It is not known how long The News has been in its present location on E. Main street. The paper was located in its present home on July 1, 1913, when the late J. T. Perkins came to Lincoln as owner and publisher of The News and it has been here since that date and perhaps many years prior thereto. At one time it was the Lincoln Postoffice building when the late F. A. Barkley was postmaster and when the late Chas. A. Jonas was Lincoln postmaster.

Salk Vaccine Shots Cut Polio Toll In N. C. Among First and Second Grade Children

RALEIGH—Figures indicating Salk vaccine shots reduced incidence of polio among first and second graders who were vaccinated last spring were released Thursday by the State Board of Health. Dr. Fred Poard, head of the board's epidemiology division said "tentative evaluation" shows that incidence of polio among the 196,500 first and second graders receiving the shots was more than 30 per cent than among other children in the 5 to 9 age group. "It looks very promising," he commented as he pointed out the recommended three shots prior to the start of school a few weeks ago.

Dr. Roy Norton, state health officer, who has been a staunch advocate of the vaccine, said he felt everyone should avail himself of the chance to receive the vaccine when the turn of his age group arrives. He said he feels that when the entire population is vaccinated "we will have polio more under control."

But it's still too early, he said to fully evaluate the effect of the shots given the first and second graders. Incidence of polio was much less this year than last, and "we can't account for all the reduction" as resulting from the vaccine even if it had been 100 per cent effective, he stated.

Dr. Poard said that 225,000 doses of vaccine recently arrived in the state had been released to private drug outlets for use by the medical profession on children in the 5-9 age group who have not yet been vaccinated. He said the board of health now has 57,000 doses on hand and will allocate it to county boards of health for use on the 5-9 age group under the federal vaccination program.

LEGAL NOTICES

In co-operation with the Gaston County Health Department, the governing body of the Town of Cherryville has adopted a Garbage Ordinance to go into effect in 30 days from this date of October 1, 1955. GARDEN TIME

By ROBERT SCHMIDT

The time is at hand when we may expect light frost almost any night after the weather cools off. The first frosts usually occur in the low spots because the cold air, being heavier than warm air, will settle there. Very often after the first frost nips fall flowers and tender vegetables there is a period of two to three weeks before another frost occurs. Therefore it is desirable to do everything possible to prevent damage by these early light frosts and so prolong our season. It is well to keep the following facts in mind: light frosts will not occur on cloudy nights; frosts will not occur if a breeze is stirring the air; if your garden is so located that the cold air can move off to lower areas, it will probably escape damage from light frosts; if your garden is low and is surrounded by trees and shrubs so that the cold air cannot move out, you will probably have severe damage from the first frosts. How can we prevent frost damage? That is not easy for the average gardener. The commercial fruit and flower grower may use sprinkler irrigation, oil heaters or large fans to do the job but these are impracticable for the home gardener. In California, I saw large propeller fans used to stir up the air to prevent frost damage. In Minnesota I saw dahlias grow under a cheesecloth cover in order to protect from early frost and prolong the blooming season. These methods are effective but expensive. On a frosty morning we often see choice chrysanthemums, dahlias and tomatoes covered with spots or paper. Usually these covers are simply thrown over the plants. This is poor protection because the cover is in contact with the plant or flower. Wherever the cloth or paper touches the plant or flower, frost damage will occur right through the cover. To be effective the cover must be held off of the plant by a framework or by stakes. Turning the sprinkler on early in the morning when a light frost occurs will sometimes prevent or lessen the damage but not always. I have also found that since the great increase in automobile traffic on the street along one side of my garden, my dahlias are seldom damaged by the first light frosts as they used to be a few years ago. It pays to listen to radio weather reports especially for early frost predictions.

Pumpkin Pie Just Goes With A Harvest Season

Looking for a pumpkin pie to serve this fall that has a melt-in-your-mouth quality? Then look no further. This recipe offered by Virginia Wilson, State College extension specialist in foods and nutrition, is a pumpkin pie that's bound to please everybody. Pumpkin Pie 1-2 cups cooked pumpkin 2/3 cups brown or white sugar 1 teaspoon cinnamon 1/2 teaspoon ginger 1 teaspoon salt 2 eggs 2 cups milk Cook pumpkin and put it through a sieve. Add remaining ingredients in order listed. Turn mixture into a crust-lined pan and bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees for about 15 minutes. Then lower the oven temperature to about 250 degrees and continue the baking about 40 minutes longer. The pie is done when the filling is done—when a knife inserted in the center will come out clean and the crust is a golden brown. Do not let the pie filling boil.

SPOT REMOVAL FROM FURNITURE

Some white spots on furniture can be removed. Try the following ways—if one material doesn't work try the next one. Rub (several times) the spot with a good liquid wax or sewing machine oil, softened paste wax, lard, or salad oil. It may be necessary to repeat the process several times before the spot is removed. Remove all excess oil and wax with furniture. TESTED HINTS — Sweetened whipped cream with strained honey instead of sugar. It adds a wonderful flavor and keeps the cream whipped and firm longer. Before squeezing lemons heat them by dropping into hot water for a few minutes. They will yield much more juice. Your meat loaf is not so likely to stick to the bottom of the baking dish if you first lay strips of bacon in the pan. The bacon adds to the flavor, too. FIRST AID — Every kitchen should be equipped with a good first aid kit. Every mother should be prepared to administer an antidote for poisons, know the latest methods of artificial respiration, be able to treat for shock or cleanse a wound. Every mother owes this to her children.

HOYLES' CORNER THE WORKING MAN

Did you ever see a working man working. Or a loafer sitting around. Or a loafer like being at the ball park. With a pitcher on the mound. The working man he always works. The loafer he always does. Thats what the batter always does. When the umpire sits him down, Now the loafer he keeps busy, too. Busy with his loafing around. Sometimes you see holes in his britches. They're made from sitting around. You just can't figure some things out. You might as well just quit. For if you laugh at holes in his britches. Now that loafer will take a fit. I guess I might as well quit trying. To get this thing to rhyme. For the truth about the whole business. Is I'm just wasting my time. But I've got nothing else to do. It's raining here this morn. To me it really is as much fun, As knocking off a muley cows horn. —Charlie Hoyle
