KISSED HIS SCHOLARS.

Rev. Tucker Was Two "Affectionate" and Lost His Certificate

Rev. Thomas R. Tucker, colored, who has been teaching school in this county and telling of the way of the "meek and lowly" at odd chances, will teach no more school in this county. His certificate has been revoked by Rev. G. J. Dowell, county examiner, for being "too affectionate" to his scholars.

The case came up before the county examiner of school teachers Friday afternoon and lasted until that night.

It seems that Rev. Tucker who is about 34 years of age, was employed last November as teacher in district No. 11, Patterson township, and taught until the school was out in May following.

Two of the committeemen were in favor of employing him again, but the third one opposed it, as did also twelve of his patrons, and there's where all the trouble began.

The one committeemen and twelve patrons got up a petition and came with it before Rev. Mr. Dowell and asked that his (Tucker's) certificate be revoked. They charged him with conduct unbecoming a teacher.

There was a large number of witnesses who testified and it was proved that he had been kissing his grown female scholars and acting towards them in a very "affectionate" manner which did not become a man of his calling. This was testified to by twelve or fourteen of his scholars.

Tucker acknowledged kissing two of his "grown female scholars" and said they were on occasions when they had been sick and returned to the school. This, he said, was done before the whole school. The other "affectionate" acts he was charged with he denied, but it was proven to the contrary. It was also proven that he had tried to kiss other female members of his flock and that they refused him that special privilege.

After hearing all the evidence Rev. Mr. Dowell decided that it was his duty to remove Tucker away where he would have no "ripe and juicy lips" to tempt him and so the certificate he held was revoked.

The defendant was represented by F. A. Green and the patrons of the school by Boone & Bryan.

This goes to prove that kissing is a dangerous thing and may result in you losing your job, if you have one

Moral: Refrain from kissing unless it is absolutely necessary and then always pick your chances.

The Postal's Kindness.

The Postal Telegraph Co., and N. M. Alston, their popular manager in this city, are both hummers, and they deserve and receive the thanks of the people of Durham for keeping them posted in regard to what the convention did in Chicago. The entire proceedings of the convention was served fresh and hot to us here, and when a yell was raised in the convention hall before it had died away the people of Durham were reading it. Several times during the convention there was only two minutes difference in the time given at Chicago and the time the news was received here and handed out to the large crowd who congregated around the Postal office and around the store of W. A. Slater Co., where the bulletins were posted, so as to give all a chance to read them. The entire proceedings of the convention was given. Every demonstration, every speaker and everything that was done. Mr. Alston hung on to the wires from beginning to finish and remained with the "boys" until the convention would adjourn--even if it was 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning. The HERALD thanks him. We all thank him.

MURDER IN RALEIGH.

A Woman Killed "Down on the Bowery" Last Night.

RALEIGH, July 11.--(9:30 p. m. Special to HERALD).--Tonight at 8:30 o'clock there was a murder down on the "Bowery." A white man shot and killed a negro woman.

The murderers name is Herbert Womble, son of Rufus Womble, and the dead woman is Tella Green, daughter of Logan Green.

She died in a few minutes after being shot.

The locality is a very disrespectful one and the officers have a great deal of trouble in keeping order there.

Womble skipped out as soon as the deed was committed and has not yet been captured.

(LATER.--The police department here was notified by the Raleigh officials to be on the lookout for Womble. The message said Womble left there coming in this direction. At 2 o'clock this morning nothing had been heard or seen of him.

Durham, Queen of the South.
Tune: America.

Queen city of our land,
For thee we take our stand,
Town of our pride;
We love thy bells that ring,
We love thy praise to sing,
And to thee tribute bring
From ev'ry side.

We love thy noble men,
Who in the past have been
A mighty power.
They've toiled in joy and gloom,
Some sleep now in the tomb,
Gone where those flowers bloom
That need no shower.

We praise thy graded school,
Where love and justice rule
Instead of might;
Where teachers all are kind,
In whom great virtues shine,
They try to teach the mind
Just what is right.

Trinity College too
Dispenses knowledge pure,
Within her walls;
And tries to teach her boys
To give up earthly toys,
To seek eternal joys,
And heed God's calls.
Great God in Heaven above
Guard this the town we love
'Gainst what is wrong;
And may her people be
Noted for charity,
Wisdom and purity,
Work, prayer and song.

Long then will Durham stand
Firm in the great Southland,
For what is good;
And when Time's end shall come,
O may we gather home,
No more to part her room,
Be where we would. --R. M. H.
