NATION PREPARED TO BACK SPEECH THAT CARRIED UNCLE SAM TO WAR

Will Employ All Resources to Bring Germany to Terms and End Strife

HARACTERIZING the present German submarine warfare as 'a warfare against mankind," President Wilson in his address made the following recommendation to congress

I advise that congress declare the recent course of the imperial German government to be in fact nothing less than war against the government and people of the United States and that it formally accept the status of the belligerent which has thus been thrust upon it and employ all of its resources to bring the government of Germany to terms and to end the war.

Following this epoch making assertion, this resolution was introduced in both branches of congress:

Joint resolution declaring that a state of war exists between the imperial German government and the government and people of the United States and making provision to prosecute the same:

Whereas, The recent acts of the imperial government are acts of war against the government and people of the United States;

Resolved, by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled. That the state of war between the United States and the imperial German government which has been thus thrust upon the United States is hereby formally declared; and

That the president be, and he is hereby, authorized and directed to take immediate steps not only to put the country in a thorough state of defense, but also to exert all of its power and employ all of its resources to carry on war against the imperial German government and to bring the conflict to a successful termination.

And then the United States of America had entered the greatest struggle in the history of the world.

Unreservedly With the Allies.

Before an audience that cheered him as he has never been cheered in the capitol in his life the president cast in the lot of America unreservedly with the allies and declared for a war that must not end until the issue between autocracy and democracy has been fought out. He recited our injuries at Germany's hands, but he did not rest our cause on those; he went on from that point to range us with the allies as a factor in an irrepressible conflict between the autocrat and the people. He showed that peace was impossible for the democracies of the world while this power remained on earth. "The world," he said, "must be made safe for democracy."

We had learned that the German autocracy could never be a friend of this country; she had been our enemy while nominally our friend and even before the war of 1914 broke out. He called on us to take our stand with the democracles in this irrepressible conflict with before our eyes "the wonderful and heartening events that have been happening in the last few weeks in Russia." He reaffirmed his hope for peace and for freedom and looked to the war now forced upon us to bring these about, for, he said, a world compact for peace "can never be maintained except by a concert of the democracies of the world."

The objects for which we fight, he said, are democracy, the right of those who submit to authority to have a voice in their own government, the right and liberties of small nations, the universal dominion of right, the concert of free peoples to bring peace and safety to all nations and to make the world free. These have always been our ideals, and to accomplish them we accept the war Germany has made upon us. In fighting it we must not only raise an army and increase the navy, but must aid the allies in ali ways, financial and other, and so order our own preparations as not to interfere with the supply of munitions they are getting from us.

Ready For Strife.

This utterance found the nation ready. The position attained by American manufacturers of explosives and other war materials in supplying the entente allies and their ability to come promptly to the aid of the United States in the prosecution of war with Germany are shown in a compilation issued by the National City bank of New York contrasting the foreign trade of this country in the war period. Aug. 1, 1914, to Feb. I last, with the previous period, Feb. 1, 1912, to Aug. 1,

The review made by the bank was prepared primarily for the purpose of + is privileged to spend her blood showing the movement of foreign commerce. That section of the report, however, relating to war shipments reveals the potentialities within the United States for a complete supply of requisites for carrying on aggressive military operations. With many contracts from foreign governments for shells and other war supplies expired or lessening in volume, American manufactorers are in an excellent position to meet the requirements of their own government.

Some Striking Figures.

Some of the striking munifion exorts enumerated by the bank since e war began, compared with the two and one-half year period before hostliities, are:

Call to Arms Found Manufacturers of Country Ready to Give Undivided Support ********

Explosives, $992,000,000 against $14.-000,000; manufactures of brass, chiefly material for shells, $407,000,000 against $21,000,000; manufactures of iron and steel, chiefly for war purposes, $1,434,-000.000 against $695,000,000; automobiles for war use chiefly, $225,000,000 against $79,000,000; zinc, $107,000,000 against $2,000,000; chemicals, $276,000,-000 against $67,000,000; breadstuffs, $1,-278,000,000 against $449,000,000; meats, $638,000,000 against $368,000,000; horses and mules, $235,000,000 against $12,000,000; sugar, $153,000,000 against $6,000,000; cotton manufactures, $200,-000,000 against $133,000,000, and wool-

Less raw cotton was shipped in the war period, the figures being $1,131,-000,000, while in the two and one-half years preceding the conflict this export had a value of $1,332,000,000. The bank's analysis showed that exports from this country to Europe between Aug. 1, 1914, and Feb. 1 last increased more than 100 per cent when compared with the period from Feb. 1, 1912, to Aug. 1, 1914, one of normal trade conditions.

The total trade of the United States in the first two and one-half years of $10,490,000,000 in the corresponding period preceding the war. Exports ity every trust imposed in me. under the stimulus of war trading reached a total of $10,562,000,000 against $5,882,000,000 and imports $5,-061,000,000 against $4,608,000,000. The bank's statement also says:

Trade with Europe shows greater changes than with other grand divisions, while the exports of manufacmaterials are the striking features when considered by articles. Exports to Europe in the war period are $7,-648,000,000 against $3,565,000,000, despite the fact that the exports to the central powers in the war period are but $16,000,000 against $865,000,000 in the pre-war period. Imports from Europe are but $1,506,000,000 against $2,207,000,000 in the pre-war period, Those from the central powers are but $90,000,000 against $542,000,000 in the pre-war period.

Exports to North America are $1,771,-000,000 against $1,423,000,000; South America, $417,000,000 against $335,000,-000; Asia (exclusive of material for Russia via Vladivostok), $384,000,000 against $200,000,000. Imports from North America are $1,392,000,000 against $1,008,000,000; South America, $906,000,000 against $551,000,000, and Asia, $969,000,000 against $680,000,000.

Increase In Exports.

In exports by articles the greatest growth occurs in the group of manufactures amounting to $6,083,000,000 against $2,831,000,000 in the pre-war period; food products, $2,563,000,000 against $1,133,000,000. Manufacturing material exported shows a decline, being $1,523,000,000 against $1,806,000,000 in the pre-war period.

The bank's analysis shows that the chief increase in imports was in manufacturing material, being $2,015,000,000 in the war period against $1,582,000, 000, and foodstuffs were $1,357,000,000 against $1,128,000,000, while manufactures showed a decline, amounting in the war period to but $1,646,000,000 compared with $1,859,000,000 in the pe rlod before the war. The miscellaneous group in exports was $246,-000,000 against $20,000,000, due to the fact that more than 1,000,000 horses and mules were included in that group.

Changes in movements to and from the principal countries were: To the United Kingdom, exports of the war period, $3,571,000,000, against $1,439,-000,000; France, $1,545,000,000, against $363,000,000; Italy, $660,000,000, against $184,000,000, and Russia, $714,000,000 against $67,000,000,

The efficacy of the British blockade was demonstrated by the fact that in the war period exports from this country to Germany amounted to only $16. 000,000 compared with $504,000,000 in the pre-war period.
