LETTERS FROM

OUR BOYS IN THE SERVICE

U. S. S. Barr

Hi Fred, I thought I would drop you a line or two and let you know my new address now. Here I am aboard another ship. This is my ship and I think I like it better than any of them so far.

The Navy sure is a swell place you get to see and know places and things that you have never heard of before, that's why the Navy is Okay. You could never learn as much in any college as you can in the Navy. So tell all the boys back there that they should take a try at it.

Well I haven't much more to say so be sure and let all my friends know my new address.

I will close now hoping you keep the Eagle flying. I remain a friend HOOPER QUINN Address: Warren Quinn U. S. S. Barr D. E. 576 So Fleet Post Office New York, N. Y.

India Feb. 10, 1944

Dear Fred, I will drop you a few lines tonight to tell you at least I have received my Eagle. I sure was glad to get it.

Well we are in India. We live in Bamboo cane huts. We are participating in the C.H.I. Theatre. This is China, Burma and India.

Instead of using the American money we use Rupers. Here is how they run. One Rupee is worth about 32 cents. Then comes the half rupee, it's worth 16 cents. Then the 1-4 rupee is 8 cents. Then comes the Annas, they come in 10 series such as follows 1 Ann is about the size of our penny. The 2 anna is a square coin.

Well Fred write when you can. Hoping to receive the Eagle every week.

Dear Fred, I thought you might appreciate a letter from me after such a long time especially now that I am over here somewhere in England. Since I've been here I believe I've received three copies of "The Eagle" and you can't imagine how much I've enjoyed them even if they were old issues. They sure have helped to know what is going on back home and probably even helped me from getting a trifle homesick.

Recently I've had another promotion, this time to Sergeant, and I'm in the habit of talking loudly and ferociously over, in many cases, minor breaks in discipline. Father admitted his guilt and left his case to the mercy of the jury. That body advised leniency in the present instance because it was being brought to the attention of the accused for the first time.

It was suggested for the accused's benefit that he thought a case serious to place it on the docket, but in any event, all remonstrances should be made in an ordinary tone of voice. Father is now trying conscientiously to mind his o's and a's. This court has helped father a lot and the children, too.

Check on Coupon Endorsement. Beginning the week of March 6, OPA will attempt to check all gasoline ration books to see that the coupons are properly endorsed with the license number and state as part of the nationwide campaign against black markets in gasoline. Motorists found with unendorsed coupons will be notified to report to their local board within 10 days with endorsed books. Anyone who fails to do this faces revocation of ration.

New Ceilings on Various Items. The Office of Price Administration recently established price ceilings on several items. For consumers, a reduction on Virginia type dried pork products—5 to 6 cents a pound on whole or half hams; 6 to 7 cents a pound on sliced ham; 4 to 5 cents on bacon; 3 to 4 cents on sides; 2 cents on jowls, and 5 cents on shoulders. New ceilings on goat meat represent moderate reductions set by geographic zones. Highest priced goat meat under the new order is "cabrito" which sells for 30 cents a pound at retail. Soybeans on the 1943 crop to be processed for oil are $1.85 a bushel for best grade and $1.9 a bushel for highest quality. The prices for 1943 fruit and vegetable pack will apply to this year pack until a 1944 price is set. Yellow cypress lumber was increased $3 to $4 per 1,000 board feet for producers—to be passed on to consumers. A 20-cent-per-mille producers' ceiling was set on all round chinook salmon and 24 cents on drawn chinook, on cutbacks in California, Oregon, and Washington (except Sacramento River catch) effective thru

Mr. Guy Brown of Cherryville Route 1 received the following letters from his brothers Earl Brown and Burgin Brown who are stationed in England, near London. Burgin has been there about two months and Earl has been there for around six or seven months. The letter follows:

February 19, 1944 Dear Guy and Family,

I guess you won't expect this letter in just this way, but Burgin and I are together tonight. I am staying until tomorrow with him. We sure are glad to get together, both of us are fine as silk and getting along in best way. We are at present only about 35 miles apart. Now Burgin will write a few lines.

Hello to all, I had been trying for two weeks to locate Earl and tonight he walked in on me, so I got the biggest surprise after all. He is fine and so am I and we are glad to be together tonight. I hope we can stay near each other.

Successful Parenthood BY MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

CHILDREN FAIR IN CRITICISM OF PARENTS

As we suggested in a recent article, now and then parents ought to welcome a little criticism from their children. You'll find them remarkably fair if they are convinced that you really value their opinions.

What sort of criticism are you likely to get? Well, here is what one mother and father were told when they gave their children an opportunity to suggest some basic rules for their own discipline. The first rule they all agreed on was that their parents should give the children a complete hearing before they even "called them down." Then they wanted their parents to take the age of each child into consideration with regard to his ability to reason out a line of conduct. This showed an admirable sense of fairness on the part of the older children.

In addition, these children asked their parents to keep in mind how their actions were influenced, when they overstepped a rule, by the people with whom they came in contact. For instance, they explained that when they were supposed to be at home from a party at a certain time, the hostess often served refreshments too late for them to make a courteous get-away and be at home at the time suggested. Or sometimes when they were supposed to arrive home from school on the dot, they were asked by a teacher to do an errand on the way home. If these things happened they hated to be met with a frown.

"Smile when we come, please" said one of the children, "even though you are provoked at us. Then if we haven't done wrong we will like it and if we have we will know that you are punishing lovingly and that won't make us mad." These parents learned that this "loving punishment" was truly effective, whereas outright correction without discernment only left the children unhappy and sullen for a time.

Another family of four children, with Father the only living parent, for the last two years have been handling matters of discipline in a Family Court. The father is on exactly the same basis as the children. Before any case is placed on the docket, a family committee considers whether or not the case is of sufficient importance to be taken to court at all.

When court is to be held the stage is properly set in the living room. The member making the complaint automatically becomes the prosecuting attorney. The accused has the right to appoint his own defense attorney.

A case against father was recently brought up by the committee, the oldest girl acting as complainant. It was charged and most justly, that Daddy was getting into the habit of talking loudly and ferociously over, in many cases, minor breaks in discipline. Father admitted his guilt and left his case to the mercy of the jury. That body advised leniency in the present instance because it was being brought to the attention of the accused for the first time.

It was suggested for the accused's benefit that he thought a case serious to place it on the docket, but in any event, all remonstrances should be made in an ordinary tone of voice. Father is now trying conscientiously to mind his o's and a's. This court has helped father a lot and the children, too.

Your coal merchant deserves a BIG one! That coal merchant of yours... it's high time he was cited for service! About everything has happened to him these past two years. He's lost yard and delivery men... and others are hard to find. Repairs and new equipment are a headache... not to mention war-restrictions on his truck mileage, gas and tires. Even his coal supply has been unpredictable... what with labor trouble at the mines and with the war taking 40% more coal for power, steel and endless other tasks. Still he has had just as many (often more) customers to serve and he has gone about it patiently... doing his level best, always! Such service on the home front deserves our citation and yours! Nothing else is more vital to wintertime health and comfort in America's homes or more necessary to backing up the war effort in every neighborhood. To the men who are working quietly and faithfully—courageously too—in their job of keeping fuel in the nation's homes, we say warmly: "Congratulations and more power to you!"
