The position which Cherryville township occupies within the bounds of Gaston county, is no longer in question on the part of the county, state or nation, to those who have looked over its the county, state or nation, to those who have looked over its contribution to our Governments expectation in the matter of dollars and cents. The Government of course placed its quota on the entire ounty, but the county little thought Cherryville Township would pass the quarter million dollar mark. But, when Chairman E. V. Moss passed the word along through his report of the actual amount raised for the purchase of second war-loan financing, people of the vicinity were surprised at their own display of loyalty and support of and to our boys in service, and the government as a whole.

The complete report turned in by Mr. Moss, reveals the fact that a total of $358,650.00 was reached by our local township. A statement that brings the Cherryville township section in for honorable mention along with the rich.

MOTHER IS MOTHER INDEED ON THIS MOTHER'S DAY

Looking back on other Mothers' Day occassions, none is more fittingly remembered than Sunday, May 9th will prove to be. Never, perhaps before has the cord of separation bound mother and son so close together. . . . yet so far apart as on this occassion of Mother's Day,

This year, all Ame ica should enshroud our American moth ers with love, devotion and pride. Never, before, has the worth of mothers been so conspiciously placed in the lime-light of world affairs, as they are today. Never have mothers pray ers, been so inviting. Never before has the aggrigate of motherhood been called upon for so much. Never have mothers given more. than since December 7th, of last year.

* Never has mother been quite so dear, more revered or in greater praise by a son . . . than today

Never have motifers companionship meant more to husbands , than since that moment when, out of her embrace he saw his son leave for the front,

Never before have mothers played such a role in the defense of our freedom, our country and our future. Truly, Sunday, May 9th, is a fitting Mothers Day occassion. For, back of every soldier, on land, on sea or in the air . . . is a niother and, living or dead, she is still his mother,

Are not the mothers of today qualified to look back to the foothills of Golgatia and see a Mother watching her son . . . the Son of Man carrying his own cross of a people's freedom. seeking to be ever true to his convictions . . . the training of a

Mother . . . what a role has been her portion in life. Always serving, always loving, ever sacrificing, always giving . . . always paying. Down thru the pathway mother's trod, comes a story of an anger and God. The story tells that once upon a time an angel was cent to earth to harvest the most appealing things of earth. On this trip it seems that the angel paused to look upon the beauty of a flower garden. Here the spirit caught their fragrence . . . then said; "surely, such beauty, such fragrance and such harmless little things, belong to God. Gathering an armiu of flowers, the Angel went on its way. Presently it came to the crossroads and there encountered two wonderful friends. Listening, the thought that such friend ships, such devotion and ties of brotherly love, surely must be a cherished gift to heaven and gathering these friendships in her arms, she continued her course. Then came sunset and the sound of a lullaby . . . the end of another day. There the angel listened and fell under the spell of a mothers sweet, soft words of her lullabye song. This, said the angel is heaven, the real music of God and I must take it to the father. Yith her three most cherished earthly treasures, the angel wended it's way back to heaven and, upon entering the gates of the Celestial City, it stopped to inspect its harvest Then it was the angel learned that its harvest of flowers had withered and died, the friendship: broken and gone, and the only thongs upon the face of the earth, able to find its way home to God was a mothers love for her babe.

Truly, this is mother . . . my mother . . . your mother . all mothers and on this mothers day let us offer to each of them, the fulness of our devotion, care and attention, for this is MOTHER'S DAY
