ed in America's War—They are betting that you are buying War Bonds and Stamps—Hitler and the Japs are betting you aren't—Place your bets inside."

My wife couldn't wait to get herself down there and inside Augusta's shop to see what in the wide world had happened to her, turning right around about gambling like that. You know my wife. She kind of likes to talk. She went right up to Augusta and said, "Augusta Travers, seems like something's come over Augusta and said, "Augusta Travers, seems like something's come over you. Why, I never thought I'd see you running a gambling campaign in your own shop."

Mean to tell me it's a gamble whether this country buys enough bonds to win this war!" Augusta saked.

I forgot to say. Wasn't just a hat my wife brought home. Was a hat and a $25 bond.

(Story from an actual report in the files of the Treasury Department.)

Augusta Travers—you know, the one who runs the little hat shop down on Main Street—she's always been dead set against gambling in any form. Never will forget when I was a kid and she found little Hammy, her youngest nephew, playing marbies for keeps out back of the shop. Took it on herself to give him a whaling and point out the evils of gambling. She's a strict woman, Augusta, real strict Good as gold of course. But mighty set against the lighter things of life.

Well. so you could have knocked us all over with the lighter things of life.

Well so you could have knocked us all over with a feather when Augusta started ner gambling campaign for war Bonds and Stamps, right out in the window of her shop First is he got hold of the photographs of every boy herie in town who's joined up, and pasted them on the company to the sections and then desire to do what they can to alleviate the found shortages as much as possible.
