ALLIES INVADE EUROPE

Final Arrangements Are Made For Gates War Loan Campaign

Robin Hood, Gates county chairman for the Fifth War Loan Drive, will visit all selling agencies in the county this week to make final arrangements for the drive, which will be conducted June 12 through July 8. Gates county's quota is $155,000.

The Post Offices at Sunbury, Hobbsville, Gatesville, and Gates and the banks at Sunbury, Hobbsville, and Gatesville will serve as selling agencies during the campaign. Application for Series "E" Bonds will also be taken at the Post Offices in Eure and Roduco during the drive.

Even though the Fifth War Loan Drive comes at a bad time for farmers, it also comes at a time when the invasion of Europe is in progress and when the home front cannot afford to withhold support from the boys who are in daily danger of losing their lives on the fighting fronts.

Most popular types of Bonds are those of Series "E," which mature in 10 years. Series "F" mature in 12 years and pay interest of about two and one-half per cent. Series "G" also mature in 12 years and pay two and one-half per cent, the interest payable every six months. Series "C" Savings Bonds mature in 30 years.

Fortress of Europe Is Assaulted In Many Places; Churchill Says Initial Thrust Very Successful

LONDON.—The day the whole world has been waiting for has arrived.

At 1 a. m. EWT (7 a. m. London time) on Tuesday, Allied soldiers were scrambling ashore in France, opening the greatest military operation in the history of the world—the invasion of Europe.

Four thousand ships, many thousands of landing craft and over 11,000 planes participated in the huge assault, which first was announced by the nervous German radio. The report was verified later by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters with a simple statement of fact.

Meanwhile, the whole world was tossed into a frenzy of excitement. All over the United States, sirens wailed and whistles blew, arousing Americans from early-morning slumber.

Nine Miles Inland

By mid-morning, reports drifted in that the Allies had captured points nine miles inland. Parachute and air borne troops were dropped behind the enemy lines with what Prime Minister Winston Churchill described as "initial success."

Huge fleets of Flying Fortresses and fighting planes accompanied the operations with a rain of destruction. Warships blasted the invasion shores, while the invasion craft went ashore under far less difficulty than had been expected.

General Eisenhower sent the thousands of Allied fighting men on their mission with:

"We are about to embark upon a great crusade. The eyes of the world are upon you. We will accept nothing less than total victory."

In his address to the British House of Commons, Prime Minister Churchill, in his usual dynamic vernacular, asserted:

"The invasion is proceeding according to plan—and what plan!"

Though unconfirmed by Allied headquarters, the German radio persistently reported that landings were made in Normandy. Allied headquarters in general remained non-committal about locations of landings, accept to
