

For Winter Colds

You need a real tonic. Strength is required to overcome the trouble. Let that tonic be one that is specially valuable in catarrhal conditions, and you can conquer the cold. A cold is acute catarrh; it may become chronic. Chronic catarrh frequently becomes systemic, involving the stomach and the intestinal tract as well as the nose or throat. It means stagnation.

PERUNA IS INVIGORATION

It clears away the waste matter, dispels the inflammation and tones up the system. For forty-five years it has been used in catarrh by thousands of grateful sufferers, who willingly tell the world of their relief. Peruna's long history of helpfulness is the best evidence that it is what you should take.

Men Feel Tired, Too

While much is said about tired women it must be remembered that men also pay the penalty of over-work. When the kidneys are weak, inactive or sluggish, when one feels tired out and miserable, has the "blues", lacks energy and ambition, Foley Kidney Pills are tonic and strengthening. They act quickly. At Gardner's.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Medicine, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is a constitutional remedy, is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One Hundred Dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

LINER ENDS EXCITING TRIP OF 30,710 MILES

Bringing with her a tale of an adventurous voyage of 30,710 miles, the Savannah liner City of Savannah has just arrived at Tompkinsville, near New York. The trip just completed took the 351 foot coastwise vessel twice around the Cape of Good Hope.

The City of Savannah left New York last December on a trip which took her around the Cape of Good Hope to Durban, Rangoon and Bombay.

After leaving Calcutta on May 11 the Savannah sailed through the Indian ocean and was proceeding through the Mozambique channel, between the African coast and the island of Madagascar, when her forehold burst into flames. With a cargo of hides the vessel raced for an East African port. All the time the fires from the hides were almost unbearable.

At Lourenco Marques the fire was extinguished after the engine room and the fore parts of the liner were flooded. Then the Savannah settled eight feet in the mud. The water swelled the hides so that there was danger of the vessel's sides bursting. All hands were set to work discharging the cargo, and this was delayed by the breaking of the cranes.

When the hides, especially the elephant hides, were placed on the wharf 5,000 natives protested to the health authorities at the odors which were given off. When the protest was being considered the Savannah steamed for Cape Town with the hides, which were still valuable. Then she coaled and headed for New York.

FINDS SON MOURNED AS DEAD FOR FOURTEEN YEARS

Carried away by his father fourteen years ago, following a separation of his parents when he was but seven years old, fate played an important part at Dayton, O., in the reunion of Clarence Hecker with his mother, who years ago mourned him as dead.

It was while working in a munition factory at Elmira, N. Y., that Hecker received a telegram from his father conveying the news of his grandfather's death and went to Lewisburg, O., to attend the funeral. All these years the boy had been taught that his mother was dead, and while at Lewisburg he learned that his mother was living in Dayton. His mother, after continuous search for her son, had long ago given him up as dead or lost.

Hecker went to Dayton and met his mother. She probably will return to Elmira with her son.

Jacob Hysler, Eighty-four, Gives Up Shop In Hotel Manhattan.

After sixty years of barbering Jacob Hysler, for twenty years proprietor of the shop in the Hotel Manhattan, New York city, has retired at the age of eighty-four with a comfortable fortune. Years ago he owned the barber shop in the Windsor hotel and in his time has shaved some of the most famous men in the country.

Among his steady patrons are Mayor Mitchell, George McAneny, William and Percy Rockefeller, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt has frequently had his face massaged and hair styled, and Hysler also has trimmed the beard of Charles E. Hughes. He has had as customers General Grant, Jay Gould and other famous men now dead.

Hysler has been paying $10,000 a year rent, and he will turn the place over to Eugene Schmalz, his nephew and manager, on a sublease calling for $12,000 a year. Hysler's fortune is reported to be well over $300,000.

Harold Van Boren, twenty years old, has given up his job as bellboy in the Rockwell House, Glens Falls, N. Y., and is on his way to New York to claim a fortune said to be about $6,000,000, left by an uncle.

The former bellboy lived with his uncle until several months ago, when he went to the White mountains to work in a hotel. He went to Glens Falls and worked under the assumed name of Herman Schwere. He has just learned that a search was being made for him.

London Charwoman Stops at Starching Consulate's Emblem.

An American flag with pink stars and otherwise peculiarly picturesque in appearance has been hanging from a pole in front of the American consulate in London. A laundress hired to wash and iron the consulate's flags had boiled them, thus causing the colors to run.

George Washington, who is Consul General Skinner's colored messenger and who saw service in the Tenth cavalry during the Spanish war, upbraided the laundress, who replied she had even thought of putting starch in the flags. To this Washington indignantly replied:

"Madam, that's one flag that doesn't need any starch in it."

The consulate is appealing to Washington for new flags. London soot and fogs use up about six flags yearly.

BLAMES AUTOS, NOT GERMS, FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

Automobiles, not germs, are to blame for the epidemic of infantile paralysis that has swept the country, according to the assertion made by Dr. Thomas F. Hartington, deputy commissioner of labor of Massachusetts, in an address before the annual convention at Cincinnati, O., of the American Public Health association.

"Infantile paralysis is due to chemical agents—namely, gases and fumes given off in the atmosphere by the combustion of oils and greases used in automobiles," said Dr. Hartington. "Cases of gas and fuel poisoning and cases of infantile paralysis agree in every essential."

"In infantile paralysis we are dealing with a chemical agent and not a micro-organism. Infants and old persons are more susceptible to the malady. Although infantile paralysis has been epidemic for years, its prevalence in epidemic form dates from the introduction and wide use of the automobile."

OVER FOUR HUNDRED MILLION EGGS ARE HELD IN STORAGE

Alderman George Pretzel of Chicago has presented to the health committee of the city council some facts concerning eggs, their high prices and the apparent reasons therefor.

Alderman Pretzel produced a report showing there are 1,250,000 cases of eggs (thirty dozen in a case, or 450,000,000 eggs) now in cold storage in Chicago. His report, which was made by private investigators, who, the alderman says, are thoroughly responsible and in a position to know, will name the cold storage warehouses in which the eggs are held and give the approximate amount in each and will show that eight men, commission brokers control this entire supply of eggs.

Drastic action will be taken in the federal investigation of the soaring prices of food products, it was announced by Charles F. Clyne, United States district attorney. Mr. Clyne said he had information to the effect that jobbers in Peoria, Springfield and East St. Louis hold daily conversations over long distance telephones and fix prices of foodstuffs in Illinois.

YOUNG AMERICAN ARTIST IS EXPELLED AS A SPY

Rockwell Kent, an American artist, has returned to his home in West New Brighton, N. Y., after having been expelled from Newfoundland, under the defense of the realm act, on suspicion of being a German spy. He endeavored through the state department to begin a suit for $5,000 damages against the Newfoundland government. He was informed, however, that the state department would not support his claim.

Mr. Kent established a studio on the ancient rampart overlooking Belfast harbor, where the scenery appealed to him.

"Suspicion soon began to point a finger at me," he said. "One day in an argument I told a Britisher it would be a long time before the British army reached Berlin. The rumor spread, and it was not long before it was whispered that I was really a German. I got in eight tons of coal, and the place fairly buzzed with the news that I was laying in a supply for a fleet of U-boats."

"I foolishly wrote a letter to a German friend in this country, and part of it was written in German. The next day an officer came to the house, and I was ordered to appear before the police in St. John's. I consulted the American consul, James S. Benedict, and a lawyer, but I could get no satisfaction."

Finally notice was served upon him that he had twenty-four hours in which to leave the country. He left.

Law Against Cricket.

Until a century and a half ago England's great national pastime figured in the statute books as a crime. The game was declared illegal in the time of Edward IV., owing to its having become so popular as to interfere with archery, the then sport of kings. The law against it was vigorously enforced and every person convicted of playing the game was fined 10 or sent to prison. It was not until the formation of the famous Hambledon club in 1729 that the statute was repealed.—Pal. Mall Gazette.

THE WHOLE BODY NEEDS PURE BLOOD

The bones, the muscles, and all the organs of the body depend for their strength and tone and healthy action on pure blood.

If the blood is very impure, the bones become diseased; the muscles become enfeebled, the step loses its elasticity, and there is inability to perform the usual amount of labor. The skin loses its clearness, and pimples, blotches and other eruptions appear.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. It is positively unequalled in the treatment of scrofula and other humors, catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, that tired feeling. Be sure to get Hood's and get it today. All druggists.
