Dr. Vestal Gets Ten Years.

Greensboro, 23.—The result of the Vestal murder trial, when Dr. W. L. Vestal of High Point was indicted for murder in performing a criminal operation upon a young woman who died from the effects of it, came to a sudden ending this morning in the Guilford superior court.

When court opened the solicitor accepted a plea of manslaughter tendered by the council for the defendant and Dr. Vestal was sentenced by Judge Lyon to 10 years hard labor in the State penitentiary.

In pronouncing the sentence the judge remarked that it was the saddest case he had ever heard, but that he trusted the sentence would be an example to others who may try to follow Dr. Vestal's work. It was an awful crime and the end of justice must be met, yet he hoped that the honorable profession of medicine would not be held to account for the misdeeds of one man amidst the whole.

The case of Mrs. Vestal was dismissed.

The doctor seemed to realize the fate that awaited him as he came into the court room today, and as the sentence was pronounced he did not seem to be disturbed in the least, but sat quietly chewing a toothpick.

CHAVEZ CROSSES THE ALPS.

Domodossola, Italy, Sept. 23.—The great feat of crossing the snow-capped Alpine barrier between Switzerland and Italy in a heavier-than-air machine was accomplished today by George Chavez, the young Peruvian aviator.

The plucky hero of the exploit, however, lies in the Domodossola hospital badly injured as the result of an accident that occurred just as he had completed the most arduous and nerve-racking portion of a task he had set out to accomplish—a flight from Brig, in Switzerland, across the Alps to Milan, in Italy, in all a distance of about 72 miles.

Both his legs are broken, his left thigh is fractured and his body is badly contused, but his physicians are of the opinion that these injuries will not prove fatal. The accident occurred as Chavez was endeavoring to make a landing here. The Alps had been crossed successfully and the aviator was descending with the power of his machine cut off. When about 30 feet above the ground a sudden gust of wind seemed to catch the monoplane, which turned over and fell. When the crowds that had been watching the descent ran up they found Chavez lying bleeding and unconscious beneath the twisted wreckage. Willing hands lifted the aviator from the ground and bore him to the hospital.

Fifty miles away and over country that has none of the hazards of the Alps lay Milan, the goal Chavez was seeking in an effort to win the $20,000 prize offered by the Italian Aviation Society.

The weather at Brig was clear and bright when Chavez made his start. Leaving the ground with his motor running at full speed he rose in sweeping circles until he had reached an altitude sufficient for him to clear the Resti shoulder to the southeastward of Brig. This obstacle having been overcome, the Peruvian aviator headed his monoplane straight for the snow-capped crags of the Fletchorn. Constantly ascending, Chavez reached the Simpson Kull, where at an altitude estimated at 7,200 feet he turned his machine south over the terrifying Simplon pass, with the Kaltwasser glacier at his left and the frozen peak of the Hubschorn at his right.

After crossing the divide, instead of taking a short cut over the Monchers pass, a huge edged glacier, Chavez turned to the towering white mountain head of Monte Leone, which rises to a height of 16,646 feet and passes down above the gondo gorge, a deep gulf between sheer walls, until he reached the open valley of Vedro and then descended easily toward Domodossola, which is 889 feet above sea level. It was here that the accident occurred.

The 25 miles between Brig and Domodossola, which it took the armies of Napoleon a fortnight to negotiate, Chavez accomplished by the route of the eagle is exactly 40 minutes. From the high point at Monsera he descended 7,000 feet in 13 minutes, his machine gaining in momentum as it flew over the jumble of lower peaks, gullies and hills beyond until the speed was terrific as it approached the aerodrome here. This doubtless caused the accident which turned the cheers of admiration of the waiting crowd into cries of horror as the machine came hurtling to the ground just as it seemed that Chavez was about to alight in safety.

After treatment in the hospital Chavez regained consciousness. He suffered terribly from his hurts. The generally accepted opinion is that the accident was due to a slight shift in the rudder while the machine was going at a high rate of speed.

Harry Weymann, the American aviator, who made two unsuccessful attempts in the Brig-Milan race today, sent a telegram of sympathy to Chavez. Much sympathy is expressed here for Weymann, who made a last and desperate effort to win the race after hearing that Chavez had met with an accident. He managed to climb over the Resti shoulder, but finding that the aeroplane was incapable of flying higher he returned to Brig and alighted.

The Lash of a Fleed would have been about as welcome to A. Cooper of Oswego, N. Y., as a merciless lung-racking cough that defied all remedies for years. "It was most troublesome at night," he writes, "nothing helped me till I used Dr. King's New Discovery which cured me completely. I never cough at night now." Millions know its matchless merits for stubborn colds, obstinate coughs, sore lungs, grippe, asthma, hemorrhage, croup, whooping cough, or hayfever. It relieves quickly and never fails to satisfy. A trial convinces. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. It's positively guaranteed by Miller-White Co. and Geo. C. Goodman & Co.

MONUMENT DAY FOR CONFEDERATE WOMEN.

A day in the Fall, to be selected later, will be set apart to enable every male resident of this State, men and boys, to contribute, much or little, as the ability may allow or their hearts dictate, to the erection of a State Monument to the Women of the Confederacy. This high duty has been too long delayed. Let the people by their generosity, and from the means these women made it possible for them to accumulate, make amends for such unfortunate delay, by the more liberal contribution. Let the year 1910 close with the surety that honor will be paid to these heroines. Let the world know that the men of the State appreciate these women's devotion to a cause they loved so well.

A most appropriate and handsome Souvenir Tag will be given, as an evidence that the donor has contributed to preserve the memories of a Womanhood of whom he is proud to whom he owes an eternal debt of gratitude. The good women, the charming girls and pretty misses, daughters and granddaughters of these women, who deem it a privilege to aid in honoring their mothers and grandmothers, will undertake the distribution of these Souvenir Tags. God save the mere man who fails to immediately surrender to their charm and to their presentation of his duty.

Even those who do not sympathize with the late Confederacy, living in this State under the present prosperity these women have made possible, will honor themselves in honoring a grand womanhood, whose noble devotion to what they loved entitles them to all respect. Their memories should be preserved for the emulation of all who strive to do their duty as their consciences dictate.

What the people of the State of the late Confederacy owe these women, not only for their inspiration to the soldiers, not only for their maintenance of the homes, not only for their loving care of the sick and of the graves of the dead, not only for their preservation of the memories of their heroes, but for their devotion, their fortitude, their aid since the death of the Confederacy, which animated and encouraged the men in their stupendous effort to rescue their State from the very slough of despondency and to rebuild its shattered fortunes: is all too well known and felt to make it necessary to urge their claims. Men! Boys! You know your duty. Do it! And show by your liberality that you fully appreciate all that these women have done for your State and for you.

Don't Break Down.
Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause breakdowns. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless, tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirklint, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50c at Miller-White Co., and Geo. C. Goodman & Co.

Snake in His Pocket.
Mr. Smith Ellison, a painter working on the new residence of Mr. H. G. Anderson, on River street, was frightened almost out of his wits the other day. While he was engaged in retouching some of the interior work, a small snake crawled out of a pocket in his overall, across the hand that held the brush, and finally, in the excitement that followed, wiggled through a crack and made good its escape. The incident occurred after noon hour. The night before Ellison had left his overalls in an outhouse, and the snake must have crawled into the pocket then to keep out of the cold. All day Mr. Ellison worked with the reptile in his pocket, knowing nothing about its presence there.—Anderson (S. C.) Mail.

It Saved His Leg.
"All though I'd lose my leg," writes J. A. Swenson, of Watertown, Wis. "Ten years of eczema, that 15 doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it, sound and well." Infalible for skin eruptions, eczema, salt rheum, boils, fever sores, burns, scalds, cuts and piles. 25c at Miller-White Co., and Geo. C. Goodman & Co.

Operation for Cleft Palate.
Shelby Aurora.
There have been a great many operations at the Shelby Hospital. And among them was Miss Belle Hamrick, daughter of Mr. Kelly Hamrick, operated on for cleft palate by Dr. Shoemaker last Saturday, September 10th. The operation was a marvelous success. The young lady is 18 years old and had never been able to speak any word distinctly. Soon after the operation and she had recovered from the anesthetic, she called her brother's name and quite distinctly for the first time in her life.

Cornwallis Letters Found.
Robert G., the 16-year-old son of R. P. McSwain, of Davie county, near Mocksville, while riding horseback, near Setzer's Hill, found a sealed bottle. He broke the bottle and found that it contained two letters written on January 13th, 1781. One of the letters was to Lord Cornwallis, who was then in command of the British forces, and the other to another dignitary. Robert sent the letters to a brother, who resides in Salisbury, and he in turn sent them to Washington. They were evidently lost or hidden by a British courier, and were never found until they were discovered by McSwain. They are interesting relics of Revolutionary days and will no doubt bring to the finder, should he desire to dispose of them, a handsome reward.

Maintained by the State for the Women of North Carolina. Four regular courses leading to Degrees. Special Courses for Teachers. Fall Session begins September 14, 1910. Those desiring to enter should apply as early as possible. For catalogue and other information address

THE OLD FOLKS.

The deepest of human longings is just to be wanted. This is why the world so often seems a lonely and unattractive place to old people, and why they so often pray to leave it. One by one their friends depart; and although they may be very lovable, because of lack of opportunity old people do not make many new friends. One cannot know unless he has lived with one of them how much they appreciate being told that they are loved and how necessary it is to repeat the little kindness that it is in one's power to confer on them.

The constant repetition of little attentions counts more to most old people than an isolated attention or gift that would to a younger person bulk very large. And this because the very aged person forgets from day to day and even from hour to hour what has been said and done for them. I know one old man who has four sons. One of these sons is a man whose hair is almost as white as his father's, but for twenty years he has never missed a week in which he did not send his father a letter. The father, I believe, while he retains a strong affection for all his sons, is particularly tender toward the son who remembers him in this simple fashion. Often the letter is not perhaps particularly interesting; often, indeed, it has to be hurriedly written. And no matter what comes or goes, the letter is always in the son's thoughts that week.

The other sons visit the father more frequently, coming long distances to do so; but though their visits are enjoyed and appreciated, they are sooner or later forgotten, while the weekly letter is an oft-recurring source of satisfaction and pleasure.—Exchange.

No More Gold Money.

The serious proposition of the Treasury Department to discontinue altogether the coinage of gold, is attracting attention in financial circles. The proposition, as stated by The New Orleans Picayune, is that instead of coinage into money, the bullion will be merely made into bars of convenient size for shipment and of standard fineness and certificates will be issued by the government against deposits of the bars as is now so generally done. The reasons assigned for the proposed abandonment of gold coinage is that the coins are not circulated in the first place, and secondly, that when they are shipped or handled they lose in value by abrasion. The main use of gold nowadays is as security for currency and for shipment abroad in settlement of balances. Bars will serve these purposes better than coin, and as weight is the determining factor in any case, nothing is to be gained by the use of coin, whereas on the other hand, there is sure to be some loss from coin abrasion to which bars properly packed for shipment are not exposed. The Picayune doubts whether the abandonment of gold coin would prove popular. Gold, it says, still circulates in some parts of the country, and in most other countries gold coins are in general use and notes of small denominations are not employed. It would, therefore, be rather revolutionary for the United States to stop coining gold, even though at the moment but little gold coin circulates.—Charlotte Chronicle.

STATE NEWS.

The Evangelical Lutheran Tennessee Synod will meet in its nineteenth annual convention in Emmanuel's church, Lincolnton, on Wednesday, October 5, 1910, at 10 o'clock.

The Southbound railroad will be operated as an independent road for some time, at least. It has not been definitely determined just yet whether the new line will be operated later jointly by the Norfolk and Western and Atlantic Coast Line or by only one of the two companies.

R. A. P. Coley, of Nashville, independent Democratic candidate for Congress in the Fourth Congressional District against Congressman E. W. Pau, received the endorsement of the Republican congressional convention at Raleigh Tuesday, this action being taken instead of putting a straight Republican in the field.

It is currently rumored that when the Republican State executive committee meets again Mr. Z. V. Walser, of Lexington, will be nominated as associate justice of the Supreme Court in the place of Mr. Harry Skinner, who declined to make the race. Ex-Judge A. L. Coble, of Statesville, is also being mentioned.

Delayed Attention Costs Money.

Your house wears out if not painted. It costs more to repair it than it costs to paint it. It don't cost much to paint with the L. & M. Paint, because 4 gallons of L. & M. Paint and 3 gallons of Linseed Oil makes seven gallons of ready-to-use paint at a cost of about $1.30 per gallon. You can mix yourself. Thirty-five years use in every part of the United States proves it. Atlantic City & Pittsburg Fence Tests, made by the Master Painters' Association, prove it. Sold by Geo. C. Goodman & Co.

Democratic Campaign Book.

The Democratic National Congressional Committee has issued its Campaign Book and is now distributing it. The committee has no funds save as it obtains them through contributions and is selling the book at $1 per copy, or for 50 cents a copy in lots of ten or more.

The book is replete with valuable matter and is said to be the best campaign book ever issued. Every Democrat should have it and in this year of Democratic effort for supremacy should gladly contribute to the committee by purchasing the book. The committee did valiant service in Maine with notable results, and if Democrats everywhere will rise to the occasion, by their dollar contributions, the Democratic sun will rise triumphantly, not to set for fifty years to come. Send your orders or contributions to F. F. Garrett, Treasurer, Democratic Campaign Committee, 831, 15th Street, Northwest, Washington, D. C.

How Fairs Help the People.

From several scores of young farmers of the Northwest have been obtained statements as to what State fairs do for the people and as to what they should do. What these young farmers say the fairs do for the people may be summarized thus: They give—

Vacations for many farmers with pleasure and profit combined.

Contact with men skillful in every department of agricultural work, and the stimulus which such contact cannot fail to offer.

Elevation in standards of work and in quality of product; first, by the offering of premiums; and, second, by observation.

Increase of interest in farm work as dignified and wholly worthy of respect.

Opportunity for study of newly-devised farm machinery at work.

Encouragement toward the improvement of crops and stock through the rotation of crops, selected seed and wisely-chosen cattle, sheep, hogs, etc.

Development of State pride and broadened views as to markets.—The Delinquent for October.

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by Geo. C. Goodman & Co.

The Editor Will Get Along.

A Missouri editor, who is about to pull up and leave for lack of support, sarcastically remarks in parting that editors don't need money. "Don't worry about the editor," he says; "he has a charter from the state to act as doorman for the community. He'll get the paper out some way, and stand up for you when you run for office, and lie about your daughter's tackey wedding, and blow about your big-footed sons when they get a $5 a week job, and weep over your shriveled soul when it is released from your grasping body, and smile at your giddy wife's second marriage. He'll get along. The Lord only knows how—but the editor will get there somehow."

HOW TO CURE RHEUMATISM

It is an Internal Disease and Requires an Internal Remedy.

The cause of rheumatism and kindred diseases is an excess of uric acid in the blood. To cure this terrible disease this acid must be expelled and the system so regulated that no more acid will be formed in excessive quantities. Rheumatism is an internal disease and requires an internal remedy. Rube, King with Pills and Liniment will not cure. It affords only temporary relief at best, because you do not get the proper treatment. Allow the acid to get a firmer hold on you. Liniments may ease the pain, but they will do more harm. Rheumatism that will not change the fibre of rotten wood. Science has at last discovered a perfect and complete cure, which is called "Rheumatism." Tested in hundreds of cases, it has effected the most marvelous cures; we believe it will cure you. Rheumatism "gets at the joints from the inside," sweeps the poisons from the system, tones up the stomach, regulates the liver and kidneys and makes you well all over. Rheumatism "strikes the root of the disease and removes its cause." This splendid remedy is sold by druggists and dealers generally at 50c and $1 a bottle. In tablet form at 25c and 50c a package. Get a bottle today. Booklet free. If you write to Bobbit Chemical Co., Baltimore, Md. Trial bottle tablets 25c. by mail. Sold in Mooresville by Miller-White Co., and Geo. C. Goodman & Co., and by druggists generally.

A Reliable Medicine—Not a Necessity. Mrs. F. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar saved her little boy's life. She writes: 'Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gagging spells, and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house.'
