TO BE BEHEADED

Empress Orders Execution of Kang Yi, President of Board of Punishment.

WANT LOOT RETURNED.

Field Marshal Von Waldersee Takes Charge. Troops Feel Effects of Cold Weather.

By Telegram to The Times. SHANGHAI, Oct. 11.—Li Hong Chang has asked Americans to return the loot, valued at $500,000, which they found in Peking, and which was the property of the Imperial authorities. According to Imperial edict, Kang Yi, grand secretary and president of the Board of Punishment, is to be beheaded, and Prince Tuan is to be banished to the north and not to work road-building. After the Dowager Empress and her party reached Choo-Chy October 8th, they rested a day and were joined by large additional forces from the south. The foreign troops in Peking are beginning to feel the effects of the approaching cold weather.

VOX WALTERS' ADDRESS.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 11.—Field Marshal Von Waldersee, on assuming command of the international troops in the Province of Pechili, made the following speech: "I am firmly convinced that I shall succeed entirely and surely, with the help of these brave troops in attaining the object of my mission, and that all are under a sacred obligation."

ROOSEVELT IN INDIANA.

Large Crowd Greet Him at Town of Marion.

By Telegram to The Times. MARION, IND., Oct. 11.—Although Governor Roosevelt stops in a corn field just north of Marion, Indiana, his flight, his voice was not nearly this inspiring. There was a small flock of people on his back when a piece of soap struck him and he turned out, shouting "It's a soap, it's a soap." He then declared that this morning he was somewhat nervous in his position in Indiana, one of the strongest Republican voters in Indiana. At a point near the village where the Governor's train stopped, all stopped to cheer the Republican of his visit. Ten thousand people tried to hear Roosevelt in the court house square today.

CLAIM INDIANA.

ALLEN ABRAMS, IND., Oct. 11.—Governor Ross, who is a special delegate at Alexandria at 1:30 p. m. An audience of 8,000 greeted the Governor, who spoke later in the afternoon. Meets in Special Session to Pass Reform Tax Amendments.

By Telegram to The Times. DETROIT, MICH., Oct. 11.—The special session of the legislature called by Governor Pingree began today at noon. It was called to pass a resolution submitting to the people a constitutional amendment for the ad valorem taxation upon cash value of the property of railroads and other corporations the same as individual property is taxed.

EMPIRE OR REPUBLIC.

Bryan Says People Must Choose. Republicans Claim Michigan for McKinley.

By Telegram to The Times. GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Oct. 11.—Wm. J. Bryan will be a busy man today. Sixteen meetings have been scheduled, and it is likely the number will be increased to twenty. Mr. Bryan's special car was attached to the Michigan Central at 6:20 o'clock this morning. He will arrive at Toledo, Ohio, early Friday, and begin his tour of Ohio. The candidate was last seen with the use of his machine last night, estimates making the number 25-30,000. However, small towns of Michigan have turned out small audiences in contrast with places of the same size in Indiana. Republicans lead at the clubs in Michigan will go Democratic, but under that measure for Governor will run 15,000 ahead of the Democratic ticket. The foreign vote of Michigan, it is claimed by Democratic leaders, will be solidly cast for Bryan.

RAILS SPREAD

Peculiar Accident Delayed Southern Railway Mail Here.

A peculiar accident happened at the station here this morning and caused a delay of thirty to forty minutes to the east bound Southern train. This mail came in nearly forty minutes late and was further delayed here because the track spread so that the train could not leave until section hands were sent for and the rail driven back. The track spread at the station here after the 1.17 wheels of the rear coach ran on the ground just as the train was under the shed, however, the wheels in the track, making a crossing for West Street, threw the wheels back on the track. The people wondered at first why the train was so late in the depot but after the signal men had waited a signal of section hands, and the train had started up the track and the mail could get out.

SHE'LL KEEP THEM.

Anna Hart Will not Give up Luxuries Defaulter Lashed on Her.

NATIVE OF KNOXVILLE.

Her Career in St. Louis. To Fight the Elizabeth Bank. Schreitzer Cannot be Found.

By Telegram to The Times. NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Anna Hart, the young woman on whom William Schreitzer lavished a big share of the money stolen from the Elizabeth Bank, N. J., Banking Company, will fight the bank in her endeavor to keep the jewels, horses and many other things which it is alleged were given her by the defaulter. She declares she will fight the attachments placed on the furniture in her flat, on the jewelry, horses, carriages and bank account. "Do you think I have no friends except this little stuttering fool that has got himself in this fix?" she exclaimed to the attorney. She has retained a lawyer, and it is declared today that Mrs. Hart is a Knoxville, Tenn., girl. She is said to have married a St. Louis banker by the name of Sharp. They did not agree, and she left St. Louis and went to Louisville. From that place she drifted to Cincinnati, then to Washington and finally came to New York in 1898. She met Schreitzer the same year at the Gravesend Track. Her mother, it is said, left her some property in Knoxville, but as she was apparently rolling in wealth here, she never took the trouble, it is declared, to claim it. The police are in the dark regarding Schreitzer's whereabouts. They believe he is somewhere in Europe.
