Local Schools Give Out Folder On Hospital Plan

The public schools in this county are distributing several hundred short pamphlets this week and next containing the main "Questions and Answers" about the far-reaching State-Wide Program of Hospital and Medical Care which is now under consideration in the General Assembly.

"The people of the State are anxious to know more about this splendid plan," said Clyde Erwin, the State Superintendent of Schools, in writing to the local principals. "and it is of such vital importance that I think this information ought to be placed in their hands."

"It might be wise also for you to have discussions of this question in your classrooms and parent-teacher meetings," the head of the State's public schools continued. "I think it would be a fine community and state service."

Only a few schools in the county had received the pamphlets and letter from Mr. Erwin by this issue went to press, but the shipments to the other schools will presumably follow in a few days, and any citizen who wishes a copy may apply to the principal of his local school.

The attractive pamphlet, which can be read in two or three minutes, covers all the major points in short, simple, direct question-and-answer form.

The General Assembly, by the way, is scheduled to hold its public committee hearing on the proposed Program of Hospital and Medical Care next Tuesday, January 30, so any voters who wish to contact their representatives should do so at once.

The Great Pasteur

Never Saw Chile's Nitrate Desert, But...

His bacterial research, which gave his name to the pasteurization process, provided the basis for one of the widely-accepted explanations of Chilean Nitrate's origin.

Vast beds of Natural Nitrate in Chile's desert region are natural deposits—enough to last hundreds of years—of one of the oldest and best known fertilizer materials. Mystery of their origin long has challenged science. Many theories have developed.

bins parts of all of them. Who knows? But there is one point on which all agree:

Chilean Nitrate of Soda was created by tremendous natural processes. It is completely natural... the only natural nitrate in the world.

Some say prehistoric plants were "nitrified" by bacteria in the soil. That's what Pasteur's work suggested. Others say they are decayed vegetation.

Because of its natural origin, Chilean Nitrate of Soda contains, in addition to nitrogen and sodium, small amounts of boron, iodine, manganese, copper,—34 elements in all—many of which are essential to healthy plant growth.

There is a belief the nitrate beds are droppings of billions of birds. Another, that electricity formed them through centuries of violent storms. Some think the beds are rotted rocks; some think they are a crust pushed up from underneath.

Yes, a hundred years of research and experience agree on the importance of Chilean Nitrate's natural qualities and their outstanding performance in continued profitable farming.

Easy to Handle... Easy to Use

Natural Chilean Nitrate comes in two forms—Champion brand and Old Style. It reaches you in fine mechanical condition, in even-weight bags, for easy storage and handling.
