MORE ABOUT

Memorial Day Service
died at home. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Goins of near Cherryville. The certificates and Gold Stars were not presented to the next of kin at this time because they did not reach here in time for the service, but they will be presented in the near future.

Mayor E. V. Moss introduced as the speaker of the evening, Supt. of Lincoln County Schools Joe R. Nixon. Supt. Nixon was head of the Cherryville Schools for a number of years and said he was perfectly at home at this service. After paying tribute to the departed, the speaker spoke in honor of the more than five hundred persons from Cherryville and Cherryville Township who are now serving their country. In his advice to the living, he brought out four points which he said would make for better citizenship and better living; namely, to think clearly, to love fellow men, to act honestly, and to trust in God. His inspiring message was greatly enjoyed by those present. Rev. W. G. Cobb pronounced the benediction.

The Cherryville band under the direction of Professor Erskine Carson rendered several appropriate numbers on the program. The service was held from the band stand in the park which has recently been opened.
