County News as Told By Correspondents

MT. CARMEL.

Now, Brother Farmer, have you not a few acres that could be turned this fall? Remember, on nearly every farm there are fields that have a growth of wild vegetation on them, fields where wheat, oats or hay was grown. Many of them will remain idle until next spring when they will be broken and cultivated. All such fields should be turned as soon as possible, preferably before frost. If all this vegetation that is growing on the land is turned under it will add quite a lot of fertility to the land. Then any kind of vegetation turned under is just so much humus added to the land.

To turn under such weed and grass is just like putting money in a savings bank.

If the land is not plowed until next spring all the vegetation now growing on it will have lost the greater part of its plant food. If plowed now all this vegetation will be decayed, thus making the plant food it contained available for growing crops next summer.

Then the soil will be in a better condition to withstand a drouth if it is filled with decaying vegetable matter.

Vegetation turned under while green will decay much faster than if let get dry and hard. Now, if it is profitable to plow under a crop of vegetation this fall would it not be just as profitable to plow under another one next spring.

After we have gone to the trouble to plow the weed and grass under we surely can go to just a little more trouble and sow some winter cover crop on the land. It will keep the land from washing and furnish more vegetable matter to be turned under next spring.

We can do this and not interfere with our crop next summer at all. Some such practice as this is the only way that a permanent agriculture can be maintained. Of course, where live stock is kept and the manure returned to the soil it will not be necessary to plow under so much vegetation, but we plow it under then, only it is then in the shape of manure instead of grass and hay.

Miss Smith of Reidsville is teaching the Cobb school. She assumed her duties Monday. Miss Smith is boarding in the home of Mrs. J. W. Lumsford.

Rev. Geo. W. Oldham will be installed as pastor of Bethesda Presbyterian church next Sunday morning. The services will be in charge of Rev. H. S. Bradshaw of Hillsboro and Mr. R. W. Morphis of Reidsville.

Mrs. J. O. Fitzgerald of Peiham, won the first prize in the Greensboro News' circulation contest—a 1916 model Cole auto, valued at $1,850. She had more than 12,000,000 votes to her credit. While The Sentinel is not strong on such contests—having gone through the experience—we congratulate Mrs. Fitzgerald on winning the handsome trophy.

Hank Barbee and wife, Ella, who have figured conspicuously in Justice Brandon's court, were on hand again Monday. The two are not living together, but they met in the road one day recently, and although Hank is no physical match for his spouse, he came off victorious this time. There were no witnesses, and the court had to judge between the veracity of the two combatants. Ella's character weighed heavily against her, and Hank was "set free." Ella was given to understand it would be best for her to "clear out."

It is a lamentable statistical fact that Caswell's population has been decreasing for a number of decades at a rate of something more than 100 per year. That is, for every ten years that goes by we are losing more than 1,000 of our population. If something is not done to check this loss, we are soon to find the county in a pitiful condition indeed. Each year it costs more and more to finance the county, while the burden falls more heavily on those who remain. There is, as we see it, but one feasible way to stop this blood drainage and build up a prosperous, self-supporting county. That way lies through better roads. Shall we or shall we not choose the road that leads to our material salvation?—Caswell Sentinel.

RAWLINGS, VA.

Many of our people are moving to the enterprising town of City Point to work in the DuPont powder plant.

Mr. E. L. Ellington, who moved here last fall from Reidsville, made eighty barrels of corn on eight acres of land. Many North Carolinians will think Mr. Ellington made an excellent yield, but some of the older residents say that have seen twenty barrels per acre grown on the same land.

We are glad to welcome to Lawrenceville Mr. J. W. Roberts of Reidsville who is in the warehouse business there.

Miss Martha Clary narrowly escaped death last Saturday when she became excited and jumped from an automobile that was running at the rate of forty miles an hour.

NEGRO ATTEMPTS ASSAULT ON FORMER REIDSVILLE WOMAN

A negro giving his name as Robert Blanks, aged about 25 years, was arrested in Winston Thursday morning on the charge of attempting to criminally assault Mrs. B. A. Manion, a daughter of Rural Carrier Lasley of Reidsville. The Sentinel says:

Blanks was taken before Mrs. Manion by Sergeant Thompson and she identified him as being the negro who made the attempt to assault her. The prisoner was then committed to jail to await trial.

When seen at the home of her neighbor this afternoon, Mrs. Manion gave a Sentinel representative a statement regarding Blanks' going to her home. She said he rang the door bell and when she opened the door he walked into the hall, holding a package in his hand. He asked Mrs. Manion who lived there and if she knew where another lady resided, saying that the package was for her. The negro then asked for a match. Mrs. Manion stepped in the room, picked up a match box on the mantel and handed a match to Blanks. He lit a cigarette and then advanced into the room.

Walking up to Mrs. Manion he drew his pistol and exclaimed: "You are alone and if you halloo or make any noise I will kill you." Following this threat, the negro pushed Mrs. Manion across the bed, on which lay her one-month-old baby. Mrs. Manion says that she screamed and arose from the bed, when Blanks caught hold of her again and pushed her on the bed. This time she fell on the feet of her infant, and the mother gave another outcry for help.

The negro, in the opinion of Mrs. Manion, became frightened. Anyhow, he rushed out of the house and was soon out of sight. Mrs. Manion does not think he was in the house longer than five minutes.

Officers were at once notified. They soon made the arrest. When captured the negro gave evidence of one who had been running. Blanks protested vigorously, saying that a negro named Frank was the one who went to Mr. Manion's home; that he (Blanks) had stopped at a warehouse and sent the other negro to deliver the package.

Mr. Manion, who was notified soon after the attempted assault, is book-keeper for the Imperial Tobacco Company, and is a splendid citizen.

Owing to the intense high feeling prevailing here at the attempted assault, Blanks was taken to Greensboro by local officers and lodged in the Guilford county jail to await trial. The officers anticipate no trouble but are not taking any chances.

Would You Believe It?

A THERMOMETER on the wall, head high, and one on the base board of your room will show 10 to 20 degrees variation in winter, in a home heated by the average base burner.

A difference of twenty degrees of heat will turn comfort to discomfort.

Twenty degrees difference is more than enough to give the baby and children severe colds and worse. Heat up this cold floor, this danger zone, with and make it a safe playground for the little ones.

COLE'S Brilliant Radiant Hard Coal Heater

Of easy draft control, it pours out a flood of warmth and comfort, hour after hour.

Every square inch of its highly polished steel jacket and boiler steel bottom is a heat radiating surface.

Not a particle of heat is wasted. Not a particle is absorbed by heavy, useless cast iron. Nor is there danger from coal gas, that much feared by-product given off by every heater not equipped with Cole's Hot Blast System for consuming gas.

When you buy this heater, you are buying one with a record. You are getting a heater that produces results.

That is the only kind we are selling. Come for yours today.

See that the name "Cole's" is on the front door. None genuine without it.
