A Sweet Scented Specimen.

Rocky Mt. Argonaut. Among the fotsam and jetsam washed on our shores by the waves of the unspeakable fusion, confusion crowd who now disgrace North Carolina "Judge" Spencer B. Adams shines out as a "gem of purest ray serene." It would take a tough one to disgrace the party who placed this sweet specimen in the Supreme court bench, but we think that honor (?) can be claimed by Adams. In his recent charge of the grand jury at Columbus court this unspeakable creature told the grand jury at Columbus court that rape was merely a minor offence, a lesser one than seduction.

Can this country descend any lower in the depths? Can this poor old State drink deeper of the water of humiliation? The Bible says: "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth." Then He surely must love the State of North Carolina, for His hand has been very heavy on lately.

To Issue A Large Campaign Paper.

About the 10th of September we propose to issue a large campaign paper, fully illustrated, and containing a complete review of negro rule in North Carolina, and of the maladministration of public affairs under the present regime. It will be the strongest paper ever issued in the advocacy of white man's government.

The chairman of each county is requested to begin at once and procure the names of 500 voters to whom they will send these papers; and he is further requested to prepare in advance the stamped wrappers and have everything in readiness to send the papers out. The cost will be small to each county and the money should be raised at once to pay this postage. It is suggested that Democrats in every township shall send at once a list of names to the county chairmen. Capt. S. A. Ashe will assist in preparing this paper. F. M. SIMMONS, Ch'm'n.

Vance on the Negro.

Zeb Vance, in a memorable speech in the United States Senate before his death, January 30th, 1890, in speaking of the negro as a citizen and office-holder in the South, he said: "Since their admission to citizenship they have been elected to both branches of Congress and have occupied almost every position under State authority. They have controlled entire states, counties and municipalities and in every instance their rule was marked by failure and ruin. It was a war against property, intelligence and respectability. The few years of their misrule in the south will be forever remembered in our history for their corruption, retrogression and will constitute a damnable blot on those who authorized it, and who looked on with complacency so long as the thieves were Republicans, the victims were Democrats."—Oxford Public Ledger.

Indoors and Out.

"My health was very poor and I suffered from dizzy spells, rheumatism and weak nerves. I did not care to live in such a condition. Hood's Sarsaparilla has changed all this. It has completely cured me and I am now able to work hard indoors and out." Mrs. JOHN A. LIVERY, Dallas, West Virginia.

Tuesday, Nov. 8th, the Date of Election.

There appears to be some misapprehension as to the time of the election this fall. For the benefit of any who may be in a condition to be laboring under a mistaken idea we would state that the law provides that the election shall occur on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November—not on the first Tuesday, although it would be the first Tuesday in any year except when, as it does this year, the first day of the month is on Tuesday. To boil this down—the election this year will occur on Tuesday, November 8th.—Winston Sentinel.

Obituary.

Mrs. Lessie Williamson Lambeth quietly fell asleep, at the home of her husband, J. E. Lambeth, August 17th, 1898.

At the early age of six years old she was distinguished among her schoolmates by the remarkable genius she displayed, and endeavored to them by her winning ways, sweet disposition and warmth of heart, was thus early the admiration of her companions and the pride of her home circle. At the time of which I write her home was in the country. In her heart the influence of religious associations took early and deep root and the transcript of this heart, at the time of which I write, is an evidence that they had given an elevated and a healthy tone to a character which otherwise might have been morbid and unfitted for domestic life.

From this early age I have watched the hallowing and subduing influence of an unaffected trust in a Heavenly Father and an appreciation of a Saviour who died for ever preserved her through the very painful changes of six homes. Even more closely did I scrutinize her after her entrance into her fifth home amid the attractions and fascinations of a gay city life at the age of seventeen.

Sixteen months ago was added to her the sacred trust of wife and mother, and that claim and the claim of dependent childhood, with nervous prostrations, all the while almost entirely, and of necessity debared attention to religious exercise as well as social converse.

To those who knew her best and loved her most I can only say we should more willingly give her back to God, feeling reconciled that we have one more agent in the courts of Heaven.

A FRIEND.

Judge Adams at Home.

We blush to comment upon these two charges, and are sorry that such language originated from a judicial bench. We refrain from a comment on the first clause that "nine times out of ten if you chase down the fellows who are going about trying to get up more prejudice you will find them sleeping with negro woman," only to say that it was a willful and maliciously false charge upon the purity, virtue and intelligence of our State; for such compose the thousands who are working for white supremacy in our country.

But as to the charge that rape was a lesser crime than seduction, but for the seriousness of the statement and consequences involved, it would be ridiculous; as it is, it not only shows depravity, but a lack of the first principles of law and equity. While we are no lawyer, yet common sense teaches us that in the case of seduction the seducer, and the seducer are always on the same moral level; and, further, that the seducer is as apt to be the woman as the man, and in all cases the seduced is a party to the crime. But the origin and the act of rape lies only in the polluted mind and brutal power of the fiend, which may, and more often does, manifest itself against the most unsuspecting victim. It is a hell-born desire, created by lustful passion and enforced by brute strength against purity and helplessness—regardless of the submission of the victim. And is just as apt to take as its victim your wife, your daughter or your sister, as 'tis a depraved wretch. Away with such teaching. A school boy who could interpret law no better than this ought to be expelled from the primary classes, and the judge who would not, ought to be driven from the bench as unfit to deliver a charge to an intelligent and virtuous jury.

The Spanish Language.

It is remarkable how the schools of the United States have neglected Spanish. It is the language of Mexico, our next door neighbor, with whom we have had for many years large and increasing commercial relations. The extent of the trade relations that Winston has with Mexico and Cuba too, is quite large, the Salem Iron Works sells a great deal of machinery, engines and coffee hullers, and Winston tobacco is well known in Mexico and South American countries. It is so strange that the importance and knowledge of the Spanish language has not been recognized by our educators long ago.

The Salem Academy has been teaching it for years to the girls, and we see that the Normal College at Greensboro, has added Spanish to its course of study, but Spanish to a girl is an accomplishment, and will do almost as much practical good for commercial purposes as the regulation united States government, whereby Spanish has been taught at West Point, to the soldiers who are not supposed to travel, while at Annapolis, the naval officers who frequently visit Spanish speaking countries have not been instructed at all.

Our assured control of Porto Rico and the certainty that we will exert a controlling influence in Cuba has opened our eyes to the necessity for the popular study of Spanish. There are at present few persons in the United States, even among those we call highly educated who know anything about it. When Cervera's letter to the Hobson family reached Greensboro, Ala., there was not a single man in the community who could read it. Had it been written in Latin, French, Greek or Hebrew no difficulty would have been found in having it translated.

The school of Atlanta has ordered Spanish to be taught in the principal public schools, and on account of Winston's especial interest in Spanish speaking countries, the Journal suggests to Superintendent Blair that a course in Spanish be added to the Graded School curriculum.

A man has to have pluck to make a success of any calling. A man must have the backbone to take the blows, and get up again and fight on. Pluck and stamina are largely a question of good health. A nervous man, who only takes a small setback to disconcert a nervous and insistent opponent—this man goes into bankruptcy at the first embarrassment. A nervous man who does not eat, does not sleep, does not live, all health-makers and health-keepers. It makes pure, rich blood. It forces out all disease and disease germs. It does not make any difference what the disease may be called, so long as it has its inception in a nervous and insistent opponent—this great medicine will cure it. It may be called dyspepsia, indigestion, or nervous prostration—all these have the same starting point. The Golden Medical Discovery reaches that point. It will cure these diseases absolutely. None of them can retain their hold on the system when the arteries are filled with rich, pure blood.

I am 34 years old," writes Mr. F. G. Bledsoe, "I have suffered from indigestion and indolence for several years. I was unable to make my living by hard work. I would keep up until I would get up and carry me with horrible dreams. I took six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It relieved me in my back and between my shoulders. I am now a well man."

Department of Law Postponed.

The trustees of Trinity College College have not been able to arrange for the department of law, as they desired. It is the purpose of the trustees to organize a law school on a broad basis, and to employ only the best talent in the law faculty.

The Executive Committee has done everything it could to carry out the wishes of the trustees, but has not been able to do so, and they therefore think it best to postpone the organization of this department to another year, and hence they make this announcement to the public.

Respectfully,
E. J. PARRISH,
Ch'm'n. Executive Committee.

What the War Will Have Cost the United States.

Review of Reviews. The maintenance of garrisons in the indefinite future, after the conditions of peace have been permanently fixed, may not be chargeable directly as a part of the cost of the war, but will be one of its necessary consequences. It will be interesting to consider the probable cost of the actual war expenses and garrison expenses up to the present fiscal year on June 30, 1890. It will then have been determined whether the Philippine Islands are to remain in the permanent possession of the United States, and if so, will be time to charge garrison service in our new dependencies and the increase of the navy to the permanent cost of the new foreign policy which may then have been adopted. If the direct war expenditures were $21,000,000 at the close of July 1st, will be $25,000,000 more that they will have increased by $45,000,000 more during the two months of September and October. This will make the direct cost of the war, lasting for less than four months, but involving heavy expenditures for more than six months—$161,000,000.

The Return Movement.

Charlotte Observer. Here are two very helpful and pleasant items from our Monroe contemporaries of last week. The first is from The Enquirer: "Since last Tuesday we have added ten Populists to our list of converts. Welcome, gentlemen, to the old Democratic party. Such a turning back has not been known since 1876. It is a daily occurrence for men to come in and voluntarily announce that they are done with Populism, Radicalism and Fusion."

The next is from The Journal: "Esquire M. L. Flow who left the Democratic party four years ago, informs us that he has come back to his old love to stay. He says the boss and ring rule of fusion is too much for him. Mr. Flow has been perhaps the most intelligent and best posted Populist in the county. He has for a long time been correspondent in Monroe for Our Home, but has spent in his resignation." Our Home—who is to all intents and purposes a Republican paper—is one of those which have been clamoring for the name of a Populist who has returned to the Democratic party. It has the name of one, above, and it will be rather embarrassing to it to explain that he is a member of its own staff.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News. Brilliant lies dazzle more eyes than gems of truth. Some things in moderation are worse than others in excess. Some men resemble dice—easily rattled but hard to shake. Nothing curdles the milk of human kindness like indifference. There are times when the brave deserve immunity from the fair. There is nothing quite so uninteresting as a human phonograph. A homelike hotel is the kind the average man tries to avoid. The road to happiness and the road to misery frequently run parallel. You can often judge a woman's character by the men she doesn't know. The wife who chases her husband with a poker rules him with a rod of iron. The good luck of their friends worries some people more than anything else. Some men have a delicate sense of humor and the humor of others is senseless. A man in love loses his self-possession in trying to get possession of another. Practice makes perfect. The older a woman is the better she should carry her age. A girl's frame of mind less goes to with her reflections than the frame that holds her mirror. Some men are so energetic in attempting to take things philosophically that they become prematurely soured. There are some problems beyond the scope of the human mind, and wise is the man who is willing to let it go at that.

They're Coming Back.

Concord Standard. We are greatly encouraged with the news that all over the country where there are Populists the Democrats will make appreciable gains. The Populists are beginning to see their great mistake and are getting themselves right. Many will come straight into the Democratic convention, others will vote the ticket, and some that have been rather vehement in their advocacy will take little interest in the election. It seems to be so all over the State. Any why not? Surely it is enough.

A Few Bright Ones.

August 21st Herald. Perhaps—August might be springing for a record. What Americans Like.—Dewey for President is being falked a great deal just now. No one knows how he stands on the financial plank but all know that he is a level-headed man, and a hard hitter. That is what Americans like. Not in it.—It may have been noticed that those who started in to fight the war over again were not in it during the actual hostilities. It was a Frost.—The Philippines may be warm enough, but Aguinaldo do has met with a severe frost. Why Doesn't He?—Dewey should come home and find out what the people did to Hobson. Lost Its Voice.—Even Weyler's typewriter has lost its voice. Not Invited.—Camara did not surrender, but he was not asked to do so.

When they put a man in jail, he cannot follow his natural inclinations. He cannot eat what he wants to—he is limited to a very frugal diet. Is it not equally true of a dyspeptic? For all of the real enjoyment he gets out of life, he might as well be in jail. He cannot eat what he likes, nor enough. He suffers, and gets little sympathy. At first, perhaps a little nervousness, in the stomach, a little sourness, windy belchings and heartburn; headaches and biliousness and a foul taste in the mouth in the morning. Chronic constipation is almost inevitable. It means that the body is holding poisonous, impure matter that should be gotten rid of. The poison is being reabsorbed into the blood and the whole body. Impurity in the blood may lead to almost any disease. Constipation is the start of it all. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, cure it so it stays cured. No other remedy in the world will do that.

Send 21 cents in one-cent stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Co., 261 N. 3rd St., Buffalo, N. Y., and receive Dr. Pierce's 1008 page Common Sense Medical Adviser, illustrated.

The Romance of War.

Charlotte Observer. A young soldier who was wheeling a barrow full of earth at one of the camps the other day said: "I tell you, I have lost all my brilliant ideas about the romance of war."

What a pity it is that any one ever gets such ideas. A soldier in war times is a dirty, tired, half-sick man who rarely gets an opportunity to take off his clothes, who sleeps in wet clothes or a ditch, who walks and walks and walks in route step and without music—in hot weather in blinding dust—who drinks fouled water and eats everlasting beans, and who finds rest in a hospital or in a trench. Sometimes he comes home, and like all people who have been through troublesome experiences, likes to talk about them. It sounds quite heroic but the man who goes out to war with the notion that he is going to be fooled. Only those who sit at home and read about the battles get any of the romance. The fighting men get the reality. There is a vast difference between the two.

That Negro Editorial.

The following is from a letter received by the Wilmington Star from one of the prominent and reliable citizens of Duplin county: "In Goldsboro, on Wednesday, the 24th inst., I overheard a negro politician say to other negroes that the editorial in the Daily Record of the 18th would cost the fusionists 25,000 to 30,000 votes in the coming election."

August by the Sea-Side.

Sweet August, sloppiest month of all the year, why do you vex us with these antics queer? Can health and plenty cheer the laboring swain so long as you pour down such seas of rain? Dear lovely showers of innocence and ease at length have lost their ancient power to please, and no man can now loiter o'er the green unless he takes a heavy canvas screen. No more the village train, from labor free, lead up their sports beneath the spreading tree, but in their sheltered coats with words profane, unite to scold the "weather man" in vain. Kind August, gladly would we sit and stew beneath your old-time skies of clear, hot blue! Give ear, sweet month; have pity as we pray—we are too rich on forty floods a day!—Winston Journal.

A Business Proposition.

We think no business man can question the fact that it is practical common sense for the business men of a town to patronize home people when at all possible. "United we stand, divided we fall," is just as applicable to a community as to a nation. We say that the principle is right in all cases; but when it comes to patronizing a newspaper which is working in season and out of season for the benefit of a town and the upbuilding of its business interests, it looks as if a failure to do so is the very height of folly. A well patronized newspaper can do very much better work than one that has not the support of its citizens. A free town is known by the support it gives its local paper.—Rocky Mount Argonaut.

Cycling Dons.

Don't sit erect; it is too good for your health. Don't try to knock a street car over with your bicycle until you've practiced on pedestrians. Don't take the other man's bike when leaving. It may be a better make than yours; but it's safer to take your own. If in a race a rider falls in front of you, don't stop to be graceful in dismounting. Get off the best way you can without losing time. Don't use cyclometers if you want to preserve your temper and integrity. Don't come down a steep hill without a break, you may break your head.

Don't be nervous when you meet a young lady acquaintance. Smile confidently, take off your cap with either hand, or both, and choose a soft place to fall. Don't ride at less than thirty miles an hour if you are passing a horse and carriage. It is so refreshing to the nerves of the horse, if the animal is a little high-spirited.

Miraculous Benefit RECEIVED FROM Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

ELI F. BABCOCK, of Avoca, N. Y., a veteran of the 3rd N. Y. Artillery and for thirty years of the Babcock & Munroe Carriage Co., of Auburn, says: "I write to express my gratitude for the miraculous benefit received from Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I suffered for years, as result of army life, from catarrhs which gradually grew worse. In the worst form, my limbs swelled from the ankles up. I bloated until I was unable to button my clothing; had sharp pains about the heart, smothering fits and shortness of breath. For three months I was unable to lie down, and all the sleep I got was in an arm chair. I was treated by the best doctors but gradually grew worse. About a year ago I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and it saved my life as if by a miracle. Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerve free. Address, DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind."
