Young Woman's S. S. Class Meets

The Young Woman's Sunday School Class of St. John's Lutheran Church held its regular monthly meeting on Monday night at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Fred K. Houser with Mrs. Houser and Mrs. Howard W. Allran as joint hostesses.

Mrs. Allran introduced Mrs. T. A. Carter, who spoke on "Famous Women of the Bible," discussing the characters of the old Testament, namely: Eve, the mother of mankind, Sara, Rebekah, Rachel, Leah, Deborah, Jezebel, Ruth and Ester.

The devotionals were conducted by Mrs. Allran and were inspiring and helpful. Following the devotional period the roll was called and minutes of last meeting read and approved.

A short business session was held in charge of Mrs. Ben Dellinger.

During the social hour the hostess served refreshments in which the Halloween motif was carried out to the following: Mesdames D. R. Mauney, W. G. Cobb, Roy Houser, Rex Eaker, Perry London, Druey London, W. B. Rhyne, Dewey F. Beam, Hazel Williams, Judson Black, Cecil Eaker, Kern Eaker, Ben Dellinger, Howard W. Allran and Fred K. Houser.

Woman's Club Met Tuesday

The Cherryville Woman's Club met on Tuesday afternoon, October 24th, at the NuWay Club house. After opening, by singing "America," the devotion was given by Rev. E. S. Elliott, of the First Baptist church, who gave a very inspiring lesson from Romans, around the theme, "Be not overcome with evil, but overcome evil with good."

The subject of the program was "Christian Education." The program chairman, Mrs. Ralph Hoyle gave a most interesting introduction, in which she presented some very interesting statistics on public education. Following this introduction Rev. Elliott introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. R. K. Benfield, of the First Baptist Church of Hickory.

Rev. Benfield's talk on "The Value of a Christian Education" was very interesting and challenging. He used as an example of the value of Christian education the life of Charles Jones Soong, the North Carolina-educated, Christian Chinese, father of Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, and four other fine Christian daughters, whose lives have so influenced Chinese affairs.

Generalissimo and Madame Chiang Kai-Shek were given as examples in quoting one who had been a guest in their home, of real Christians, due to the Christian education of Charles Soong in America, through the kindness of a ship Captain, and other friends, who gave the Chinese boy a chance at an Education, in a Christian College.

Mrs. Elliott McDowell, of the program committee, thanked the speaker for coming.

A short business session followed the program at which time committee reports were read; it was voted to pay some school fees for children unable to pay them; plans for sales of Christmas seals for the tubercular fund were discussed; and two new members, Miss Esther Moon and Mrs. Shelby Salisbury were welcomed.

Mrs. H. H. Allen, chairman, and her committee, served delicious refreshments, with a Halloween motif.

Circle No. 2 Met Monday Night

Circle No. 2 of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church held its regular monthly meeting on Monday night, October 23rd, at the home of Mrs. W. T. Robinson, with Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Grier Beam as joint hostesses.

Mrs. Russell Boggs, leader, had charge and gave the program. An interesting article on the life of Paul was given by Mrs. Boggs and Mrs. Dewey Heafner led in Prayer.

Mrs. Hugh Harrelson had charge of the business meeting, called the roll and collected the dues.

During the social hour the hostesses served a delicious salad course with sweets and Russian tea.

Members present were: Mesdames Kenneth Mayhue, Robert Carpenter, T. A. Carter, Russell Boggs, Hugh Harrelson, Robert Harrelson, Robert H. Beam, Dewey Heafner, Troy C. Homesley, Bob Rhea, John Beach, Rupert Camp, Grier Beam and W. T. Robinson. Misses Luney Houser and Lawton Hoyle.

The November meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Carpenter.

Teachers Met Monday Evening

The teachers of the Cherryville Schools, Monday, October 16th, enjoyed a fish fry at Mr. Ollie Moore's place on the banks of the Broad River. The group met at six o'clock and in a short time arrived, to the scent of frying fish and "hush-puppies," the latter being a favorite food of Mr. Carson and Mr. Sharpe.

The menu for the night seemed to be a favorite with everyone. It consisted of fish, potatoes, cole slaw, tomatoes, kraut, pickles, hush-puppies and coffee.

After this delicious meal the party seemed reluctant to leave the crackling fire from the furnace, as a crisp wind was blowing from the river. Finally the teachers boarded the bus and returned to Cherryville. All in all, it was a most enjoyable outing.

Junior 4-H Club Met Tuesday, 24th

Final Call For Registration Of Voters

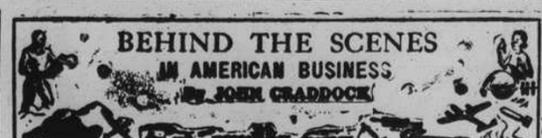

A final call for registration of all eligible voters has been issued here by William B. Umstead, the Chairman of the Democratic State Executive committee.

Calling attention to the fact that Saturday, October 28, is the final day for registration in order to vote in the General Election in November, Mr. Umstead said there were large numbers of new residents in many precincts of the state who had not placed their names on the registration books.

Many have moved into communities in recent months, or during the war period, and still have the right to vote in North Carolina provided they either have themselves properly recorded on the books of their new residences or apply for absentee ballots to vote in the precincts from which they moved, in their transfer to the new place is not permanent.

In addition, he mentioned that a large number of young citizens have become of age in the past few years, especially among the women, and these have not registered in thousands of cases. He urges them to assume their responsibilities as citizens of North Carolina by taking part in the general election. Saturday of this week will be the last opportunity to register.

Turning to a discussion of the absentee ballot, the state democratic chairman pointed out that persons working in war plants or other places and temporarily absent from their homes, may vote as usual if they will apply to the county boards of election for absentee ballots. They should file these applications at once with their home county boards, so that the affidavit of absence and the ballot itself may be completed and returned to the county board before election day.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—"For sale or lease: 973 government-owned factory and factory sites in 41 states."

As a starter in reckoning with this aspect of the surplus disposal problem, the Defense Plant Corporation has mailed to all banks and chambers of commerce a pamphlet describing details of these properties. They range in size from a 300-square foot factory site to a plant covering 5,145,800 square feet.

Opinion in business circles is that there will be plenty of takers for the smaller factories because of the deep-rooted urge of the average American to go into business for himself. The larger plants may have to be partitioned into smaller units capable of housing several manufacturers under one roof.

The current demand for business, although mostly in the retailing field, is somewhat encouraging to the government's chances of moving these properties, when they are no longer needed for war production. One business broker reports he has clients ready to buy several hundred machine shops. On the other hand, he believes he could sell twice as many taverns, if available.

Another broker says inquiries are growing for bowling alleys, delicatessens, groceries, markets, drug stores and garages, filling stations and neighborhood variety stores. Many women workers in war plants who hope to gain post-war livelihood in shops of their own, today are studying at schools of dress designing and beauty culture.

TRAVEL AFTER V-E—The belief prevails in some quarters that defeat of Germany will bring about an immediate change in wartime travel restrictions. That there is no basis for this theory is made clear by E. P. Burke, passenger traffic manager of the Pullman company, after a study of the nation's military needs.

Civilians need not expect an overnight increase in train accommodations, nor are Pullman accommodations likely to be as easily obtained as in 1941, says Burke.

America still faces bitter conflict in the Pacific he points out, and military forces must be transferred to the west coast. In addition, as troops are brought back from Europe, they must be transported from ports of debarkation to army camps and eventually to points of demobilization and their homes. There will be a duplication of the huge movement to training camps and ports of embarkation during the last three years, Burke says.

FUTURISTIC CARS—For several years now many automobile manufacturers have been telling the American public that they will resume production with an automobile that is basically the 1942 model. But this week it developed that at least one automobile company is planning a new car from the ground up. Upsetting the industry's apocryphal was Joseph W. Frazer, new chairman of Graham-Paige Motors corporation, who announced that his company will build an automobile which will depart from the conventional design and utilize plastics, light metals and other recent developments.

"We may not have the first car on the market in the postwar period," said Frazer, "but we do plan to have the first real postwar automobile. The prospective design for our new model is crystallizing and we expect to be as modern as tomorrow. Our immediate objective is not to build a 'used car'."

THINGS TO COME—Removal of unwanted tastes and dark color from soybean products by a new process, involving the use of grain alcohol for extracting the oil of soybeans. Golf balls made of synthetic rubber. Machine for plucking chickens and turkeys by means of rubber fingers, each of which is equipped with a suction cup.

SUB-CONTRACTING LOCOMOTIVES—War production has done much to bring small and large business closer together. Large manufacturers have learned how smaller firms can help to eliminate production bottlenecks and reduce costs in mass production. Small manufacturers have learned a lot about the production techniques and requirements of big companies. The current program of building work-type locomotives for the government by Baldwin Locomotive works is an example. The locomotive company, in what it describes as a new page in its production history, is letting out orders for parts of the engines to a large number of sub-contractors.

In some outstanding cases, reports Ralph Kelly, president, the sub-contractors are making radical departure from products previously manufactured. A refrigerator parts plant is making ashpans and a Tennessee hand-wrought iron work plant is successfully manufacturing locomotive cabs.

BITS O' BUSINESS—Explaining why it's difficult to have a new telephone installed, Western Electric reports that one battle-ship needs as many telephones as a city of 10,000. More persons are training for war industries this year than in 1943. The peak enrollment in training courses was 4,800,000 in 1943. A recent

L. A. Wolfe, Bessemer City, on his farm located along Dallas-Bessemer City Highway, is planning to harvest approximately five acres of sericea lespedeza for seed. These areas are in meadow strips and water ways carrying terrace waters and are being used for hay every year. Approximately eight acres of the rough and pulled upland were planted to kudzu several years ago and is now becoming well established. This area has been diked in the spring after an application of acid phosphate and is being used for temporary grazing during dry spells and for late fall grazing.

J. F. Meek, R-3, Gastonia, located in the Union Church section believes in the importance of pasture for livestock on a paying basis. He is making plans to lime every acre as he can and applies acid phosphate every spring. A three-acre field of Italian ryegrass is used for winter and early spring grazing. Mr. Meek plans to clean up some additional land this winter for pasture and the wood will be used for pulpwood which is also urgently needed for the war effort.

Terrace lines were staked this past week, to be built by the county units and by farm tractors and equipment, on the following farms: W. J. Swift and R. S. Gardner, Gastonia; I. C. Dameron, R-1 Bessemer City; R. Suggs and C. E. Honeycutt, R-3, Gastonia; and, E. G. Petty, Bowling Green, S. C.

I. C. Dameron, R-1, Bessemer City, is establishing an approximately three-acre draw into a meadow strip to carry terrace water from the fields. The strip was graded by the county unit and will be seeded in sericea lespedeza. Sericea makes an ideal crop to hold the land and also an excellent hay crop.

survey by National Cash Register company disclosed that four out of every five cash registers in use are more than ten years old, and one out of every three has been in service over 20 years
