REGISTER.

Let everybody register who is entitled to do so. There is an entirely new registration this year. Your old registration will not entitle you to vote this year. Unless you register before the books close on the 25th of October you cannot vote this year. The books are now open for registration and will be open for that purpose every day Sunday excepted, until sunset Saturday, October 25th. Let everybody who is entitled to vote under the amendment register at once. Register yourself and get your neighbor also to register.

NOTE FIRST.

The adoption of the Constitutional Amendment made an entirely new registration necessary. The disfranchised negro registered in the campaign of 1900 and if the Legislature had not provided for new registration this year the names of all these negroes would remain on the registration books.

NOTE SECOND.

An entirely new registration this year was necessary to put the amendment in operation in this election.

NOTE THIRD.

Each Democratic paper is requested to keep this in a prominent place in the paper until the registration closes. F. M. SIMMONS, Chairman State Dem. Ex. Com.

The action of Mr. J. P. Wilson, the independent candidate for Register of Deeds, in following up the Democratic candidates at their appointments and asking their audience to hear his announcement is a strange display of brass and cheek. It is the policy and purpose of the Democratic party in Rockingham to conduct their canvass alone and their appointments have been made with this end in view. The funds of the Democratic candidates have been used in making these announcements to get the people together and unless the Democratic Executive Committee consents for Mr. Wilson to be with their candidates he ought to have too much respect for himself than to meddle with their audience and to take advantage of the occasion to make his grievances known. If Mr. Wilson desires to make a canvass of the county and tell of his reasons for deserting the party after he had been defeated for the nomination he ought in her convention and primaries to make his own appointments and get out his own crowd to hear him. This would be fair and would avoid further trouble.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is Seronida—ask us to see our time-honored, and secure a running sore. I went into a general decline. I was persuaded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had taken six bottles my neck was healed, and I have never had any trouble of the kind since. Mrs. K. T. SSVAN, Troy, Ohio.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills will rid you of it, radically and permanently, as they have rid thousands.

This section of the State has great possibilities and resources that are undeveloped and which could be made to yield great dividends. A trolley line penetrating Rockingham and Caswell and connecting up the busy manufacturing centres of Mayodan, Avolan, Spray, Reidsville, Altamahaw and other cotton mills just over in Alamance would yield its stockholders fine revenue and do great good to the sections mentioned. Caswell county has enough unused timber which could then be utilized to make a great enterprise of this kind pay nicely. Who will take this matter in hand and do some real service for the county?

There will be a meeting of the Tobacco Growers' Association at the Capitol in Raleigh on Thursdays night, October 30, 1902. Col. Cunningham desires to have the farmers from all over North Carolina to meet and discuss the tobacco situation at the present time. The outlook is for one of the greatest State Fairs in the history of the State, and it will be wise for the farmers to attend the Fair and witness the exhibits of all kinds from every part of the State.

The Greensboro fair was on this week and attracted the Reidsville people in great numbers. Several hundred from the city attended besides the quota which went from the county. The merchants and business men in Greensboro did fine business this week and scooped in an abundance of the stuff which makes the world go round. If Reidsville had a good fair every fall she could do the same thing, but then she hasn't.

Politicians Fighting.

The first fight of the campaign among the politicians occurred at New Bethel, the Democratic stronghold, Tuesday when the Democratic candidates were there to fill their appointments.

The cause of the fight was a bill between Messrs. J. A. Scales, Democratic candidate for Register of Deeds, and Mr. J. P. Wilson, the independent candidate for the same office, which was had at Iron Works the Saturday before.

At that time after the Democratic candidates had finished their speech making, Mr. Wilson asked the crowd to let him make his announcement. He referred to Mr. Scales as his opponent and Mr. Scales said he was not running against him at all and not to use his name. Mr. Wilson made some statements and Mr. Scales disputed them. Mr. Wilson said he didn't care to have any disturbance and the matter was dropped.

At New Bethel Tuesday Mr. Wilson said Mr. Scales had denied the statements he made at Iron Works and added that if he be given a chance he could prove them. He asked Mr. Newton McCollum if Mr. Scales didn't tell him two years ago that if he was elected then he would not be a candidate again. Mr. McCollum replied in the affirmative and Mr. Scales denounced it as false. He and Mr. McCollum started into fight when bystanders interferred and prevented further trouble. A few seconds after the excitement Mr. Scales fell from the porch on which he was standing and injured his back to such an extent that he was compelled to abandon the canvass. He is now at Wentworth.

Another Candidate

Pleasantville Points.

The farmers have been very busy for the past week preparing the ground for a large crop of wheat.

A number of our people attended the barbecue at Bethel this week.

Mr. G. H. McCollum was on the streets of Intelligence again last Sunday. He and his girl were all smiles, they were together once more.

A large number of our people attended the meeting at the Baptist church near Sharp's Institute on Sunday last.

Mr. John Peay, one of our young gallants, left this morning on the train bound for South Carolina.

We are delighted to see Miss Nora McCollum and Miss Eliza Goolsby in our town to stay awhile.

Marriages Without Money.

The poet and divine, John Donne, who became dean of St. Paul's in 1621, married a daughter of Sir George Moore without the consent of her parents. He was told by his father-in-law that he was not to expect any money from him. The bridegroom went home and wrote this witty note, "John Donne, Anne Donne, undone," which he sent to the angry father, and this had the effect of restoring them to favor. They were very poor at first, but things soon got brighter, and they lived most happily together.

Sir Joshua Reynolds after Flaxman had married told him that this would ruin him as an artist. When the husband related this to his wife she resolved that marriage should make and not mar her husband and to this end further resolved that he should study at home and do everything that he might have done without matrimonial responsibilities. "But how?" asked Flaxman. "Work and economize," rejoined the brave woman. So well did they do this that he found that "swedlock is for an artist's good rather than his harm," and they both discovered that they were made for each other.

A Dumas Story.

The younger Dumas once went to Villers Cotterets, his father's native village, to the unveiling of a statue to the memory of "The Three Musketeers." At the banquet in the evening the younger Dumas sat next to one of the oldest inhabitants who, in perfect good nature, but without any pretence, began to tell a story of Dumas' pere.

"Ah," said he, "he was a gay soul, your father! How we loved him! He was so kind hearted and generous! The last time he came to Villers Cotterets he got a banquet in the Hotel de Ville. He forgot for some momentary to pay the bill. So that fat man over there? He was the butcher who furnished the feast. I should not be surprised if the meat were still owing to him. But that is nothing. He is proud to this day of being the purchaser to Alexandre Dumas."

The story was an ironical commentary on the set speeches of the afternoon. The son was anxious then and there to settle his father's score. Paul Mall Gazette.

Lamb Ground of Samara.

In a book called "The Duke of Holstein's Travels Into Persia and Muscovy," published in 1636, there is an account of a curious vine product called the "lamb ground," which runs as follows: "In the neighborhood of Samara, Russia, there grows a ground which closely resembles a lamb in all its members. It changes place to growing as far as the stalk will reach, and wheresoever it turns the grass withers and dies. This change of the ground plant the Muscovites call 'feeding.' They further say that when it ripens the stalk withers and that the outward half of the ground is then covered with a sort of wool, which they use instead of fur."

Scudler also makes mention of the lamb ground and says that it grows until the grass falls and that it then dies for want of nourishment. Deard says that the wolf is the only animal that will feed upon it.

An Interesting Animal.

Proprietor of Menagerie Walk up, ladies and gentlemen, and see our famous lion, Mustapha. He is as sensible as any human being. A French sergeant once pulled out of his foot a thorn on which he had stepped. What do you think the noble creature did? It devoured, one by one, in order of rank, all the superior officers of our regiment until the latter found him self promoted to the grade of colonel. Walk in, gentlemen, only a penny. From the German.

The Hopping Rheumatism.

"Yes," said the old man, "I heard lak he wuz give over later de han's er Satan, en Satan 'fined him wid de hoppin' rheumatism. First at wuz in one place, en den it wuz another, but he wuz ter prayin' ter be relieve' of it, en one day, whilst it wuz a hoppin' fun one foot for another, it hopped into his wooden leg, en he pulled off de leg en 'thowed it in de fire, en it en de rheumatism wuz totterally consumed." Atlanta Constitution.

A Generous Empress.

It is said that one morning at breakfast a general related to the emperor the misfortune of a brother officer who "because he had not 50,000 francs must be dishonored." While the emperor questioned further particulars Eugene flew to her room and returning with a package of banknotes, said, "Take them, general, and never tell me his name." And his name the generous empress never knew.

Forethought.

"Right here," said the surveyor, "will be a good place for your saw-mill. The county line will run exactly through the middle of it."

"Not much," said the pioneer. "We'll have it all on one side or the other. When a man gets sawed in two, I don't want no two corners' inquests over him."—Chicago Tribune.

An Ingersoll Story.

John W. Mackay once invited Robert G. Ingersoll to visit the Comstock mines. As the cage descended to the furnace heat at the bottom of the shaft of one of the mines Mr. Ingersoll said, gasping for air, "Privately I always believed there was a hades somewhere, but I never dreamed it could be so hot."

A Coveted Receipt.

Agent—Here, sir, is a book that should be in every family. It contains a receipt for everything, sir—everything.

Cholly—Give me three copies. If it has a receipt for my tailor's bill, I'll take five.

Mr. Blount Pleased With Reidsville.

Henry Blount, in writing the Raleigh Post of his recent visit to Reidsville, speaks in these complimentary terms of two of the town's beautiful visitors, the Third Regiment Band, and the city and her people in general:

"It was our good fortune to meet the beautiful Miss Adelaide Godshaw, of Tryon, and the bewitching and fascinating Miss Ethel Wright of Florida, around each one of whom a thousand witcheries cluster in all of their conquering and enslaving powers, and they make victims of all they meet, for Cupid lurks in their sensitive smiles, and in the witchery of their many charms he finds a quiver, filled with death's arrows for his fateful work."

And the next best and sweetest thing in Reidsville is the admirable Third Regiment Band, one of the finest musical organizations in the State, for under the skillful instruction of that superb leader and admirable musician, the really talented and finely equipped Prof. Kirkman it has reached a high state of efficiency, and no band in the State can furnish such fine and exquisite music.

And in conclusion we say that Reidsville is a most charming place, and is the home of some of the prettiest and most attractive ladies this water has ever met. Vision of whose charms will often rise before us, and glisten as beautifully as those rose-wreathed islands that sleep upon the bosom of the ocean, hugged in the embrace of rippling billows, and kissed by the glimmer of falling star beams.

The Watchword of Women.

Modesty is woman's watchword. Whatever threatens her delicate sense of modesty, frightens her. For this reason many a woman permits diseases of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant questioning, offensive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments, which some physicians find necessary. Doubtless thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have been led to do so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repugnant to modesty. Any sick woman may write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., in perfect confidence, all letters being treated strictly private and sacredly confidential, and all answers being sent in plain envelopes with no advertising or other printing upon them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been long heralded as "a God send to women." It makes weak women strong and sick women well. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.
