BARREL FOR DELEGATES.

ONE MILLION DOLLARS TO DEFEAT MCKINLEY.

"It is Time to 'Call the Truth,'" Says Chauncy L. Filley, "McKinley Can't Be Nominated on the First Ballot."

St. Louis, Mo., June 8.—It is reported that the Eastern opponents to the nomination of Major William McKinley as the Presidential standard bearer of 1896, have formulated plans to place $1,000,000 in St. Louis to be used in carrying the convention for an Eastern man.

This money as the story goes, is to be at the disposal of several shrewd lobbyists of long experience, who are said to entertain bright hopes of being able to capture a number of Southern and Western delegates, as well as Eastern men.

Chauncy L. Filley, who has lately been exercising in his mathematical gymnasium, declares that McKinley's nomination on the first ballot is an absolute impossibility. Mr. Filley says:

"The roll of States for nominations will be called, and every State that has a favorite son will respond. It will cast the votes it structured for him, and all the powers and resources of the McKinley managers cannot prevent it. Enough votes will thus be withheld from the Ohioan to cause the taking of at least one more ballot before he is the nominee."

"There will be no suspension of the rules to stampede the convention to McKinley on the first ballot. That will be tried, but it will fail."

"I am as loyal to McKinley as anybody is, and the entire vote of Missouri will be cast on the first ballot, but the time has come for somebody to tell the plain truth, and I have done it in the statement that more than one ballot will be required to make McKinley the standard-bearer."

Judge A. C. Thompson, of Portsmouth, O., a pronounced McKinleyite, is inclined to give Mr. Filley's assertions, and declares the latter no friend of McKinley, if he authorizes such a statement to be issued broadcast.

Judge Thompson gave to the United Press a list of 506 delegates instructed and pledged to McKinley. The statements omit 106 McKinley delegates whose seats are contested.

The surprise of the day was the arrival of Hon. J. G. Long, of St. Augustine, Fla., who represents that State on the national committee. Regarding the alleged scheme of Thomas C. Platt, to capture the national committee meeting and unhorse the McKinley delegates, whose seats are contested, Judge Long said he had no fears that Platt could accomplish any such revolutionary action. Since his arrival, Mr. Long says, he has received definite information that no formal meeting of the executive committee will be held before next Wednesday.

The lists of contests are being prepared for the credential committee and there will be more leaders to discuss them than the committee may hear. Those attracting the most attention are in Texas, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi and Delaware delegations.

All the seats are contested in Florida, all but two in Texas, three in Georgia, all in Mississippi, Arizona and Delaware, two in Pennsylvania and six in New York.

In a reply to a query from the St. Louis Chronicle, Saturday afternoon, Thomas C. Platt writes as follows: "I shall leave for St. Louis Wednesday at six o'clock, and have had no other intention as to time of leaving New York. I shall do everything fair and honorable to aid in seating delegates."

In a signed statement to the United Press Saturday, Perry S. Heath of Ohio, says a New York dispatch printer here indicates that he has been quoted as saying that ex-Senator T. C. Platt is engaged in some sort of conspiracy to have recognized anti-McKinley delegates, "if they can show the slightest claim for their seats."

Mr. Heath denies the use of the word "conspiracy" in connection with Mr. Platt. "He had a perfect right to do what he is doing," says Mr. Heath, "so far as I know nothing he may have in contemplation that is illegitimate, I regard him as a sound Republican and a man of honor. The friends of Gov. McKinley are not attacking ex-Senator Platt or questioning his motives."

Electric Bitters. Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for every season but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is bad and sluggish, and the need of tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of good medicine has often averted long and perhaps fatal bilious fevers. No medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. See and get a bottle at Purcell & Dudley's and W. S. Allen's Drug Store.

IS IN THE RACE TO STAY.

CHAIRMAN HOLTON DOES NOT BELIEVE RUSSELL WILL RESIGN.

Winston, N. C., June 8.—State Chairman Holton does not believe the report that Russell's resignation is in the hands of proper persons to be acted upon in case the Democrats nominate a full State ticket. He thinks Russell is in the race to stay. However, if he should decide to come down, the terms would have to be entirely satisfactory to the pro-Republican candidate. Russell wants to be Governor, but he would prefer to be pretty certain of his election before he turns loose his "barrell" of money.

Mr. Brice Does Not Look for Rival. Senator Brice is a very rich man. He is a very earnest advocate of the gold standard, and yet he is a man of high broad experience that he isn't frightened about the effects of the free coinage of silver. He knows too much. The following from the New York World shows what he thinks: "Supposing a free silver victory next November, and the subsequent adoption of free coinage, what, in your judgment, as a business man engaged in large enterprises, would be the result?" asked the correspondent.

"Business can be done as well on a silver basis," deliberately answered Senator Brice. "When a country is adjusted to it, one standard is as good as another, but it is the transition from one to the other, and the fear, timidity and hesitation which would precede that would cause the trouble."

"The adoption of free silver will not compel me to sell my wheat unless I want to sell it, or to sell it at a price that I do not consider satisfactory."

WEYLER VISITS GEN. LEE.

THE LATTER INTERVIEWED ON HIS MISSION TO CUBA.

A Talk With the Imprisoned American—The London Times Banquet to Gen. Lee Considered Significant.

A special cable dispatch to the New York Herald from Habana, dated Sunday, says: Captain-General Weyler called personally upon Consul-General Lee last night. The Habana newspapers regard the London Times banquet to Consul-General Lee here as highly significant. The banquet is the chief topic of conversation in the clubs and hotels to-day.

Consul-General Lee today visited the Habana's fortress and talked with the imprisoned American. He found Julio Sanguily comfortable. Laborer was ill. The Consul-General considers the quarters occupied by Laborer and others of the Competitor's crew unhealthy, and proposes to call at the palace to-morrow and ask the Captain-General to order their transfer.

The Philadelphia Press prints the following special from W. W. Gay, at Habana, under the date of Sunday last:

A morning newspaper prints an interview with Consul-General Lee on the subject of his mission, in which General Lee is quoted as saying that he came to inform himself on the problem presented in Cuba, and would report to Washington with strict impartiality and justice. The reason why he was selected was first, his great friendship with Cleveland, with whom he is identified in ideas and sentiments; and second, having commanded General E. E. Lee's cavalry and been accustomed to cooperate with him, he is able to understand the kind of war the insurgents are waging.

Continuing, he said: "I know well that public opinion attributes to me a special mission, and gives extraordinary importance to my consular work and the very fact imposes upon me great reserve. You may be sure that my desire is for the welfare of the United States and Spain and for the maintenance of the friendly relations existing between them. "Those who believe that part of the American people's favor recognition of the belligerency of the insurgents because of hostility to Spain or friendship to the rebels, I can assure you they are doing I, as consul, would be the first one to protest against lawlessness."

"It would be a glorious thing for my government and give it immense satisfaction to be able, in a cordial and friendly way, to restore peace to Cuba, and so avert destruction of this island, so rich and so beautiful, to which we are united by such great interests. But this affair is so delicate that I beg you not to question me on the subject. I can assure you that the relations between Spain and the United States are very cordial."

The interviewer asked General Lee: "Is it true that you intend to have communication with the insurgents?" General Lee smiled, and said: "I don't know yet."

Silver in Virginia. Whatever the details of the case may be, there is at this moment no reasonable doubt that the cause of free coinage is as triumphant in Virginia as it has been in Kentucky, Missouri, Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee, and seems likely to be in almost every State south of the Potomac when the Democratic party assembles in convention.

Only a few months ago men were saying with sneers that the silver movement was due to so far as concerned the Democracy; that the powerful influence of the administration, freely exerted, had nipped it in the bud. Administration operators went forth into Alabama, Missouri, Kentucky and Mississippi, filled with confidence, almost arrogant in their assurance of success. They intended to enlighten the ignorant, to convince the doubtful, even to rescue the lost. And read the famous reports of their victorious progress. And then came the result. Every State they visited repudiated the gospel of monometallism. In some cases they repudiated even the apostle himself, albeit once a growing mightier every inch of advance. One by one the States that had been so industriously evangelized went over to the cause of wick-dances. One by one they added themselves to the army of infidelity. And now comes Virginia, the grand Old Dominion, mother of presidents, statesmen, warriors, patriots—Virginia also swells the throng.

The silver dollar is worth one hundred cents at this office, whether for subscriptions or advertisements. We are not discounting nor depreciating silver, the money of the Bible, of the Constitution, of the American Colonies and the American people. The silver lunatics of Virginia, we see, were not incarcerated in the insane asylum at Staunton. The silver craze, indeed, is an all pervading that it is now the common sense of our people, and it is the goldbugs who are afflicted with mental aberration.—Norfolk Pilot.
