ON THE WAR PATH.

Indians Murder a Number of Mormons in Mexican Colony.

TWELVE INDIANS KILLED.

Mexican Soldiers Go to the Scene. Reported that Indians Were From Arizona.

By Telegraph to The Times. EL PASO, TEXAS, Nov. 17.—A band of fifty Indians attacked the Mormon colony at Pacheco, Mexico, 100 miles from El Paso, Thursday. Twelve Indians and as many Mormons were killed. The report was received by Mayor Quate, of Juarez, last evening, together with an order for troops. The Mormons succeeded in driving away the Indians after the latter had killed a number of people, but many of them escaped. The Mexican soldiers reported that the Indians were from the reservation in Southern Arizona, but this is thought to be a mistake as the colony is situated near the Yaqui country in Mexico, and it is more likely that it was those Indians who made the raid. There are on the war path and are doing much damage.

INVESTIGATION SECRET

Republican Committee's "Star Chamber" Proceedings.

By Telegraph to The Times. WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The Post says regarding the investigation of Cuban affairs by the Senate Committee, which adjourned yesterday subject to the call of the chairman: "The investigation has really been a corpse since last June. There have been feeble attempts to galvanize it into life and yesterday it really seemed for a little while as if these efforts were to be successful. Alas they were not to be." "The investigation gave one brief, expiring gasp and was then laid away to rest. Everything was done in secret. Every bit of information about the investigation, its brief existence and its ultimate end, was scrupulously guarded. If Cuban affairs needed with scandal from one end to the other, the Republican Senators could not have been more careful in keeping all unpleasant details from the public eye."

NO THEATRE STOCK SYNOD ADJOURNS.

Methodist Church Has No Interest in Raleigh's Academy of Music

MR. STEWART ON SERVING

Evangelist will Deliver his Famous Sermon, the "Stump Digger," Sunday Afternoon.

The meeting at the Edenton Street Methodist church continues with interest increasing at each service. The church is taxed to its utmost capacity each night, and the day services are largely attended. This morning Rev. George Stewart spoke on the subject, "Servant of the Lord." In the course of his talk he used one remarkably strong illustration, saying, suppose you take a man to work on a farm and tell him to do there are six things for him to do, namely, to eat, drink, sleep, plough, sow and reap. Then when you come back and ask him to follow what he has done and he replies that he has done three of the things well, that he had eaten, drunk and slept, and had a good time but he had not troubled to plough, sow or reap. That is the way with some church members, they do their duty so far as going to church and singing and all that is concerned, but they don't do any work; they are not ploughing, sowing or reaping. Mr. Stewart during his talk said that somebody had told him that the Methodist conference owned a part in the largest theatre in this town and if that was so he thought it might explain some thing about this meeting. He ridiculed the idea of a church owning a theatre calling such a place a Methodist theatre. Mr. Joseph G. Brown and Rev. J. W. Jenkins arose and explained that Methodist Orphanage have no interest in the theatre, and the situation as made by these gentlemen is just this: The trustees of the Methodist Orphanage have no interest in the Academy of Music; they have simply the option of either accepting the Academy of Music or $5,000, which is the estate of the late Mr. A. P. Page shall be settled, since by his will he left it to the trustees to decide whether they would take for the orphanage the Academy or $5,000 in cash. But the estate of Mr. Page is still in the hands of his executors and has not been settled, so the trustees of the orphanage have no authority or power to act yet. The orphanage receives no rent from the Academy. When the estate is settled then the trustees will elect between the Academy and $5,000. Tomorrow Mr. Stewart will preach in the Methodist church at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

PILLAGED AND BURNED

Post Office Robbed and Burned at Sippahaw.

The store and postoffice at Sippahaw, in this county, was burned to the ground last night, and there is a strong belief that the place was first burglarized and then fired. The store was owned and run by H. C. Olive and Company, while C. W. Sent was the postmaster. The store was a general mercantile establishment and the loss, including the postoffice, is supposed to be about $2,500. Sippahaw is a new place on the Raleigh and Cape Fear Railroad, and the postoffice was established there last spring. There was quite a fight over the place as postmaster of the place, Col. J. C. L. Harris having antagonized the successful candidate.

RESOLUTION OF THANKS TO CHURCH, PEOPLE AND PRESS. THE DELEGATES DEPART.

At 12:30 o'clock today the Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina adjourned, after one of the most successful sessions it has ever held. The attendance was larger than for a number of years past, and the members were delighted with their entertainment in the capital city. This morning resolutions were adopted thanking the people of the city, and especially the congregation of the Presbyterian church, for their open-hearted hospitality; to Peace Institute and the State Institution for the Blind for entertainments tendered; to the press of the city for their courtesies; and to the several railroads for reduced rates. The morning session was devoted to the completion of considerable routine work that more important matters had crowded out. A good many matters of minor importance were disposed of. The records of the Synod show that there are 375 Presbyterian churches in the State, with 157 ministers actively at work, and nearly 35,000 communicants. The church is in a healthy and growing condition. Its record in contributions probably exceeds that of any other denomination in the State. With only 35,000 members, it contributed to foreign missions $21,000, and to home missions in various departments $13,000. The success of the meeting * this week is due largely to the efforts of Dr. Eugene Daniel, the pastor of the church here, and his congregation. The delegates, except the ministers who are to fill local pulpits tomorrow, returned to their homes this evening.

SHORT OF PRISONERS

Sup't. McMackin Anxious to Secure More Convicts on Roads

The Wake county road force is now at a low ebb and Supervisor McMackin is desirous of another term of court or some means for increasing the inadequate force. There are only 40 prisoners on the roads in this county, and Superintendent McMackin wants from 70 to 80, and would not object to one hundred. The term of court at Smithfield closed yesterday and the authorities here asked the judge to sentence them to Wake county roads, but owing to a mistake these negroes were sent to Alamance instead of Wake, and the remaining one was sent to the penitentiary for 12 months for larceny. Johnston county has no road law for using prisoners, so they are either sent to the State prison or to some other county.
