Six Inch Sermon

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

SIX INCH SERMON Israel's First King. Lesson for August 27: 1 Samuel 9: 15-21, 10:25-27, 11:12-17. Golden Text: 1 Peter 2:17.

In the story of Israel was a theology—God was King, and was represented by chosen servants, from Moses and Joshua through the Judges. And, after the monarchy was established, the king was regarded as the servant of God. The clamor of the people for a king finally led Samuel to anoint Saul as the first ruler, hunting through straying asses of his father, the young man found also a kingdom.

The anointing of Saul by Samuel is an interesting story. It is said that Saul was a "choice young man," standing a head taller than any of his people, as "loved every man such a king. A very giant, he was fitted to inspire his people" as he led them to battle. And he became a fighting king—of undoubted courage. Having summoned the people to Mizpah, Samuel presented Saul as the king—and the present shouted, in the first use of the time-honored words, "God save the king!"

Hardly had Saul been proclaimed as king when an urgent appeal for help came from the city of Jabesh-Gilead which was in danger of being destroyed by the Ammonites, a nomadic nation from the east. Sending messengers throughout Israel, Saul raised an army of 330,000 men, fell upon the Ammonites and almost exterminated them. Following the victory, Samuel summoned all Israel to Gilgal, the old camp of Joshua in the days of the conquest, and a second time Saul was proclaimed as king, with sacrifices of peace offering and great rejoicings. Thus did Saul under appointment of God and in his own humility and dependence upon the Lord, begin his reign with every token of success.

It is estimated that 500 members of the armed forces are being discharged every month because of tuberculosis. Approximately 150,000 men and women have been rejected for military service because pre-induction examinations revealed tuberculosis.
