DEPOSITS IN LOCAL BANK PROVE GREAT PROGRESS IN TOWN AND CO.

Natural Resources Being Developed Bringing Wealth To Our People

PLENTY OF MONEY IS IN CIRCULATION

Thousands of Dollars Realized From Farm and Dairy Products

In a recent interview with Col. G. H. Haigler, cashier of the Clay County Bank, we were informed that the deposits of the Clay County Bank have increased $50,000 within the past few weeks. Mr. Haigler informs us that he has been in business in Clay County for 51 years, and for the past 19 years in the banking business and that to-day there is more money in the County than he has ever known heretofore. He stated that in his opinion Clay County is on the eve of a development that our people have hardly dreamed of.

Much of this progress of development is attributed to the operation of the Valley River Southern Railway. This railroad is furnishing an outlet for the abundance of forest products found within the boundary lines of Clay County. Much lumber, telephone poles, tan bark, cross ties, and acid wood are being shipped daily. The scientific way in which farm, poultry and dairy products are being raised and marketed play a large part in this new era of progress.

With the operation of the new Boice Wholesale and Retail store Hayesville is developing into a trading center for this section, thus putting more money in circulation in our county.

With this great progress during the past few months we may look forward to even greater progress during the coming year.

DAN BOONE DIED MONDAY NIGHT

Daniel Boone, young son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Boone, died early Tuesday morning at the home of Dr. J. M. May in Hayesville.

Young Boone, who is a nephew of Dr. May, was taken ill while at work near Helen, Ga. Dr. May was called to his bedside on Monday and him in a serious condition. He was brought immediately to Hayesville where he could get medical attention but his condition grew worse and death came shortly after he was brought here.

The body was taken to the home of his parents at Briertown, in Macon County Tuesday where funeral services and interment were held.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gray accompanied the body to Macon County, Mrs. Gray is a sister of the young man's mother.

John Thomas Emerich, retired farmer of Washington, Ill., who is named in a suit for the $500,000,000 fortune of the Astors, died in New York City.

Clayburn Solomon of the Richfield Four-H club in Stanly County has made $101.50 in the past three years by harvesting the soybeans from his acre and selling the seed to other farmers.

Penland Reunion To Be Held On June 30

Saturday, June 30th the annual reunion of the family connections of the late C. N. Penland will be held at the C. N. Penland old home place on Shooting Creek. A large gathering of friends and relatives are expected to be present for this occasion.

MAKING RAPID PROGRESS ON 28 IN CLAY COUNTY

For the past several weeks traffic on Highway No. 28 from Hayesville to Brasstown has been detoured via Sweetwater while the State Highway Commission crew was putting down surface known as "Tar Heel Macadam." The surfacing of this stretch of No. 28 was completed the first of this week and traffic to Brasstown now travels the new surface. Work of surfacing the four miles of 28 and 287 from Hayesville to the Georgia line will be completed in a short time if the weather stays open. When this work is completed, it will give Clay County a surfaced road through the County from Cherokee County line at Brasstown to the Georgia State line four miles above Hayesville.

Work of grading No. 28 across the Chunky Gal Mountain up Shooting Creek toward the Macon County line is progressing under the operation of the Bonding Company. The steam shovel has cut through the gap and is now coming back dressing up the grade. It will be several months before travel can go through to Franklin over this stretch of No. 28. Macon County has her end of No. 28 graded from Franklin to the Clay County line. When this road is completed and surfaced it will give Clay County an outlet to Asheville and the east via Franklin thus considerably cutting the traveling time to Asheville.

FUNERAL FOR W. T. GARRISON HELD SATURDAY

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the Moss church on Tusquitee for Wister Tate Garrison who died after an illness of several months at the home of W. I. Prater. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Chas. S. Plyler, interment following in the Moss cemetery.

Wister Tate Garrison was born in Clay County, May 13th, 1854. He was married to Mary Louise Prater February 2, 1890. To this union was born one daughter who passed away May 13, 1927.

Mr. Garrison was a citizen of Clay County until 1915 when he moved to Clarksville, Ga., later moving to Chamblee, Ga.

A little over a year ago his health began to fail him and in August, feeling that there would be an improvement in his condition, he decided to move back to Clay County. He continued to grow more feeble, however, and his last days were spent in great suffering.

Mr. Garrison professed faith in Christ about twenty-eight years ago and remained faithful until the end. He always stood for the things that were right and honest.

Besides his widow, two brothers, and one sister he leaves a host of other relatives and friends who mourn his death.

G. O. P. NOMINEES

Two poses of Herbert Hoover and his running mate, Senator Charles Curtis, G. O. P. Standard bearers for President and Vice President in the coming fall elections. This is the first time Hoover's name has ever been before the people for public office, although he has been much in public office all his life.

FROM TEPEE TO SENATE IS TRAIL MADE BY CURTIS

Hoover's Running Mate's Early Days Were Spent On Race Tracks

KANSAS CITY, June 15. (AP)—From blanket Indian to vice president will be the romantic career of Charles Curtis if elected in November.

Plain Charles Curtis, "Charlie" to his friends, took this convention by storm because it recognized his sturdy manhood drawn from the blood of his Kaw Indian forebears and the fire and daring of his French-Canadian-American sire.

In obtaining the Republican endorsement for vice president, he brushed against that of president and still was in the race when the contenders came down the home stretch.

Racing is nothing new to Charles Curtis. He earned his first real salary as a jockey. He was the Earl Sande of the West in the 70's and if Curtis would abandon dignity and talk the language of other days, he probably would say:

"I was in the money."

Today Charles Curtis is not thinking of what he has accomplished. His mind has harked back to a moonlit night on the plains of Kansas when his wrinkled old Indian grandmother, Julie Poppin, crawled to this mere lad's side around the Indian camp fire.

"Go back to your white ancestors, my boy," she implored.

For Charles Curtis had fled from his father's relatives in Topeka and rejoined the Kaws while they were on the march. The boy demurred, he preferred the open, free life of the plains. He loved Julie Poppin and her devotion to her grandson consumed her soul.

She led her pony to the shadows beyond the campfire, lifted the boy into the saddle and Charles Curtis began his ride to fame, never again returning to his Indians except as a guest.

In Topeka Curtis took up his residence with his father's sister, entered the public schools and for a few

HOOVER SENDS G. O. P. MESSAGE OF ACCEPTANCE

Declares in Telegram To Moses That Country Owes Him Nothing

Grateful For Chance

Asserts Gratitude To America For Opportunity To Rise From Humble Home

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(AP)—Secretary Hoover Friday sent the following message to George M. Moses, chairman of the Republican national convention at Kansas City:

"I have your telegram and I sincerely appreciate the confidence which the party has shown in and the honor bestowed upon me."

"You convey too great a compliment when you say I have earned the right to the presidential nomination. No man can establish an obligation upon any part of the American people. My country owes me no debt. It gave me, it gives every boy and girl, a chance. It gave me schooling, independence of action, opportunity for service and honor. In no other land could a boy from a country village, without inheritance or influential friends, look forward with unbounded hope.

Cites Previous Calls

"My whole life has taught me what America means. I am indebted to my country beyond any human power to repay. It conferred upon me the mission to administer America's response to the appeal of afflicted nations during the war. It has called me into two cabinets of two presidents. By these experiences I have observed the burdens and responsibilities of the greatest office in the world. That office touches the happiness of every home. It deals with the peace of nations. No man could think of it except in terms of solemn consecration.

"You asked me for a message: "New era and new forces have come into our economic life and our setting among nations of the world. These forces demand of us constant study and effort, if prosperity, peace and contentment shall be maintained.

Principles Affirmed

"This convention like those which have preceded it for two generations have affirmed the principles of our party and defined its policy upon the problem which now confronts us. I stand upon that platform. At a later date I shall discuss it fully, but in the meantime I may as well say that under the principles the victory of the party will assure national defense, maintain economy in the administration of government, protect American work, farmers and business men alike, form competition arising out of lower standards of living abroad, foster individual initiative, insure stability of business and employment, promote our foreign commerce and develop our national resources. You have manifested a deep concern in the problems of agriculture. You have pledged the party to support specific and constructive relief upon a nationwide scale backed by the resources of the federal government. We will and must find a sound solution that will bring security and contentment to this great section of our people.

Problems Ahead

"But the problems of the next four years are more than economic, in a profound sense they are moral and spiritual. This convention has sounded a note of moral leadership.

"Shall the world have peace? Shall prosperity in this nation be more thoroughly distributed? Shall we build steadily toward the ideal of equal opportunity to all our people. Shall there be secured that obedience to law which is essential assurance of life of our institution? Shall honesty and righteousness in government and in business confirm the confidence of the people in their institutions and their laws?

"Government must contribute to leadership in answer to these ques-
