Hopes to See Wreck of Two Automobiles With One Headlight Each
Monroe Enquirer.

Years ago an old motherly Union county lady was a regular subscriber to The Enquirer. Every fall when she came in to renew she would say: "Now Mr. Ashcraft, if there's going to be any ships lost at sea, or any real bad railroad wrecks, or such like, I shore want you to print all about it in the paper—not as I want it to happen, but if it's goin' to happen, I want to read about it in the paper."

Now, I feel the same way about automobiles running around at night with only one headlight. Should two such cars have a head-on collision I would like to see the wreck, not that I want to see anybody injured, but when it does happen I want to know all about it.

Robbers Open Con's Grave.
Lenoir.—The grave of Moses H. Cone, multi-millionaire Greensboro cotton mill owner, located on the Summit of Flat Top Mountain, has been opened by ghouls whose motive probably was robbery, according to reports received here from Blowing Rock. An investigation is in progress, it was indicated. It is not known whether the body was disturbed, the reports said.
The grave, dug in solid rock and protected by a cement covering, is on the large mountain estate of the family. The body, interred fourteen years ago, was contained in a steel casket enclosed in a wooden box.
The ghouls, after removing the dirt over the grave, demolished the cement covering, the reports said. The manner in which the despoilers worked indicated they knew the nature of the protection afforded the body.
Reports that the casket contained articles of high value have gained currency at various times.
The discovery was said to have been made by passing boys, and the condition of the grave indicated the outrage had been committed several days previously.

Thomas, of Burlington, president; W. E. Walker, Eloe College, vice-president; Reese Foust, of Snow Camp, second vice-president; and L. C. Allen, Graham, secretary. Mrs. R. S. Lennon, Curly Walker, Phil Dixon and W. M. Taylor were chosen as divisional superintendents.

They will come to this State through Georgia.

He Filled the Landscape
As the train was about to start, says the Argonaut, a very stout man struggled into a carriage and sank into a seat, breathing heavily. A small boy who sat opposite appeared to be fascinated. His gaze eventually began to annoy the stout man, who demanded angrily, "Why are you staring at me?"
"Please, sir," replied the boy, "there's nowhere else to look!"

Wilmington.—The suit of Mrs. Ida M. Southwell, to recover $100,000 claimed as damages from the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad as the result of the killing of her husband, an engineer, by H. E. Dallas, an employe of the defendant company, was non-suited by Judge Henry A. Grady in superior court.

New Bern.—A new contract for the drilling of the well in search of oil at Havelock, with A. Orr, head of a Louisiana drilling concern, was awarded here by the Great Lakes Drilling Company. If He Had Known It 20 Years Ago
After a noted agricultural specialist had finished a lecture some years ago, before a farmer audience in Illinois, telling them how they could double their yields immediately by applications of limestone and pulverized phosphate rock, an aged farmer approached him with tears in eyes and remarked: "I have spent my life in hard labor on the farm and now my years are about spent. Somebody is responsible for not telling me this sooner." Ed Jones, of Anson county, says he appreciates more and more each year the value of growing legumes and that if he had known twenty years ago as much about the value of these important crops, he would have had every acre on his farm rich. He sows lespedeza on his grain fields which he finds to be one of the best crops for this purpose, as it furnishes a valuable grazing, hay and soil improvement crop. Soy beans are planted in all his corn fields at the time corn is planted which he considers a most valuable crop in soil improvement, hay for grazing hogs. Crimson clover is sown in his cotton fields. He already has a splendid stand from seed sown in chaff in his cotton middles a few days ago. The seed did not require cover and were raised on his own farm. No doubt Mr. Jones, who has passed middle life, thinks somebody ought to have told him about these things sooner. But what about the hundreds of thousands of farmers in the State who have been repeatedly "told" about these soil-building crops, who pay no attention to them, but continue paying heavy fertilizer taxes in the cultivation of depleted soils?—Mecklenburg Times.

In making shark fin soup, the Chinese boil the fins and otherwise treat them until they take the appearance of fan-like flakes and filaments of pure gelatine. The eyes of the shark after they are boiled, lose their outer covering, and the residue becomes quite hard and has a sort of shifting light in its texture. The shark eyes are then mounted on pins or other forms of jewelry and present an unusual appearance.

Practical Nurse Tells
Mrs. N. E. Snow, of Route 1, near Paris, Tenn., tells the story of her experience as follows:
"I am 63 years old and I have been a practical nurse for more than 30 years, taking mostly maternity cases. One of my daughters suffered from cramping at... She would just bend double and have to go to bed."
GARDUI
The Woman's Tonic
was recommended to her and she only had to take about two bottles, when she hardly knew that it was... she suffered no little pain and... My youngest daughter was run-down, weak and nervous and looked like she didn't have a bit of blood left—just a walking skeleton, no appetite and tired all the time. I gave her two bottles of Gardui. It built her up and she began eating and soon gained in weight and has been so well since."
Gardui, The Woman's Tonic, has helped suffering women all over the world. Try it. At all druggists.
