American Education Week Celebrated

Open-House, in celebration of American Education Week, was quite an enjoyable and successful occasion in the High School on last Thursday, November 11. From 7 until 8:30 o'clock quite a number of patrons and friends were received in the various departments and classrooms of the school. Approximately one hundred and fifty patrons, friends, faculty members, and students were registered.

The students in Mrs. Ralph Hoyle's section of the Junior Class will receive the prize for having the largest percentage of parents present, Miss Julia Reinfore's section of the Freshman Class came second.

Seemingly this was a most profitable affair for both the visitors and the faculty. It was a time when parents visited in the different rooms to observe the types of work which are carried on and to mingle with the teachers in the interest of their own children.

Many worthwhile associations were made during this period of visitation. How much more effective our schools will be if there is close communication with the homes. Education has a great part to play in the war effort. Support your school in the interest of education's part in the peace which will surely follow the present conflict.

Mail In November Urged By Postmaster

"Mail In November" does not mean "Mail on November 30." Reports from the Postmaster indicate that little Christmas mail has been started on its way by the public, although the press, radio and business concerns are co-operating splendidly in spreading the word that November mailings are necessary this year if deliveries are to be made on time.

Postal officials advise that all who can possibly do so should mail their gifts at once and mark them "Do Not Open Until Christmas."

If gifts are mailed during November, it is quite probable that some parcels and cards will be delivered rather early; this can do no harm. But if gifts are mailed late, it is certain that many of them will arrive after December 25th and this will result in disappointment both for civilians and for members of the armed forces who are still in this country.

Should the heavy mailings continue into December, it will be impossible to give any assurance of delivery by Christmas. Transportation lines are heavily burdened with war material and personnel, and these must have preference over Christmas gifts when facilities are limited. Gifts cannot be permitted to interfere with the transportation of arms and supplies to our fighting forces.

Not all A.P.O.'s serve forces overseas. The overseas restrictions apply only to parcels addressed for delivery through A.P.O.'s in care of the following postmasters: New York, San Francisco, Seattle, New Orleans, Miami and Presque Isle, Maine; Minneapolis, Minn. Parcels addressed to A. P. O.'s in care of postmasters at any other post office in the continental United States are not subject to the overseas restrictions but may be accepted without presentation of a request from the addressee if within the regular limits of weight and size.
