

Globe-Wernicke Sectional Bookcases

"Built-to-Endure"

"I will study and prepare myself," said Lincoln, "and then, some day, my chance will come!"

YOU ambitious young man or young woman, look about you. You must perceive, as Lincoln did, that there is no success without knowledge. Prepare yourself. Read for recreation. Study for success. A Globe-Wernicke Sectional Bookcase in your room will help you. It is a constant invitation to read and study. As you add section to section to take care of incoming books, it becomes a guide post of your progress, the outward symbol of the growth within. Place it in your room where you can spend those intimate hours before retiring in mental companionship with the great minds of the world—the great minds that will prepare you for the day your chance will come.

GO TO IT! THE TASK IS OURS TO PERFORM, SAYS COUNTYMAN

(Written at the request of our Food Conservation Board.)

I wish to talk candidly, seriously, soberly and with an earnestness born of a solemn conviction to the readers of The Review in Rockingham County concerning food conditions as I see them in our county—this county of which we are proud; this county of great schools, strong churches, beautiful farms, and huge manufacturing plants; but best of all this county having within its borders near 40,000 strong bodied, clean minded men and women, boys and girls.

Do you know that there is a possibility—I will go farther and call it a probability—of a great calamity coming upon our county, not next year or ten years from now, but during THIS YEAR OF 1917?

I was up at Spray recently at the noon hour and as those thousands of fine, busy, working folks came pushing out of the mill yards I imagined I could see a hideous form called Hunger lurking in the shadow of those walls grinning his devilish grin in anticipation of what might be coming to him.

I decided it was my duty to tell the farmers of our county about it, stating plainly to them the situation in our county, our State, and in practically all our great Southland.

A different condition prevails today than has ever before been known in the history of the world. Nineteen-twentieths of the people of our world are actively or sympathetically at war. Millions of fighting men are consuming billions of dollars worth of food every month, ocean "bushwhackers"—a devilish product of this great 20th century—are sinking to the bottom of the sea millions of dollars worth of food every week; millions of men have gone from the ranks of producers and joined the ranks of lusty consumers of food products, and to cap it all good old Nature failed us in part last season, giving a short harvest.

Our Southland—including Rockingham County—has for years been trading with the balance of the country—bartering what we thought we could best grow for food that they thought they could profitably produce, for sale. Our last year's bill for this purchased food amounted to nearly a billion dollars. Well, while that was bad, and a pile of money to send out of our country for things, we had land, labor, climate and every other necessary factor at hand for profitably producing, yet we get along for we had something to give in exchange, AND THEY HAD THE FOOD TO SPARE. And if conditions were unchanged this year there would, of course, be the bad economic policy to combat—that of buying and transporting what we could as well or better produce at home—but we would not be under the necessity, the grave necessity, of a complete change of policy AT ONCE.

But conditions HAVE changed since one year ago, a change that I fear not one person in every thousand realizes the import of. Our nation—with its wonderful wealth of soil, its big-minded farmers who think in thousands of bushels units—has allied herself with other great nations that have millions of fighting men already in the trenches fighting in a life and death struggle. With this alliance has gone the obligation to feed those millions with whom we have cast our lot, and already the great granaries and storehouses of the West—from which we have in time past been drawing our supplies—are being emptied and men are looking anxiously toward the coming harvest wondering if it will suffice, not to feed the people down South, for they are able to feed themselves, but to feed the armies in the field and the people in the war swept areas. Men and women of Rockingham, this is the exact situation as I see it after months of careful study.

We grow in Rockingham last year probably less than one-half the food we consumed, and this is a call to my farmer friends to "about face" right now, while the food planting season is yet young, and do their duty by their country. If we feed the people of our country this year we must grow $1,000,000.00 worth more food than we produced last year and save every pound of it. This is a task for MEN and WOMEN, but it will carry with it its reward of a well fed busy people instead of, perhaps, a country filled with hungry children.

Settle into the harness, Rockingham folks, and go to it. The task is ours to perform!

A. L. FRENCH, Sunny Home Farm.

China—Like Aunt Nancy's Socks Gen. Julian S. Carr, traveling with the Honorary Commerce Commission of the United States in China, incorporated these remarks in an address before a distinguished group of Chinese people. "It's great pleasure to me that mine host, as they say down in the Tar Heel State, put my name in the pot, when this delightful entertainment was born. I have lost my heart to China. China is a great country and the Chinese are a great people. And pray why not, when I see here so many—the very flower of my beloved America—to teach them both by precept and example. The Chinese improve on acquaintance—they wear well—like Aunt Nancy's woolen socks—all wool and a yard wide."

TO THE FATHERS AND MOTHERS IN ROCKINGHAM

Every man, woman, boy and girl wants to have a part in our country's defense, or should want to. Patriotism now causes every heart to beat with added energy, and every soul to feel a new thrill. Every American wants to play a part. Fighting men are the smallest part of our country's defense. Every normal boy is born a soldier. There are thousands of boys in North Carolina who are imbued with the military spirit, and yet too young to enlist in the fighting army. Most parents are glad they are too young if you can conscientiously feel that your boy can just as honorably serve his country and still stay at home, your heart will be made glad.

The President, the Secretary of Agriculture and all leading officials of the nation are urging the production and conservation of food and feed crops as just as important a part of the nation's defense as the fighting with guns and shells. America must not only feed herself but must feed her allies. It is unpatriotic for any family to buy one pound of food or feed and thus diminish the world's supply, when there is land available for the production of that food by the family.

Remember that every time you use a pound of the commercial food supply you are taking that much from the mouths of hungry soldiers and hungry children. Every pound adds just that much to the amount so greatly needed to keep life in the bodies of the starving mothers and children.

We have in North Carolina an army of ten thousand boys and girls who are doing their part in this American crisis by growing corn, pigs, chickens, potatoes, peanuts and vegetables for canning. Have you any boys and girls between the ages of ten and eighteen who have not yet enlisted in this army? Would you not prefer them enlist in this army, rather than in the army at the front? You may say that they are helping you produce these things. However, they do not feel that they are personally participating and individually responsible unless they are growing something of their VERY OWN.

The effectiveness of an army is dependent upon the efficiency of its organization. Let us appeal to you, in the name of your country, to persuade your boy to join one of the clubs and then give him all the encouragement possible. Send his name and address indicating the club he wants to join to Mr. T. E. Brown, West Raleigh, N. C. or to myself, and we shall be glad to enroll him, and do all we can by sending him letters and circulars of instruction, to help him make a success of his work. The time for enrollment will close in about 30 days. However, a boy or girl can enroll in the pig club now and get their pig up to July 15th.

In this day of needed food, be sure to plant soybeans or cowpeas in all corn, and idle land, they are excellent human foods.

Yours truly F. S. WALKER, County Agent, Reidsville, N. C.

Coal Prices Unwarranted

Prevailing retail prices of anthracite coal are unwarranted and the supply for next season is adequate, the Federal Trade Commission states in a preliminary report based on a partially completed investigation ordered by Congress last winter.

The commission warns consumers against buying larger quantities of coal than usual this summer, saying there are symptoms now of such a buying panic as that which enabled speculators last winter to force prices above normal. No good reason exists, says the report, why May prices should not be subject to the usual summer discount, but "if the public is again deceived as to indulge in a scramble for coal, the favorable situation may be nullified."

The commission is keeping in close touch with the anthracite situation and promises to "expose any unscrupulous wholesaler, jobber or retailer who seeks to mislead the public into a belief that exorbitant prices are justifiable or that there is any necessity to join in a frenzied bidding to secure immediate delivery for far future needs."
