OUR BOYS ABROAD MAKE A RAID ON CANDY SHOPS

The demand for candy is strong in France from the American troops, but it has been met satisfactorily, al though the boys judge the prices high The beer they generally condemn, not for its quality only, but for its warmth

"Don't seem much of a place," was the comment, followed by the auxious query, "Can we have a better time in l'arls?"

Money changing involves mental auxiety, but 5 francs are offered as the equivalent of a dollar by the shopkeep ers and readily accepted. It surprised the French to be told that these Amer icans still were paid in gold.

France began to recognize the value of athletics a few years before the war, which confirmed their importance It is possible the new American allies will provide France with a long felt want in popularizing baseball.

"A Fountain Pen Army."

"It is a fountain pen army," chaffed a Frenchman as he noted the number of those articles that the Americancarried in their blouse pockets and seemed to be part of their equipment.

"I am an old man for the army," said a corporal, answering a query of what motive brought him to France "but I have come to help wipe kalsers off the earth."

The American camp in France is epleadidly situated on high ground and has been built within the month. It is lighted by electricity and has a fine water supply. The Y. M. C. A., which has installed a tent at the landing place, will epen a large but soon. The camp has taken on an American at mosphere.

It failed in no respect to meet the requirements of the overflowing tidof newcomers. It supplies picture post cards in large numbers and there is an "American bar," but American is name only. Ice cream seda is sought

An old looking French territorial who is on sentry duty along the docks, his hair grayed by three long years of service, beamed on the Americandoubtless thinking his days of labo were now drawing to a close. The women smile and feel their heart: lighter as they watch this fine pledge of the sister democracy's aid.

In the arrival of the troops children chased pennies that the American boy threw among them from crowded deck as the ships passed along the quay and rejoiced over every band as I headed its regiment, for it is seldon that bands are heard now in France.

Chum at Once With Allies.

The fraternization of the American with the English, Canadians, Austra' ians and French is remarkable, and the new arrivals are being received every where with open arms and open hearts Last mouth nearly all the Britis. troops not having near relatives in the British isles have been coming to Parl on leave, and so the newly lande Americans find plenty of comrades abla to speak their common language.

The Yankees warmed up particular', to the Canadians, among whom a: many Americans, but the greatest sur prise came at the way the French off cers and poilus fraternize with their new allies. The warmest feeling existbetween the French and British soldier and officers, of course, but when the first met three years ago as allies the were too busy fighting for their liveto spend much time in friendly inter

The Americans, however, are landing just at the time when the allies have the Germans "on the hip," and the French are throwing off their clannishness to welcome the Yankee tars and marineaffectionately.

Another factor is that after three years' contact with the British nearly every French person knows a few words of English-hello, cheero, good luck and similar expressions-and they are using them overtime on the Americans.

Paris Women Charmed.

The appearance of American naval officers in white duck summer uniforms in the smart Paris restaurants causes gasps of astonished delight, especially among the fair Parisiennes, who admire the chic, cool appearance of the officers

Since the arrival of the Americans the police have had to wink at the law prohibiting singing and music in cafes and restaurants, as it is impossible to prevent the sailors, marines and regulars from gathering in quartets and teaching the Canadians and Australians the newest ragtime airs direct from America.

To the assassination of Gregory Rasputin, the czar's familiar, has been traced by some the series of repressive acts by the czar that finally persuaded the duma that revolution was the only way out. The Most Beautiful Car in America

July 15th—On This Date Paige Prices Will Be Advanced

We have formally announced that the list price of every car in the Paige line will be very substantially increased on July 15th.

We have explained that this step is unavoidable because of the steadily advancing costs of manufacturing materials, labor and all elements entering into the production of a quality product.

In making this advance announcement, we feel that we have done complete justice to the many hundreds of people who have been planning to purchase one of our cars. They now know definitely when the increased prices are scheduled to take effect, and will be guided accordingly.

There is one very important point, though, that we would like to emphasize at this time.

Owing to the scarcity of materials, our production between now and July 15th will necessarily be limited. We are doing all that we possibly can to keep step with public demand, but it is a foregone conclusion that there will not be enough Paiges to go round.

As a last thought in regard to this matter of price, please remember that the Paige has long since demonstrated its independence of all "price fields." American men and women now buy a Paige-not because of the price tag which is attached to it but because of its well established reputation as a fine mechanical product.
