DRIED VEGETABLES

Dried vegetables and fruits that do not taste like hay. Such a product is possible and will be turned out in North Carolina this year by the thousands of pounds. The high prices and the scarcity of tin containers and glass jars suitable for canning vegetables and fruits, together with the necessity for the conservation of every pound of edible products possible, several weeks ago, turned attention of food experts to improved methods of drying or evaporating these vegetables and fruits.

So great has been the interest in North Carolina in this matter that the Department of Agriculture recently sent State Horticulturist W. N. Hutt and Assistant Horticulturist C. D. Matthews to New York to investigate the most improved and approved methods of conserving perishable food products by the various drying processes, whether described as evaporating, dehydrating or desiccating. All of these variously described methods have for their object the drying of the products at low enough temperature to avoid driving off the essential oils which contain the flavor and yet at a sufficiently high temperature to drive off the moisture quickly and thus avoid deterioration.

Vegetables and fruits dried and saved by these modern methods have a delicacy of flavor that would not be suspected by anyone who has been accustomed to products dried in the sun. Messrs. Hutt and Matthews, after investigating the commercial plants and a number of smaller outfits for home drying, decided that any intelligent housewife could turn out just as good products as the commercial plants. Mr. Matthews has prepared a bulletin describing the improved methods of drying and giving directions for making an evaporator for home use. This bulletin will be available within a few days and can be secured by anyone in North Carolina without cost.

It is interesting to note in this connection that while this country has been backward in the matter of improved methods of drying vegetables and fruits there were 425 commercial dehydrating plants, in Germany before the beginning of the war. The number has no doubt increased since then. It is also interesting to note that one New York concern some months ago filled an order for 80,000 pounds of dried cabbage for the French Army. 80,000 pounds of dried cabbage is equivalent to 800,000 pounds of green cabbage. Experts of the Department of Agriculture at Washington and of the State are confident that a large volume of vegetables, by themselves and in soup mixtures, and of fruits will hereafter be saved through improved methods of drying.

The Bachelor's Hall

The Bachelor's Club held its regular meeting at the Bachelor's Hall Monday evening, June 25, from 8:30 until 10:00 o'clock, during which time a few urgent matters were taken up in detail and adjusted.

Having attended to all business that came before the club, it was moved and seconded that each member forget all troubles and enjoy himself with velvet ice cream and loving thoughts.

The club is proving a success to the young bachelors participating and since each member is striving to do his bit, the club feels that it can easily accomplish its purpose, though a broad field is staring it in the face.

To the Colored Teacher.

There will be a summer school held beginning on the first Monday in July in Winston-Salem, N. C., at the Slater Industrial and State Normal School. Arrangements have been made for all the colored teachers in this county to attend this school for at least two weeks, without any tuition or enrollment fee. Any of the colored teachers in this county who desire to attend should apply to S. G. Atkins, Winston-Salem, N. C.

All of the colored teachers who possibly can should attend this school.

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE IS SKIN WHITENER

How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents.

The juice of two lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.

Whooping Cough

In this disease it is important that the cough be kept loose and expectoration easy, which can be done by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. P. H. Martin, Peru, Ind., writes "My two daughters had whooping cough. I gave them Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it worked like a charm."

THE SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY

An Ambition and a Record

THE needs of the South are identical with the needs of the Southern Railway; the growth and success of one means the upbuilding of the other.

The Southern Railway asks no favors—no special privilege not accorded to others.

The ambition of the Southern Railway Company is to see that every dollar of interest that is born of co-operation between the public and the railroads; so interpreted that fair and frank policy in the management of railroads which involves the confidence of governmental agencies; to realize that liberality of treatment which will enable it to obtain the additional capital needed for the acquisition of better and enlarged facilities incident to the demand for increased and better service; and, finally—

To take its niche in the body politic of the South alongside of other great industries, with no more, but with equal liberties, equal rights and equal opportunities.

"The Southern Serves the South."
