N. C. HAS HUGE WAR BOND GOAL

A quota of $148,000,000, larger than the goal in any previous war bond campaign, has been assigned North Carolina for the fifth war loan. Clarence T. Leinbach, State finance chairman, announced.

The amount the state has been asked to raise in the new drive opening June 1 for types of bonds bought by individuals, exceeds by close to one fifth the $126,000,000 objective in the January-February fourth war loan.

North Carolina's quota was increased more in proportion than the national goal, which was raised from $14,000,000,000 in the fourth war loan to $16,000,000,000 in the fifth.

"It is the largest quota the state has ever had and therefore represents the greatest challenge to patriotism of our citizens," the war finance chairman declared.

Pointing out that the national objective is also the largest thus far, Leinbach said the fifth war loan "represents the peak of the industry from the financial standpoint. War has already had demands on it for peak production, and has met those calls in a fine way," Leinbach continued.

"Now the people of North Carolina are going to be called upon for a peak financial contribution."
