WALK-OUT AT ROANOKE.

Norfolk and Western Blacksmiths Go on Strike.

Roanoke, Va., May 5.—All the blacksmiths employed in the big shops of the Norfolk and Western Railway Company in this city went on strike to-day.

One hundred and fifty men laid down their tools and walked out here, and the blacksmiths in other Norfolk and Western shops along the lines of road also struck. Trouble arose over a question of permitting a nonunion man to continue at work in the Roanoke shops after the union men had protested. The strike may involve several thousand men if it is not settled before sympathizers decide to follow the blacksmiths.

The blacksmiths are noncommittal about their fight with the railroad, but it is known that the strike has been brought on because of the presence of a nonunion man in the Roanoke shops. P. H. Cummings, general organizer of the American Federation of Labor and first vice president of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths and Helpers, has been in the city for three weeks trying to get an audience with any of the higher officials.

The blacksmiths have made repeated efforts to have a conference with the officials, but according to Mr. Cummings, have been unsuccessful. As a last resort they walked out. W. H. Lewis, superintendent of motive power for the Norfolk and Western, and in whose hands the matter rests, is out of the city and, therefore, no statements can be obtained from him. Inquiry at the general office of the Norfolk and Western here in reference to the strike was made, but the officials claim that they are not cognizant of the facts in the case, and that as superintendent Lewis, who has charge of that division of the work, is the one who will have to be dealt with, they have no information for the public regarding the situation. All of the heads of the departments of the Norfolk and Western are in Washington attending the International Congress of Railroad Officials. Whether the matter can be adjusted before they return or whether it will necessitate the officials' return here at once cannot be learned.

HIGH POINT.

Newly Elected Board of Aldermen Sworn In—Marriage of Miss Blair to Mr. Stilwell.

High Point, N. C., May 5.—The newly elected board of aldermen were sworn in last night by Squire Johns. After the organization was completed Mayor Wrenn appointed the following standing committees: Finance, J. H. Millis and A. M. Rankin; Street, J. A. Turner and W. P. Pickett; Water, W. P. Pickett and Gurney Kearns; Light, J. E. Kirkman and J. H. Millis; Cemetery, D. C. Aldridge and A. N. Rankin; Police, A. M. Rankin and D. C. Aldridge; Firemen G. H. Kearns and Dr. J. R. Reitzel; Sanitary, J. R. Reitzel and G. H. Kearns.

Mr. Arthur Lee Stilwell, of Charlotte, and Miss Mary Eliza Blair were united in marriage Wednesday at the home of her parents at Progress, Rev. Eli Reece, Pastor of the Friends church of this place officiating.

A rather singular thing happened in the election of the new board of aldermen of High Point in that with the exception of one man all live on Main street—Miss Helen Snow has returned from Stetson University in Deland Florida where she pursued a special course in music and incidentally spent the winter months. She is accompanied home by Miss Esther Palmer of New York, who will visit Miss Snow several weeks.—Mrs. Ellen Jarrell and Mr. Jodie Cox are both engaged in building modern dwellings on Commerce street.—The Daily Enterprise of this city has enlarged in size, caused from the patronage of an appreciative public. The daily since its initial number has met with success and keeping pace with the town's growth as is always Editor Farris' way of doing things.

CLIMATE ROUGH ON ANTS.

All the Insects Imported to Kill Boll Weevil Perished.

Washington, May 5.—The experts who are engaged in fighting the cotton boll weevil in Texas and Louisiana place little confidence in the report that a bug has been found near Waco that is eating the deprecator. "These reports are common early in every season when efforts are made to influence the market," said Dr. L. O. Howard, the chief of the Bureau of Entomology.

"All the Guatemalan ants that were left outdoors in Texas last Winter perished. Only those that we protected survived. Either the extremely cold winter or the inability of the insect to adapt itself to a more notherly climate did the work. Dr. Cook of this bureau is now in Guatemala collecting a large number of ants, and we shall make another painstaking effort to establish the species in Texas."

FRAUD ORDER ISSUED

Inspectors Say They've Unearthed Another Store Cotton Scheme.

Washington, May 5.—A fraud order has been issued by the Post Office Department against Edward T. Hunter & Co., of Philadelphia and Newark, and A. J. Warner & Co., of Washington, the latter having been operating in conjunction with the former. The Post Office Inspectors declare that the scheme of these concerns is identical with that of the Store Cotton Company, whose affairs are now under investigation in the Pennsylvania courts.

Hunter & Co. is said to be the name assumed by one A. J. Barry. Barry is alleged to have operated some time ago as a broker under the name of Morton & Co., at 50 Broadway, New York. The police, the postal people say, compelled him to close up, whereupon he transferred his operations to Philadelphia. He later removed to Newark and then back again to Philadelphia. The mail of Hunter & Co. was withheld by reason of a fraud order issued by the department.

The inspectors obtained a good description of Barry, and then visited the offices in this city of A. J. Warner & Co., where they identified Barry as Warner. They caused his arrest April 23 and he is now held in $1,000 bail.

A fraud order has also been issued against Frank Gardiner of North Pembroke, N. Y., who seems to be something of a joker. Gardiner advertised that for 25 cents he would send a $2 bill, and would give $25 to any person who could detect it, and who would pronounce positively that it was not genuine. The persons who sent 25 cents received eight receipts for 25 cents each, which Gardiner assured his dupes constituted a $2 bill. The postal authorities have forbidden postmasters to deliver mail to Frank Gardiner of North Pembroke, N. Y.

MAYOR FORBIDS RAFFLES.

Proclamation Issued at Newport News Prohibiting Gambling at Fair.

Newport News, Va., May 5.—Mayor Buxton to-night issued a statement, in which he announced that hereafter no raffles would be permitted at fairs and bazaars held in this city. The Elk's bazaar closed last night. After stating that both precedent and lack of criminal intent led him to believe the violators of the law should not have been held amenable in the instance called to his attention, he says:

"Since, however, the statute does in terms embrace all raffles and lottery for whatever purpose conducted, with the end in view that no injustice be done and that every one be put on guard, I desire to state that in future all raffles or lotteries, for whatever purpose conducted, will be deemed to be in violation of the statute, so that the proper tribunal may pass upon the intent and proper application of the statute."

The statement of the mayor was shown to the Rev. E. T. Wellford, who had brought the matter to the attention of the mayor and asked him to act. Mr. Wellford stated that the matter is quite satisfactory to him. He stated that he had never at any time desired the prosecution of any one, but that his only desire was to have gambling stopped in the city.

BISHOP POTTER'S BOYHOOD.

He Recalls the Time When He Hoisted Doughnuts On a String.

Philadelphia, May 5.—Bishop Henry C. Potter gave reminiscences this evening of the days when he was a school boy in Philadelphia. He addressed the annual meeting of the alumni of the Episcopal Academy, at Locust and Juniper Streets. When he was a student the Academy was at the southwest corner of Twelfth and Filbert streets. He said:

"Our head master in those days, the Rev. Dr. George Emlen Hare, was something of a disciplinarian. He insisted on the boys going up one stairway and down another. The lad who descended the wrong one was certain to encounter the Principal at the landing. I was frequently guilty of such offenses.

"My punishment was incarceration in one of the upper rooms of the building. I will remember how I let down some twine to the school yard on such occasions. The boys below fastened doughnuts to the string, which I speedily pulled up to my window and enjoyed.

"How well I recollect dear old Dr. Hare saying to a lad who could not sing a note: 'Smith, I observe that you are not singing.'"

"To which the other replied: 'Well, Sir, I can't sing, but I'm endeavoring to make a joyful noise.'"

The academy was established in 1785, and the Bishop's father, Bishop Alonzo Potter of Pennsylvania, reorganized it in 1846.

SMITHS MAY GO FREE.

New York Judge Dismisses Conspiracy Indictment.

New York, May 5.—The indictments against J. Morgan Smith and his wife, Julia Smith, sister of Nan Patterson, for conspiracy to extort money from Bookmaker Caesar Young, were dismissed by Judge Foster in General Sessions today. In making his decision Judge Foster gave the district attorney permission to re-submit the case to the grand jury. This is Judge Foster's decision:

The grand jury discloses no evidence whatever of conspiracy on the part of the defendants. The grand jury had no right to find an indictment when there was no evidence to support it. I can only explain the fact that an indictment was found by the theory that the defendants, who were without the state were needed as witnesses in an important case.

The grand jury forgot both the law and its judicial position, and feeling the end justified the means, indicted the defendants that they might be brought here by extradition.

Herbert R. Limburger, counsel for the Smiths, said to-day that he would not make a motion to have the order entered until Monday. By that time District Attorney Jerome will have returned from Albany. In the absence of Mr. Jerome, it was said to-day, nothing would be done as to preparing to reinstate the Smiths until he had returned.

On the same day it will be decided whether or not Nan Patterson will be released on nominal bail or her own recognizance. Julia Smith said to-day that she was not in a hurry to leave the Tombs, at least not until her sister went with her. Mr. Jerome will make no decision until he has had a talk with Mr. Rand.

Nan Patterson was around the Tombs to-day fully recovered from the effects of the trying siege of the trial. Her lawyers said that they had been promised bail up to $50,000 for her release.

Nan Patterson saw her father to-day, and she told him that as soon as she was released she would go to Washington to see her mother. She received a number of letters to-day with expressions of sympathy. A Brooklyn theatrical man has offered her $750 a week to appear at his theater.

SUICIDE WITH SHOESTRING.

Miss Van Ranst, Her Money, Gone, Strangles Herself in Flat.

New York, May 5.—Miss Mamie Van Ranst, a daughter of C. W. Van Ranst, a publisher, who died last August at his home in West Eighty-fourth Street, was found dead yesterday in her apartment at 143 St. Nicholas Avenue, having committed suicide by strangling herself. The woman was forty-four years old and had never married.

It is thought that she committed suicide several days ago, as she had not been seen since last Saturday. In the apartment with the dead woman was her pet bulldog, who was almost dead from hunger. In a letter she said she had decided to commit suicide because what money her father left her had given out.

Mary E. Holmes, a negro woman, who took care of the apartment, went there on Saturday, but was unable to get in. Miss Van Ranst was seen earlier in the day by the janitor and his wife. Yesterday afternoon the negro woman went again to the apartment, and when there was no response to the ringing of the bell she called the janitor, Thomas Lynch, who had a pass key. In the parlor they found the woman dead on the floor. Around her neck was a shoe string.

In a letter addressed to the negro woman Miss Van Ranst requested that she take charge of her affairs and take what money was left in the bank for the funeral expenses. What remained and the furniture, she directed, should go to the Holmes woman.

BORING MOUNTAIN TUNNEL.

Southern Railway Making Extension in Tennessee.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 5.—After a postponement of three days owing to a failure of securing the right of way for the property on which the approaches to the entrance of the Lookout Mountain tunnel will be constructed, the first work towards boring the hole through the big mountain will commence at the east side of the mountain. All the deeds to the property over which the right of way will pass have been signed, and the few remaining preliminaries will not long delay the work.

The Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railroad attempted to block the work by purchasing the land through which the new line of the Southern will run. The Nashville road controlled a number of options on most of the property near the mountain and when it became known that the Southern intended to build the extension an attempt was made to close the options. This move was blocked by the Southern officials, however, who instituted condemnation proceedings against the property owners and it is thought there will be no further delay in the work.
