NASH COUNTY.

There is nothing to be seen in The Carolina Union Farmer to let the people know there is life in old Nash, but there is. Some have thought and even said that the Nash County Union was almost dead. For several months past it has looked that way to the outside and to the members not posted, but your humble servant has just been visiting some Locals that were thought to be sleeping and he found some sparks burning around there that only a little fanning would soon develop in a large flame. There are fan mills running in all our Locals now. The flames are kindling and growing stronger very rapidly. During these months the Union spirit has been quietly and steadily burning in the hearts of our leading Union men, until finally it has burst forth and is shining on the outside.

In a few more days we will have our first cotton storage warehouse completed. If there are better prices just ahead, please pray that we few may share in them.

Now, brother farmer of Nash, or any other county in the United States, if you grow one bale of cotton, won't you make a little inquiry, use a little good sense and help yourself, while we are trying to help you? It's very easily done. I want to know how many Farmer's Union cotton storage houses there are in North Carolina, and also how many to be built. If it's not illegal, I beg that the editor of The Carolina Union Farmer, or some one else in the State, insist that we have a report from every organized county. Let's get together and find our strength so we may know what we can do.

Now, my friend, just as soon as you have read this little bit from old Nash County, noted for its pretty girls and good brandy, won't you just get right out and show our very best farmers why they should belong to the Farmers' Union? See that every member of your Local reads the Union paper, and get all your neighbors that are not members to read it, too. I hope you will. They need it, now that the nights are getting longer.

HEALTH NOTES.

Children with adenoids often have earache. Notice if your child complains of earache, and whether a little matter does not come from his ear. Does he hear well? Don't always blame him if he is slow—perhaps he is deaf. Earache often means that the child has adenoids. Adenoids should be removed. Earache always means that the child is in danger of getting deaf. Earache always means that the child is in danger of getting a running ear. A running ear is always dangerous, for the child may get brain fever from it. A running ear should always be treated by an ear doctor. It will not get well without good care, and it may make the child deaf.

SOME FACTS ABOUT THE BELL GRIST MILL; THE ONLY PROGRESSIVE MILL.

The words Simple, Strong, Durable, and Efficient represent the Bell Grist Mill in their fullest capacity.

It is the latest designed most modern-up-to-date mill of its type offered.

Its features are as near perfect as can be had by mechanical skill and workmanship. It is built in lines with the principle of the old time horizontal mill; in other words it is the old time horizontal improved and made vertical.

Its Features: The disk feed which is the most reliable of all feeds. The oil bearing box preventing lubricating oils from entering mill. The large bearing box containing the end thrust or regulating screw and large coil spring which has proper tension to furnish uniform meal—this is what others have tried but failed to reach.

The double twistful screw distributing the grain uniformly against the rocks.

Lose pulley furnished extra on end of shaft when desired. It looks well, it does well, it is well. It is the mill people will buy.
