Procedure For Leaf Warehouse Sales Approved

Ahoskie.—Daily tobacco market sales in each warehouse will be limited to a total of 1,400 piles during the coming market season, as the result of a plan adopted by the Bright Belt Warehouse Association.

A tolerance of not more than 15 piles will be allowed however, Sales Supervisor C. W. Hughes of the Ahoskie market, said, if necessary to prevent stopping in the middle of a crop.

Selling hours will be limited to three and a half hours a day, and the average rate of selling has been set at 400 piles an hour; the piles will be limited to a maximum of 250 pounds each, Hughes said.

The new marketing procedure is designed to prevent congestion in redrying plants by limiting daily sales volume and was adopted unanimously by warehouse groups and tobacco buying interests.

Conservation Notes

By C. R. FRIDDLE

Isaac Parker of the Mapleton section is well pleased with his tile drain project. Cooperating with technicians from the Roanoke-Chowan Soil Conservation District Mr. Parker installed 200 feet of tile in a field that had a poorly drained spot in it. This spot worked mean with the rest of the field. It was too wet to work while the remainder of the field was in good working condition. It was difficult to get a stand and the crops grew slowly. Since installing the tile this spring Mr. Parker states that he got a good stand and the crops are growing with the rest of the field. The total cost of installing the tile, including his farm labor, was $33.25. Mr. Parker estimates that two acres were benefited $16.62 per acre. He values this land at $150 per acre. Frank Lassiter, farm manager for Elmer Whedbee, has terraced fifteen acres of land this spring.
