh Hunt.

Admiral Seymour belongs to one of the oldest families in England, one colateral angestress being Jane Sey-mour, who was one of the wives of Beary VIII, and whose brother married Catherine Parr, the wife who surried Catherine Part, the wife who survived Henry. Innumerable members have been in the British Navy and Army, several of them becoming Admiral, and one the Admiral of the Navy, Sir Frederick Seymour, who died in 1895. The rescued admiral is the second member to fight against the Chinese. Admiral Str Michael hav-ing destroyed two Chinese fleets—in

A Mr. Crafs, of Indiana, says that the statement that Joseph Tudos is the statement that Joseph Tuttos is now the only living witness of the execution of Emperor Maximilian. is a mistake, for there are living in this country two witnesses of the famous event. One is Col. J. W. Youngs of Fort Wayne, Ind., and the other Col. W. E. Davis, of Brownsville, Texas. Both were present on the occasion and saw all three menshot,

"The power of a state or municipality to place restrictions upon the manner in which patents should be assigned and sold has never been squarely brought before the United States Supreme Court, with the result States Supreme Court, with the result that much conflicting legislation has been enacted by different States, but it is generally accepted by the legal fraternity that while a State may regulate the sale of the manufactured article covered by a patent, it cannot annex conditions to restrict the sale of the patent right."—Quoted from a pamphlet issued by E. G. Siggers, Patent Lawyer, Washington, D. C.

Lancaster county, Pa., is the banner Republican county in the entire country. This was learned from the settlement of a bet between two dele-gates to the Philodelphia Convention upon the claims of Lancaster and Herkimer county, N. Y., for the distinction. A consultation of the election returns proved that Lancaster has given an average Republican majority of 17,000.
