AMERICA FIRST

My Country 'Tis of Thee, Sweet Land of Liberty.

James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany, has resigned from diplomatic service and returned to private life. His resignation was accepted sometime ago, though the fact was not allowed to become known until this week.

Dependent wives and children of all soldiers would be granted federal allowances during the war by a bill introduced by Representative Rankin, Montana. Wife with no children will receive $30 a month, those with one child $45; those with two children $60, and those with more than two, $75.

The church is to become a positive force in food conservation as a result of a conference between food administration officials and prominent churchmen representing virtually every denomination in the United States. A committee from each denomination will aid in the campaign, which will include weekly reports through the churches of what every family is accomplishing in the saving the necessities.

A remarkable instance of the patriotism of Americans abroad was shown during the past month by the application for enlistment in the U. S. Marine corps of 104 Americans living in all parts of the world. It was announced at Marine Corps Headquarters. Letters were received from 26 foreign countries offering service to the "Soldiers of the Sea." Every continent on the face of the globe was represented—New Zealand, China, Japan, Egypt, five each of South and Central American countries, four West Indian Islands, several British colonies and others.

The Senate has agreed to vote on the food control bill Saturday, the 21st. In the meantime, the bill will be kept before the Senate as the unfinished business, and will be shortened and practically rewritten. The action of the Senate was taken after Senators Lodge, speaking for a number of leading Republicans, and Simmons, expressing the views of a group of Democrats, had declared they would not support the closure rule proposed by Senator Chamberlain, and certain features of the bill in its present form. A poll taken by Senators shows that a majority of the Senate members think that the food bill should be confined to food, feeds, and fuel, and that the Smoot amendment should be eliminated.

MEDICINE FOR THE KAISER.

When the war is over the question of disposing of Kaiser Wilhelm will be a big one. Several suggestions have been offered as to what should be his punishment or his "just rewards," and the Salisbury Post, under the above caption, offers the following:

When the victorious allies or the German people get ready to dispose of the criminal Kaiser the method used might well come from among the choice lot the Prussian war lords have used against innocent women and children. The Zeppelin, the gas bomb, the liquid fire, the submarine torpedo or the slave driver's whip might come within the selection. The criminal Kaiser an his immediate associates might be sent in a Zep and shot down with an anti-aircraft gun, or they might be put on a hospital ship and sent to the bottom by the submarine route. They might be "deported" and set to work for the enemy. The Kaiser and his right hand bowers have devised many crafty methods of making way of the innocent civilians and any of these would be good medicine to apply to the fiend who precipitated the whole monstrous affair. Once the war is ended and the settlement comes the murderous Kaiser and his fellow intriguers ought not to be isolated and fed on chocolates and nice dainties. They ought to be caged as dangerous jungle beasts are and made to suffer for their hellish offenses against the civilized world.

Major Stedman's Case

It appears that the country is taking some interest in the election of Major Stedman to Congress for another term. Congressmen from all over the United States are asking him to reconsider his decision not to run again. They want him to remain in Congress another term. This is what was suggested the day the Major announced that he wouldn't be a candidate next year. We asked him to reconsider it. In commenting on the Major's case the Wilmington Dispatch has this to say:

"But what the people of the Fifth District should do, it seems to us, or at least a big enough crowd to be heard and make influence felt should do, is to insist on Major Stedman again being a candidate. This suggestion on our part is not based on desire to trespass upon self-government in opinion, or with the idea of foreign invasion, but it predicted upon observation of a man of ability and upon our right in realizing that it is important to the people of the Fifth District of North Carolina that the people of the Fifth District in California send an able and fearless man to Congress, and vice versa. A Congressman is elected by a small coterie but he passes on matters pertaining to the entire country and its possessions. So every district must feel an interest in the election of every other district; has a right to feel that its welfare is at stake. Hence the man in New York has a right to express opinion that the man in Florida should vote for a certain man for office. Whether the former is in as good position to pass upon the candidate's qualifications, through difference in opportunity to observe and hear, is a different matter.

"But the re-election of Major Stedman to Congress would be a good thing for the State and nation, as Major Stedman is a statesman of power."

There is no reason in the world why the Major should not reconsider. When he made his statement that he would retire after this term he was a sick man. He had been in a hospital and was in such a condition that he could not make a canvass. He didn't know, inasmuch as he had to undergo a surgical operation, whether he would survive it, and naturally he concluded he would quit the game. But now that he is in splendid health, the fact that we have had him in Congress as our representative and he has made good, we see no reason why he should quit the game because he said he would, and we see every reason why, at this time, he should continue. The Dispatch has presented the case clearly.—Greensboro Record.

GROW A SECOND CROP OF IRISH POTATOES

The fall or the second crop of Irish potatoes is one of the means by which the production of one of the most important food crops may be increased. For a number of years, this second crop of Irish potatoes has been an unimportant item in the food supply of North Carolina, but with emergency times at hand, Mr. W. N. Hutt, horticulturist of the North Carolina experiment station, urges upon the growers of the Eastern section of the States the importance of putting in an extra crop.

In extension circular No. 49 prepared by Mr. R. G. Hill, superintendent of the truck station at Willard, N. C., careful instruction in the growing of this crop is given. The problem of seed is one of the most serious questions confronting the average grower but it has been found that when seed from the first crop are spread out on the floor in some sheltered place where they are exposed to a strong light but not to direct sun, light and are turned at frequent intervals until they are greened or sprouted, they are then ready to plant. This method insures against injury from rot caused by moisture and allows of the culling out of stock showing signs of disease. In this case a good stand is secured.

Tests have shown that the best time to plant the second crop is from the middle of July to the middle of August. In a favorable fall they might be set as late as September first, but there is always danger of late planting being caught by frost before maturing. Additional information in regard to second crop of potatoes and copies of the circular forty-nine may be had on application to B. W. Kilgore, director, Agricultural Extension Service, Raleigh, N. C.

A Word to Shippers

An appeal to shippers and consignees to "do their bit" towards improving the freight car supply by prompt loading and unloading at warehouses and side tracks has been issued by the Southern Railway System. It is headed, "Won't you help us serve our country," and is as follows: "Under existing war conditions the transportation of troops and munitions and supplies for the Army and Navy and for our allies in Europe must take precedence over all other kinds of traffic.

"The railroads of the United States are performing their full duty to the Government and are striving, at the same time, to serve all those dependent upon them for transportation with the least possible delay.

"Drastic rules to secure the most efficient use of every available freight car are being enforced so far as conditions can be governed by the railroads.

"But there are delays beyond the control of railroads.

"Shippers and consignees can 'do their bit' and cut down the time used in loading and unloading cars at their warehouses and side tracks.

"Every hour counts.

"Cars should be loaded to their capacity.

"The transportation demands of the Government and of the American people call for co-operation to the fullest extent."

Miniature Cataract to Be Feature of New Aqueduct Celebration.

Beginning on Columbus day and continuing till the evening of Oct. 11 all sorts of spectacular things are going to take place to celebrate the completion of the Catskill aqueduct, the new water system for New York city.

One of the features of the celebration is to be a sort of mimic Niagara in the East river. A high pressure pipe is to be laid across the edge of one of the bridges. Holes are to be punched at intervals in the pipe in such a way that the water can fall directly to the river below. The "cataract" will be illuminated in the evening. River traffic will be suspended temporarily if necessary.

The ceremony of "delivering the water to the city" will take place at the city hall on Columbus day. Mayor Mitchell will preside, and former Mayor McClellan, who broke ground for the aqueduct ten years ago, will be the guest of honor. A fountain designed by MacMonnies and Franklin Hastings, which is the gift of Mrs. Angelina Crane, will be unveiled at the city hall plaza. A cornerstone of another fountain in Central park will be laid.

On the following days there will be parades, dinners, pageants and musical festivals in churches and schools.

Chase the Ache, Kill the Pain. Get busy. Act now. Use Sloan's Liniment for your rheumatic pains, toothache, neuralgia, sore muscles, stiff joints, sprains and strains. Better than anything you ever tried to soothe hurts, reduce swelling and inflammation. Cleaner than ointments or plasters, as it does not clog the pores or stain the skin. Easy to apply, it penetrates without rubbing. Always have a bottle of Sloan's Liniment in your medicine chest. At your druggist, 25c., 50c., $1.00.

Doing Good. Few medicines have met with more favor or accomplished more good than Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy. John F. Jantzen, Delmeny, Sask., says of it, "I have used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy myself and in my family, and can recommend it as being an exceptionally fine preparation."

Columbia Thinks Canadian Method Will Be Adopted Here.

The national committee on prisons and prison labor at Columbia university, which has the sanction of the federal government, has been studying the problem of internment of Germans in this country during the war period and has come to the conclusion that the Canadian system of using interned prisoners on public improvements is the best. This work in Canada has included clearing land, road building and irrigation.

In a report just made in the Columbia war papers the committee has this to say:

"American internment in case of necessity will probably follow the Canadian system. The methods there employed have been the basis for the detailed plans presented to our government by the national committee on prisons and prison labor.

"At present the government is in position to embark on a policy of drastic internment should it be forced into such a policy. Complete plans, specifications, regulations and experts skilled in various details necessary to an internment program are ready for immediate service.

"The government believes there will be little need for an internment program. It has confidence in the friendship of Teutonic residents, who will receive protection and friendly treatment so long as they are deserving of it. Hostile acts, however, will meet forceful suppression, as the war must proceed without internal menace and the administration of government must continue in its usual way."

Are You One of Them?

There are a great many people who would be very much benefited by taking Chamberlain's Tablets for a weak or disordered stomach. Are you one of them? Mrs. M. R. Searl, Baldwinville, N. Y., relates her experience in the use of these tablets: "I had a bad spell with my stomach about six months ago, and was troubled for two or three weeks with gas and severe pains in the pit of my stomach. Our druggist advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. I took a bottle home and the first dose relieved me wonderfully and I kept on taking them until I was cured." These tablets do not relieve pain, but after the pain has been relieved may prevent its recurrence.

Read the paper regularly.

The Rev. John Mathews, pleasantly remembered here, will conduct a mission at the Reidsville Episcopal church during the week beginning July 29th.
