TUSQUITTEE

Through the lapse of the ages,
Thou doest still stand in, all thy beauty

Like the night of cloudless Chimes
and starry skies,
Fair forms, heads, seers of ages past,
All that's best of dark and bright,
Have met you face to face
Oh! Tusquittee.

Thy dome, rock-ribbed and ancient,
As the sun; the hills below,
The vales stretching in pensive quietness;

The venerable woods; the complaining brooks,
That make the meadows green,
Seemingly old ocean's gray
And melancholy waste are,
But the solemn decorations of thee
Oh! Tusquittee.

On thy summit loose clouds,
Like earths decaying leaves are shed,
Angles of rain and lightning!
There, are shed,
The sanguinal Sunrise,
With his meteor eyes,
Like a jack-o-lantern in full,
Comes slowly up,
From the eastern skies and kisses thee first,
Oh! Tusquittee ball.

THE SESQUI FROM THE AIR

An idea of the size and scope of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, which will be held in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1, to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence, is given in this photograph. In the foreground is the great Municipal Stadium, which seats 100,000 persons. North of the stadium can be seen two of the vast exhibition buildings. The first is the Palace of Agriculture and the second the Palace of Liberal Arts. Opposite the latter building is the big auditorium, which seats 20,000 persons on a single floor. To the left of the stadium can be seen the world famous Indian building, the Taj Mahal.
