Country Life Notes

By the Bertie County Traveller
A. T. Willoughby

Recently when I was on the Mt. Gould farm, I noticed some mighty tall tobacco on that part of the farm owned by Lyman Harrell and attended by George Watford, colored. Watford said he was 5 feet 9 inches tall. I had him to stand by some of the tallest stalks, and plenty of them were at least 7 feet high.

Last Sunday morning at the Baptist church in Ahoskie the Rev. Mr. Creech preached about the elder brother. I have heard many sermons about the prodigal son or younger brother, but that was the second time I have ever known the elder brother to be the text. The other sermon was preached by the Rev. M. A. Adams in the old Ahoskie Baptist church about 35 years ago. One of the outstanding things he said, "About the senior boy was that he was smart. He was in the field at work while the other boy was loafing." He said, "That laziness, idleness and loafing was one of the greatest curses this country had." Rev. Creech said, "The elder brother had a bad disposition and was hard to get along with." He seemed to think that was why the younger brother first left home.

One day last week when I called at a colored home near Cedar Landing my attention was attracted by a little 8-year-old colored girl driving a heavy loaded truck with green tobacco leaves, drawn by a big mule. She was handling the affair like a man. She drove up to the barn, got clear of one truck and the last time I saw her, she was on her way back to the field to get another load. That also reminded me of another scene where the women were helping in the tobacco fields of Bertie county. Last spring I saw a white woman sitting in the driver's seat on the water barrel driving the team while another woman and a man were in the seats below placing the plants in the setter to be distributed in their proper places along the row.

It seems natural for human beings to complain. During the drought in the spring and early summer every farmer I met was saying, "The other fellow was getting more rain than he was getting." Now they are saying, "They are getting more rain than any body else." It is true I see some drowned tobacco and grassy peanuts but take it as a whole. I don't think I have ever seen at this season of the year a better crop prospect in Bertie county.

Tell Your Family

Rocky Mount.—Mrs. Ruth G. Duffy, manager of the Rocky Mount Field Office, of the Social Security Board, stated today that as a worker who is building social insurance protection on the job you should make it your business to tell your family that if you die they may be eligible for monthly old-age and survivors insurance benefits.

"Widows with children under 18 in their care get special consideration under the law. If you have neither wife nor child, but your parents are dependent upon you, tell your parents that if you die they may be eligible for monthly benefits at age 65. If you have no children, tell your wife or parents not to wait until they are 65 to file their claim for benefits; they may be eligible for a lump-sum death benefit, and the time for claiming this expires after two years," said Mrs. Duffey.

"In case you die they should file their claim promptly. Survivors benefits are retroactive for only three months. If your family file their claim in the fourth month after the month in which you die, they will lose one month's payments," Mrs. Duffey said.

Interesting Events of Past two Weeks

The Workshop held at Columbia July 16-25 was a most interesting event and created a great spirit for cooperative living. On Monday night, July 23, the following persons from Gates County attended the public meeting held with the credit union in Edenton: J. A. Jones, N. L. Nowell, J. P. Twine, W. H. Twine, L. W. Odom, J. W. Nowell, B. J. Gatling, Mrs. E. T. Piland, Patricia Payne and Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Mitchell. Mr. and Mrs. Piland attended the meeting in Columbia with the latter also.

Visit to Philadelphia

A very pleasant weekend was spent with the Rev. C. M. Smith, pastor of Wayland Temple Baptist Church, who spent sometime here last summer. It was a pleasure and a great experience to speak in this church twice and meet a number of friends in the city. Rev. Smith will be in Gates county conducting revival at the Union Baptist Church, August 13-17.

Credit Union Has Educational Program

The Gates County Credit Union held its regular meeting at the Reid's Grove School, Tuesday night. Following the business of the meeting, the Rev. J. R. R. McCray was presented and gave a very interesting address. In his address, Rev. McCray outlined several important points of running a successful business and pointed out its effectiveness in better living. He also stressed the importance of cooperating in the work of the credit union for the mutual good of all citizens in the community.

Following the address by Rev. McCray, Mrs. Ruth Mitchell Laws, director of the department of home economics, Dover State College, Delaware, was presented. Mrs. Laws who worked in Gates county several years ago complemented the citizens on the progress they have made and gave an inspiring message from the theme, "Teach Your Dollars to Have More Sense." Mrs. L. E. Waithe, vice-president of the Credit Union presided in the absence of the president.

In order to cooperate with the revivals in the county, it was decided that the meetings for August and September be held Monday nights instead of Tuesday nights. The next meeting will be held on Monday night, August 13.
