3,000,000 TONS OF NITRATE SODA SHIPPED FROM CHILE

"By June 30, 1945, nearly 3,000,000 tons of natural nitrate of soda will have been shipped from Chile to the United States for agricultural use during the three and one-half years of war," according to a report published today by the Chilean Nitrate sales Corporation.

"The amount in any one year has varied with the ships available states J. A. Woods, president of the corporation. "In 1942-43 shipments amounted to a million tons, in 1943-44 to 587,000 tons, and in 1944-45 the schedule calls for 850,000 tons. Although military requirements for shipping have actually increased, this schedule is being fulfilled.

There has been no increase in profit to the industry during this war period. In fact, profits have declined. The price today is a third less than it was in 1922, the first normal year after the fluctuations of World War I.

The report points out that the domestic nitrogen capacity of the United States has doubled during construction of nine government-owned ammonia plants designed originally for munitions. It is stated, however, that with a market position established here for over a hundred years, and with new economies in nitrate production, the Chilean nitrate industry is prepared to maintain its position in the American market against all competitors unless one of the competitors is the United States government itself.

If the United States government should decide to use its plants to make fertilizer nitrogen in competition with its own people and the People of Chile, it can ruin both the American nitrogen producer and the producer of Chilean nitrate," the report concludes.

"If this government competition is removed the industry looks forward to continuing progress on a stable basis, with a better market in Chile for products of the United States."

Last year Robeson county of cotton than did Cleveland produced about 3,000 more bales county, the first time since 1940.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—All eyes are on San Francisco. Our government leaders consider the conference a major test of whether the peace-seeking nations of the world will actually be able to set up the framework for a lasting peace—whether selfishness and petty disagreements can be put aside in the hope of building a working plan for a permanent world security.

Many of the leaders of the world stopped in Washington on their way to San Francisco to confer with President Truman and cabinet members. All indicated a fervent desire for closer cooperation between nations and all were hopeful that world-wide plan would be created for erasing war from the earth.

While in Washington—and now in San Francisco—these delegates from all corners of the world are following with close interest the progress of a bill in the house of representatives to extend and expand our reciprocal trade agreements, which includes the lowering of tariffs to stimulate international trade. This bill, which is based on a program outlined by former Secretary of State Hull, is considered by many government leaders to be the first real test of whether or not our nation will go back toward isolationism after the war, so far as economic dealings are concerned.

The history of the Hull reciprocal trade agreements program is one of bitter party rivalry. When it first came up in 1934 it was supported by the majority of Democrats, but only two of the Republicans in the House approved it. Since then it has been tested about every three years, but even in 1940 it was supported by only five Republicans.

Now with the war in Europe nearing an end, and with further expansion of this program being sought, we will learn whether tariffs will continue to be a major bone of contention between the two parties or whether the Republicans have decided permanently to give in to the Democratic viewpoint on this issue.

President Truman has made it clear, in conference with leaders of both houses of congress, that he will, at least for the time being, try to follow in President Roosevelt's footsteps and support the measures Mr. Roosevelt sought. He will keep the same men working with him and will make detailed studies of the programs on which President Roosevelt was working at the time of his death.

But there is no question that President Truman will work more closely with congress than did Mr. Roosevelt and that he will have more personal cooperation from the members of congress, particularly from members of the senate—the body to which he belonged for 10 years. It was significant that, among the visitors to the White House during the first week of Mr. Truman's administration was Senator Robert Taft who had not been in the White House since Hoover was president. Senator Taft visited President Truman with a group of leading Republicans, and then went back the next day.

A resolution passed by a consensus. They said: "This conference expresses its confidence in the new President Harry S. Truman, who has assumed the great responsibilities of the office to which he has been called, and pledges to him its genuine and sympathetic cooperation in bringing the present war to a prompt and victorious conclusion, in establishing a just, honorable and permanent peace and in so readjusting the economic processes incident to the post-war period as to bring our nation and to the world the greatest possible happiness and prosperity."

"Flying Parson" Stationed Here

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—A much publicized but publicity-shy "Gliding Parson," Lt. Col. George L. Riddle, of Cherryville, N. C., today had begun his duties in the chaplain branch of the AG and SF Relistribution Station.

D-Day landings in Normandy and in Holland brought him much newspaper fame and two bronze star medals to add to a Presidential Unit citation given the 82nd Airborne Division, the Purple Heart, four battle stars, the European - African-Middle Eastern campaign ribbon, and two stars in his glider wings.

During the Holland landing the 35-year-old was co-pilot of his glider. "I noticed the pilot was a bit jumpy and as we started to get the ship down the pilot lost his head. The next thing I remember I was hanging from the overturned glider with a huge gash next to my eye."

He refused to be evacuated, and returned to duty before he was fully recovered. He was born in Clover, S. C., graduated from the Clover high school and from Presbyterian College, Clinton, S. C. He received the Bachelor of Divinity de-

"CHERRIES" LICK LENOIR, 12-2

Last Friday afternoon, the Cherryville "Cherries" beat Lenoir 12-2 at Lenoir. This proved to be a good game as the Cherries began to hit. Quinn took highest honors by getting 4 hits out of 5. Other players showing up in the game were "Speed" Henkel, receiving three hits out of five. Dellinger receiving three for five, McGinnis and Carrol Wright both receiving two out of 8 and Black and Hager both receiving one out of four.

Dellinger again took the mound for the Cherries and brought in another victory over Lenoir. The Cherries beat Lenoir earlier in the season. The Cherries received fifteen hits, while Dellinger kept Lenoir down to three. Again Dellinger struck out 12 men to his credit which shows the conference he is an outstanding pitcher.

"Cherries" Take One From Hickory

The Cherryville "Cherries" overruled by Hickory last Tuesday afternoon for a return engagement against the Hickory lads. Cherryville took the game from Hickory by 5-0. Dellinger was on the mound again for Cherryville and as usual did a splendid job pitching as he allowed only two hits for Hickory while the Cherries received six to their credit. Dellinger struck out seven men.

Dellinger was the outstanding star for the Cherries. In this game he received three hits out of five. Black received one for five, while Carol Wright and McGinnis received one for four. Dellinger has shown he not only can pitch but also can hit. Good work Dellinger, keep it up.

"Cherries" To Play Caroleen Today

The Cherryville Cherries will play Caroleen this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the Caroleen field. This is a return engagement. Caroleen took Cherryville earlier in the season, but the Cherries are determined to bring in another Victory. Coach Quinn has the Cherries in perfect condition for this game and a good game is expected.

"Cherries" To Play Lincolnton Here Fri.

Play Shelby Here Tuesday Afternoon.

The Cherryville Cherries will have their next home game here Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock on the local field with Lincolnton. On Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock they will play the "Lions" for their first game of the conference. The Cherries are eager to encounter the Lions as they are ready for them and determined to play a good game.

Tuesday afternoon will be the high spot of the season as Shelby will come down for a game with the Cherryville lads. Shelby defeated the Cherries earlier in the season and the Cherries will be out for revenge. To make a good team, it takes good backing. Come out and support the local boys in their next home game, as they will need your presence to bring in victory for them.

gree from Columbia Seminary, Decatur, Ga.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—"Only at the termination of the Holland campaign did the spirit which had sustained him succumb to his body's needs," reads the citation accompanying the Bronze Star Medals awarded to the "jumping" Parson," Chaplain (Lt. Col.) George L. Riddle of Cherryville, North Carolina.

This only partly describes the feats of the former minister of the Cherryville Presbyterian Church. He served 20 months in the European and Mediterranean war zones as division chaplain of the famed 82nd Airborne Division and was with the organization when it spearheaded the invasions of Sicily, Italy, France and Holland.

His wife, Mrs. Alice F. Riddle, and 6-year-old daughter live at 53 Bethel Street, Clover, S. C.

CARD OF THANKS

Acknowledging with grateful appreciation your very kind and thoughtful expression of sympathy at the death of our dear husband and father, Mr. Charles L. Murphy. We also deeply appreciate the beautiful floral tributes. MRS. CHARLES L. MURPHY AND FAMILY

SOIL CONSERVATION

M. E. Watkins located in the Smyre Mill section, last fall had about five acres of toreda beans sowed and with a fair crop of seed. He disked the beans and sowed the land in oats. Last week the beans were coming up with an excellent stand and are about six to eight inches high, along with the oats. He plans to cut both for an early hay crop.

Kenneth Friday, R-1 Dallas, in the Willis School section sowed a field border a few days ago with a combination of sericea lespedeza and bicolor, furnished by the State Wildlife Farm Game program, in cooperation with the Soil Conservation District. These borders not only stop erosion at the edge of the field but also furnish excellent feed and cover sites for game birds on the farm.

The Harden Manufacturing Co. Hardin, has shipped six carloads of pulpwood, as a result of cutting rough and limby trees from the woodland on the farm. The company will spot plant the open areas with loblolly pines next winter to give the woodland a complete stocking of desirable timber species and to keep the land producing an income.

Terrace lines were staked recently on the following farms: Aaron Stroupe and B. R. Sellers, RFD Cherryville; B. F. Houser, Dallas; J. N. Neely, R. L. Ferguson, R-1, Clover; Pink Sellers and D. A. Kiser, RFD, Bessemer City, N. C.

MORE ABOUT J. BEN DELLINGER

merly Miss Vida Aderholdt, to whom he married on April 2, 1918. His mother, Mrs. J. Dellinger, four sons, T/Sgt. John Bennett Dellinger, Jr., with the Army Air Corps, stationed at Hendrick Field, Fla.; T/Sgt. Dellinger has recently returned from the Pacific Theatre of War after completing the required number of Combat missions. Lt. (jg) Blaine A. Dellinger, in the Navy Air Corps, stationed at Corpus Christi, Texas; Lt. Carol Dellinger with the Army Air Corps, stationed at Romulus, Michigan, and James Dellinger at home. Also surviving are the following brothers and sisters, Mrs. Carl A. Rudisill, and Mrs. J. Garland Sherrill, Cherryville; Mrs. Cone Mauney, Bessemer City; Otto Dellinger and Mrs. Herbert Branton of Shelby; Graham Dellinger, Pamaria, S. C.; and Dewey Dellinger of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

The seating capacity of the church was overflowing long before the service by friends who had come to pay their last respect to one whose friendship was enduring and loyalty was unquestionable. The beautiful floral tributes were among the largest, if not the largest and most beautiful ever seen in Cherryville.

Ben, will not only be missed in his home where he was a devoted husband and father, but he will be missed in the every day walk of life by both the rich and poor.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help: 1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build resistance for the "times" to come. 2 Started 3 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes. Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.
