The Federal Land Loan Appraisers for this county have had to defer their work of visiting different farms in the county whose owners have made application for loans owing to the bad condition of the roads. The appraisers will probably start out next week if the weather continues fair.

One of the returned troopers from the Mexican border spent his first night at home on a soft, springy bed. At least he started to spend the night on the bed but was unable to go to sleep. He finally got up and rolled himself in his blanket on the hard floor and at once fell into sound and peaceful slumber. It will take the boys a little time to get accustomed to home comforts.

Last Tuesday morning, Mr. Sam Watkins and Miss Minnie DeShazo were united in marriage. The marriage took place at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. J. P. McMichael at Wentworth. Rev. E. N. Johnson officiated. The contracting parties are both from Martinsville, Va., where they will make their future home. Immediately after the marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Watkins left by automobile for Greensboro and other points.

Wilfay Dill, one of the mill operatives at the quarry at Stacy, was barely saved from a horrible death Friday. His overall jacket caught in one of the pulleys and he was jerked violently against some machinery, knocking him senseless and cutting an ugly gash in his head. The parting of his jacket was all that saved him. This was literally torn from him. Dolly Burgess, also one of the

THE TIMES TOPICS

NO. 9. Reidsville, N. C. By G. W. BRITAIN

Our illation may strike one as unusual, yet there are many illations at this particular time. As to war, peace, high cost of living and other really vital matters. There is one assurance that we have handed us from infancy; namely, that "What goes up, 's bound to come down." We are fastening our faith on it, it may be a very slow process at this particular time of war and rumors of war, but hope is a wonderful factor in the gyrations of man. So let's keep a hoping for better things particularly, better lives at lower prices, better achievements along religious, agricultural, commercial and political undertakings. Now when it comes to illations, we here in Rockingham county have a whole flock of em, and they are coming all the time. An illation is not an elation, but we hope for more of elation. We have our illation, and now the drug and prescription business, and we have a heart. Right this way Claudius, we sell garden seeds that do grow. Your illation.

Who said rain? Pass the cabbage Mollie.

The Boys of Company G 3rd regiment Natl Guards arrived Tuesday night, they are to all appearances in fine form, and look every inch a soldier." We went to the depot to greet them but the girls captured them before they "H." And we saw them, but they only glimpsed us. They were met by our genial and ever patriotic Captain Walters, who led with the truly Rebel Yell. And everybody happy. Welcome boys welcome.

The rich man can't always express himself properly, but he can pay the freight.

Remember our phone is 300 we have the stock, we know our work, we want to supply your drug and seeds wants.

No Lizzie, a soldier's sweetheart is not necessarily a red cross, and we hope not a soldier's cross, but she can join the suffragettes. Write Mr. Baker.

Tell two girls they look alike and they will be horribly disappointed when they meet for the first time, Sing dearie, sing.

Come again Julius, we are at your service.

GIRL'S QUICK WIT SAVED LIFE OF A DYING WOMAN

Telephone Operator Summoned Aid When Mrs. Oster Collapsed—Located Her Son.

A woman called the Kedzie telephone exchange in Chicago. Her voice was so weak that she could not make the number she wanted heard. She was desperately ill, she managed to convey. The call was snapped up to Miss Margaret Carney, chief operator.

"Get 303" came in a gasp. "What exchange?" asked Miss Carney. There was no answer. Then Miss Carney heard a thud. She located the address from which the call had come and summoned a neighbor.

"A Mrs. Amelia Oster has fainted at 20 South Kedzie avenue," she said. "Get a doctor to her."

"But how do you know?" "Don't ask questions. Hop to it!" said Miss Carney.

Then she got after the mysterious 303 number. She called exchange after exchange and got that number. Finally she located the right exchange and Mrs. Oster's son. She told him his mother was sick.

"And I have the key to the house!" Mr. Oster exclaimed.

At that instant the neighbor cut in with a report that the door of Mrs. Oster's flat was locked. Miss Carney conveyed this to Mr. Oster. "Tell her," said he, "to get a doctor. Go up the fire escape and break a window."

These instructions were obeyed. When Mr. Oster reached home he found the physician by his mother's side.

"If there had been a few minutes more delay in getting help she would have died," said the physician.

On the next day Mr. Oster looked up Miss Carney.

"That's nothing!" she said.

Former Czar Would Be World's Richest Man if He Retained Vast Wealth.

The question now interesting students of economics is what will become of the vast property holdings of Nicholas Romanoff, erstwhile czar of Russia, and other members of the Romanoff family. The ex-czar is said to have held title to 680,000,000 acres of land and to have had a personal fortune invested in foreign stocks and bonds. How much of this will be seized by the state is a matter of conjecture.

The Romanoff holdings in America are said to be the largest of any foreign investor. The czar is said to own $50,000,000 of the stock of the Pennsylvania railroad. The holding is not in his name, of course.

Much of the czar's cash is on deposit in the Bank of England. He is said to have kept from £50,000,000 to £100,000,000 on deposit there at all times.

His real estate includes the most valuable mineral lands in Russia, and into his private coffers every year flowed one-third of the gold and silver output of the empire.

It is hardly likely that Russia will permit the czar to retire as the richest man in the world. One of the first duties of the new minister of finance will be to devise means of transferring his wealth to the empire.

A proposal is said to have been made to turn over the czar's American securities in payment of Russia's purchases of munitions here and to guarantee that the army would be supplied to the end of the war. Such wiping out of Russia's debt to American manufacturers would raise the ruble to almost double its present value, financial students declare.

Spring suits for the boys, and dad, too, at Williams & Co.'s, The Man's Store.

ANIMAL STATUES

The Sparks' Circus, which is billed to give two exhibitions here April 12, have many novelties and new features this season, among which is the justly famous Woodford's Animal Statues.

This display consists of snow-white Arabian stallions and pedigreed white English setter dogs. There are three of these acts, exactly alike, one in each ring, and from an artistic sense easily hold the position of the most beautiful display of the entire circus program.

A number of different famous hunting scenes, and the wardrobe, trappings and paraphernalia being in the purest of white give an appearance of marble that leaves a lasting impression of beauty with the audience.

The German correspondents on the western front report that the British are using a new type of gun and shell. The gun appears to be pneumatic, as it makes no noise when fired and can therefore be used from points very close to the front.

The shell, which it carries bursts with an explosion resembling that of a mine, and the destructive area of the burst is large. It is chiefly used against deep dugouts and trench positions.

Efficiency.

A New York department store speeds up the loading of its delivery wagons by running its autos inside of the building and transporting them to various floors on large elevators. Expensive and unnecessary stock handling is thus prevented by loading the trucks directly.

The Pneumonia Season.

The cold, damp weather of March seems to be most favorable for the pneumonia germ. Now is the time to be careful. Pneumonia often results from a cold. The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger. As soon as the first indication of a cold appears take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. As to the value of this preparation, ask anyone who has used it. For sale by all dealers.

Two rifle clubs have been formed by students and citizens of Davidson. These rifle clubs and practice in shooting are a part of the preparedness enjoined on citizens and the Davidson contingent expect Uncle Sam to furnish guns for practice.
