

Local Soldier Fights With Rainbow Regt.

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, ITALY—Sgt. David M. Black... Pfc. Max B. Sellers, R-3, Cherryville Road, Kings Mountain have been fighting with the 168th Infantry Regiment, veterans of more than 300 days of combat in its attempt to breach the Gothic Line in Italy.

A count taken in early September, 1944 showed men of the 168th had received 8 Distinguished Service Crosses, 147 Silver Stars and 4 Soldiers Medals and had, in the Italian campaign alone received 3024 Purple Hearts and Clusters.

The 168th landed at Algiers Northern Algeria on African Day. Its 2nd battalion led the attack up the slopes of Hill 609 and is officially credited with its capture. The regiment also fought for Sened, Fondouk, Ma-teur, Eddiekhila and Bizerte.

Its first great battle in this campaign began October 13, 1942 when its men crossed the Volturno and took Ciaazzo and two other towns. Ironically, the 168th suffered exactly 168 casualties in the second crossing of the Volturno.

Often meeting foes of the past including the Hermann Goering Division and SS troops, the 168th fought through the mountains, gaining ground north of San Angelo and San Vittore. They lost 400 men and inflicted 1200 enemy casualties in wresting Mount Pantana, before Cassino, from the enemy in a seven-day battle. It was the first regiment to hold a bridgehead on the north bank of

Local Officers To Attend FBI Meeting

Chief of Police, Maurice Beam and Night Officer, F. U. Mauney plan to attend the FBI Law Enforcement Conference to be held in Charlotte on Wednesday October 18th at 2 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium.

Featuring a fast-moving demonstration of Justice and defensive tactics in general, a series of conferences for law enforcement officers sponsored by the FBI will be held in both North and South Carolina during October and November.

Edward Scheidt, special agent in charge of the Charlotte FBI office has announced the complete schedule of conferences. The Charlotte conference will be held at the Chamber of Commerce auditorium on October 18 at 2 o'clock.

J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the FBI, has designated Special Agent W. G. Kimbrough of the FBI office at Miami to participate in the conferences. Special Agent Kimbrough, a law enforcement officer of wide experience and a graduate of the FBI National Academy in Washington, D. C., is an expert in the art of defensive tactics and one of the instructors on Director Hoover's staff. Using another agent as his subject, he will demonstrate a number of ways which police officers might use to protect themselves if attacked by larger or armed criminals.

In addition Mr. Scheidt indicated that Special Agent Roy L. Morgan, assigned to the Charlotte FBI office, will discuss the subject, "Arrests, Searches and Seizures." Part of his lecture will consist of an exhibition and explanation of the various restraining devices used by the FBI.

Attendance at the conference is restricted to duly authorized law enforcement officers and there will be an open forum discussion of mutual problems by the officers present. Mr. Scheidt will act as chairman at each conference.

The FBI head indicated that through the courtesy of the local law enforcement authorities barbecue would be served to the officers at Clinton, S. C., and at Asheville, N. C. The officers attending the conference at Canton, N. C. and Elkin will be treated to luncheon, while those at the Greenville, S. C. meeting will be feted at a special dinner. Mr. Scheidt expressed the hope that all law enforcement officers in the vicinity of the cities at which the conferences will be held would plan to attend the most convenient meeting.

the Rapido River, captured Cairo, Mount Trochio and Cervano in a surprise maneuver and, taking Hills 56 and 213, became one of the first Fifth Army units to penetrate the Gustav Line. The regiment debarked on the beachhead around Anzio March 19, and its commander, Colonel Hine, won the Silver Star for gallantry in action for having personally led the bitter hand-to-hand fight in which the 168th took Lannuvio to remove one of the last major obstacles before Rome.

Colonel Hines, in a jeep, was the first American in Civitavecchia, where his regiment captured two big "Anzio Express" railroad guns that had so often made their stay on the Anzio beachhead an unpleasant one. When relieved July 28 for a brief rest, a few days after reaching the Arno River, the 168th had been in combat 291 days.

Dillard Named State Mgr. And Treas.

Selection of E. S. Dillard of Charlotte as State Manager and Treasurer of the Constitutional Democrats of North Carolina is announced, effective at once, marking the active beginning of "an aggressive state-wide educational campaign to defeat the New Deal and its philosophy of government."

Simultaneously the appointments of Dr. Malcolm McDermott of Durham as State Advisory Director; J. E. Baker of Burlington as State Director of Finance, and L. D. Nuchols of Charlotte as Assistant State manager were made public.

An organization, active and determined to bring out the maximum support of the movement at the polls Tuesday, November 7 will be formed in each of the 100 counties of the state in the very early future according to a spokesman.

The plans approved by the State Executive Committee for delivery of "educational and principle-inspired addresses at strategic points throughout the state." Mediums for disseminating of the basic message of the Constitutional Democrats of N. Carolina will be used in thorough fashion in order that the people may be fully informed "of the crucial and historic issues which clamor for safe and worthy solution in this most momentous juncture in the life of the State and the nation," the Committee says.

Heartened by what is termed "solid and enthusiastic pledged support from previously exerted efforts in behalf of this history-making movement," leaders are appealing "to men and women of like opinions, in every walk of life, to join in this crusade." These people, an official added, are asked to make full use of the

NEWS IN THE WORLD OF RELIGION By W. W. REID "Father, Thy Will be done through me" This seven-word prayer, offered morning, noon, and night; an effort to try to live the prayer in daily life; and the securing of seven other people to do likewise; this is the essence of the so-called "Cape Cod Plan" of personal evangelism which has found wide support among Protestant laymen and has the approval of leading Protestant clergymen throughout the country. The "Plan" originated a couple of years ago with Walter Dwyer, a layman of W. Dennis, Mass. Without any funds or any organization, the idea has swept across the country, and has had the support of many newspapers. Now it has been taken up by lay groups in Canada; and groups of Catholics and Jews are using it also. "The prayer is offered as a complete program," says Mr. Dwyer, "but merely in the nature of turning

Mr. Dillard expressed the belief that "an intensive campaign in North Carolina will prove very helpful not only in giving the people of this state an opportunity to vote for convictions instead of seeming expediency, but also to assure capture of the electoral vote for the Dewey-Bricker ticket in such pivotal states, for instance, as Pennsylvania, New York and West Virginia, thus assuring a larger majority for the Constitutional Government ticket in the electoral college and the popular voting. Already the North Carolina campaign is having a definitely helpful effect in such states. Upon completion of enlargement of the State Executive Committee the personnel of this Committee will be men and women "representing every phase of worthy citizenship, in all occupations, and interests, in North Carolina" according to the statement made public.

"We have no quarrel with or criticism of the State Democratic ticket," said Mr. Dillard; "in fact it is our definite intention to support it in the forthcoming election. We do earnestly and sincerely appeal to all our citizens to join us in this conscience based and spontaneous movement to defeat the forces arrayed against the best interests of our communities, our state and our nation.

In short, we appeal for the whole-hearted and practical support of all who favor constitutional government as opposed to the group government from which 130,000,000 Americans now suffer so severely. The recently published Democratic Declaration of Independence forms a safe foundation on which to carry forward successfully this mighty movement."

on the switch of our individual radios; how we amplify it, and what God's will is for each of us is a matter of personal search and application."

The hobby of Dillman S. Bullock, as a small boy in rural Michigan, was collecting birds, birds' nests, birds' eggs, and many insects—much to the disarray of his home and the annoyance of other members of the family. Today, as Dr. Bullock president of the Institute El Verge, in Angol, Chile, for the training of Christian farmers under the mission of the Methodist Church, he is still the tireless "collector". The Institute's Museum houses the most interesting collection of items of pre-Araucanian civilization in all that part of Chile, besides specimens of 176 birds (96 of which were found on the farm), and a collection of insects that has the praise of representatives of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Dr. Bullock's discoveries of the habits and controls of insect pests have had great value to farmers of both the southern and northern American continents.
