FARMER DESERTS WIFE.

John Trent Leaves Wife and Five Children in Company of Another. The police authorities here yesterday were notified to be on the watch for John Trent, a farmer residing near Cascade, this county, who, it is alleged, Sunday night deserted his wife and a large family to elope with Missouri Gauling, known as "Za" Gauling, an unmarried woman, who has been living for some time at the home of Trent.

Information of the sensational elopement was furnished the police by James, an uncle of John Trent who is missing. James Trent became interested in the case on account of the fact that the eloping party left in his wagon, drawn by his two mules. The members of the eloping party are as follows:

John Trent, aged 45 years. Missouri Gauling, aged 25 years, and alleged paramour of Trent, and her child, a boy about 18 months old. Alice Trent, aged 16 years, and daughter of John Trent. Hardin Chumney, an orphan boy, 16 years of age, who has been working on the Trent farm.

Landslide Causes Death of Workmen Near Winston-Salem.

Tuesday morning about 10 o'clock six men were killed and one badly injured near Winston-Salem, in a landslide on the Southbound. The men were working in the Salem creek valley, where a 600 ft. railroad bridge is being constructed. They were 50 to death. All were foreigners except excavation was going on, when the tons of earth came down on them.

Club Meets With Miss Reid.

The Reading Club held its weekly meeting with Miss Henrietta Reid. Three interesting numbers were given. "The Alhambra," by Miss Reid, told of the ancient fortress and palace occupied by the Moorish kings. It is situated in Southwestern Spain. A region rich in historical interest. Not far distant is Seville, where Queen Isabella gave her jewels to Columbus to furnish the means to make his voyages. Close by is Granada, the birthplace of Eugenia, Empress of France. Besides his description of the Alhambra, Irving gives several romances as told by him by the few surviving Moors. These stories give an insight into their charming but superstitious characters.

Miss Reid served a two-course lunch with coffee and home-made candies. Mrs. R. W. Allen, of Sanford, was a guest of the Club. On next Tuesday afternoon the Club will meet with Miss Katharine Ellington.

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 16.—Miss Rose Few, of Hendersonville, will not wed C. F. Tomlinson, of High Point, December 8, as was announced. Instead, last night at Hendersonville, in the presence of three persons, she was married by Rev. R. B. Grinnan to Michael Schenck, former mayor of Hendersonville. The marriage arrangements, it is to be presumed, were hastily made, as the return of the bride's father, Dr. Few, who was out of town, was not awaited, and the news of the marriage comes as a general surprise.

The collection by the government of $81,000 assessments made by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue against T. M. Angle, former president of the Dry Fork Distilling Company, for excess production of whiskey on which it is alleged the tax had not been paid, and to recover bonds of $5,500 from the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, of Baltimore, is the object of a civil suit which was begun in the Federal court at Danville yesterday.

COMMITTS SUICIDE

A. B. PASCHAL ENDS ALL IN WIFE'S PRESENCE.

Hearing Report of Pistol She Caught Him, and He Died in Her Embrace.

Mr. A. B. Paschal, a well known young man of Reidsville, placed a pistol to his head Wednesday night and fired a ball into his brain and died a few minutes afterwards in his wife's arms. No cause is assigned by friends and relatives for the deed and explanations cannot be given. The young man was in his bedroom at his home on Cemetery street, playing with his little baby. His wife took the child from his arms to prepare it for sleep. Turning face about to reach for the baby's gown she heard the report of the pistol, and saw the smoking weapon in her husband's hands. Mrs. Paschal laid the child down and went to her husband, taking him into her arms.

When neighbors and friends reached the house the young man was then dead, but Mrs. Paschal, so overcome by the great tragedy which had been enacted, fainted, and did not know of the fatality until yesterday.

Mr. Paschal married a niece of Mr. J. H. Burton, and the union has been blessed with one child. He had been an industrious young man and had provided a pretty home in the Eastern section of the town and so far as known his home life was a happy one. For a number of years he has been an employe at J. H. Burton's store, and a part of the management of the business has devolved upon his shoulders.

Friends who were intimate with him say they had noticed during the past several months that young Paschal was moody and at times seemed to be brooding over some trouble, but so far as we can learn no one has ascertained any cause for this. He had been working constantly at his post and nothing unusual about his conduct had been noticed by his assistants at the store.

Tuesday morning he opened the store at the usual time and unlocked the safe. He placed his key to the cash drawer in the safe and left the door key in the cash drawer under a counter. He left the store about 8 o'clock and did not return. Other clerks in the store supposed he had gone hunting and were not exercised about his absence. Nothing more was seen of him until Wednesday afternoon about 6 o'clock when he returned to his home. When supper was ready his wife called him and he told her that he did not feel like eating. After Mrs. Paschal had finished her meal she asked him again to come into the dining-room and try to eat something, adding that it might cause him to feel better. He again declined, and after playing with his baby he laid down for a few minutes, soon arising, when the pistol shot was heard by Mrs. Paschal and her sister.

Mr. Paschal was 33 years old and a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Paschal of High Point. There are three surviving brothers, R. L. Paschal, of Altoona, Penn.; W. J. Paschal, Nashville, Tenn.; Hassel Paschal, of High Point. There are five living sisters, Mrs. J. W. Martin, of High Point, Mrs. R. L. Harville, of Reidsville, Mrs. John Jones, of Greensboro, Mrs. Fred Holt, of High Point, and Ollie Paschal.

Croup is most prevalent during the dry cold weather of the early winter months. Parents of young children should be prepared for it. All that is needed is a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Many mothers are never without it in their homes. It has never disappointed them. Sold by G. W. Brittain, druggist.

Sheets Goes to the Pen. A compromise was effected in the United States Court in Danville in the case of George Sheets, charged with violations of the revenue laws. Before the evidence had been concluded an agreement between the opposing counsel was made, with the result that Judge McDowell sentenced Sheets to serve a term of one year and one day in the Federal prison, and to pay a fine of three hundred dollars. Sheets, it is alleged, was connected with the Dry Fork Distilling Company and aided in the distribution of illicit whiskey. He had a saloon here until State prohibition was adopted.

Drew Black, colored, who escaped from the county convict camp several months ago, was caught in Danville the other day. He is again at his old post, building a good road from the county seat to Reidsville.

COUNTY TEACHERS' MEETING.

Supl. Hickerson Makes Announcement For Gathering at Wentworth.

Dear Teacher: After a conference with our Secretary, we have decided to call a meeting of the Teachers' Association on Saturday, Nov. 27th, at Wentworth. This meeting was to have been called on Nov. 13th, but court was in session at Wentworth. We want to make this meeting the best we have ever had, and the indications are that we will have all the teachers of the county present. This is to be a very important meeting. Besides matters in reference to the school work, we want to arrange for the Reading Course. Please do not let anything interfere with your attending. The program will be interesting and instructive. Mr. C. L. Brogden, State Inspector of Elementary Schools, has written me that he will be with us. If you should go home for Thanksgiving, dismiss your school for Friday also, and arrange to come to the Teachers' Association. If we can have a full attendance we hope to be able to get our Board of Education to make a small appropriation to aid us in getting a professional library for the use of the teachers. The roll of the schools of the county will be called by the secretary, and when the name of your school is called please be ready to answer. The Association will begin promptly at 10 o'clock. Assuring you that I am always ready to serve you, I am, L. N. HICKERSON, County Superintendent.

D. W. Busick Dead

Madison, N. V. 17.—Mr. D. W. Busick, one of the best known citizens of Rockingham county, died here tonight at 7 o'clock, aged 68 years. For several years Mr. Busick had been confined to his home with a lung trouble and had not been on the street for over a year. For several weeks his death has been momentarily expected.

Mr. Busick was a veteran of the Civil War, having been a member of Scales Reg., N. C. Vols. He was a valiant soldier and was always found in the thickest of the fray. At the first day's fighting at Gettysburg he left a leg.

He was a true Democrat, and from December, 1870, to December 22, 1874, was Register of Deeds of Rockingham county. April 29, 1873, he was married to Miss Fannie Belle Lindsay, daughter of the late J. M. Lindsay. To this union were born five children, all of whom are living in Madison except one.

These are Mrs. R. C. Matheson, Mr. C. B. Busick, Mrs. C. O. McMichael, of Wentworth, Mr. J. O. Busick and Miss Daisy Busick. June, 1883, Mr. Busick moved to Madison, where he engaged in the mercantile business and prospered, having quite a good estate.

The funeral will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock by Rev. H. A. Brown, of Winston-Salem.

All hope was abandoned for over 300 miners entombed in the St. Paul mine when fire broke out anew in the shaft, sending the cage of rescuers hurriedly to top. A fire hose turned into the opening had little effect, as the entrance had to be sealed, thus cutting off all chances of escape.

While the legal machinery of the government moves slowly, the air of uncertainty which surrounds the so-called sugar fraud cases is interpreted by those who have followed the progress of corporation investigation in this country to foreshadow an inquiry which may rank with the insurance upheaval of 1905.

Rev. J. P. Rodgers, field agent of the Children's Home, of Winston-Salem, will report collections amounting to $25,000 to the session of the Western North Carolina Conference of the M. E. Church, South. He began work the middle of December. The plan is now to raise $75,000 and no difficulty is foreseen in doing this, as the people of the Western part of the State are responding generously.

GREENSBORO DISTRICT HAS GOOD REPORT.

Rev. Dr. W. R. Ware, presiding elder of this district, says his report is very satisfactory financially and spiritually, and that during the year over 1,100 members have been received in the twenty-two churches in the district. He states that 97 per cent. of all the pastors' salaries have been paid and 87 per cent. of the assessments for benevolences have also been paid. During the year 137,000 has been expended in new buildings and improvements and three new churches have been built and three churches have been dedicated. In addition to this a $20,000 Sunday-school building is in course of construction at West Market Street Methodist church, Greensboro.

IN A BRIEF FORM

THE NEWS SINCE OUR LAST ISSUE CONDENSED.

Sparks Caught Hot From The Wires, Dealing With News Of Various Sections.

It is probable that the next Virginia Legislature will take some action forbidding the game of football in that State.

Governor Haskell, and the others indicted with him for alleged fraud in the Muskogee town lot cases must go to trial.

E. C. Duncan is to receive one of the assistant postmaster generalships, according to information given out at the department.

Hon. J. G. Carlisle, long a member of Congress from Kentucky, Speaker of the House, Senator and Secretary of the Treasury in Cleveland's cabinet, is ill in a New York hospital.

The Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Newport News adopted a resolution putting itself on record as solemnly protesting against football in its present form.

Thomas J. Crews, a Durham man, in a fit of somnambulism, walked out of the window of the second story in a building at Timmonsville, Ga., and was killed in the fall to the cement walk below.

The official referee of the initial run over the Herald-Journal's national highway, after accompanying the motorists over the entire route, has pronounced the Guilford county roads the best traversed during the run.

Harry Thaw visited New York as a witness in Allan McClain Hamilton's suit for $7,000 as alienist fees at the first Thaw murder trial. Thaw was accompanied by the Matteawan Asylum superintendent and two guards.

The nineteen-year-old son of Rufus Brown, of High Point, met instant death Monday morning. He was engaged in cutting a tree and had a gun lying close by. As the tree was falling he picked up his gun, which went off, the lead entering his neck.

Grant Brigman, who was given four years and six months on the roads of Buncombe county for killing his uncle, John Brigman, hardly got to the convict camp before efforts began to get him pardoned. It is said that the jury started the move to get him off.

Dependent on the death of his son, and eleven employes in the celluloid factory fire in Brooklyn last week, Robert Morrison, head of the firm, committed suicide by gas. He had just been released from the hospital, where he underwent treatment for serious burns.
