

ASKS FOR RECEIVER.

Petition Asked Throwing Greensboro Concern Into Bankruptcy.

Greensboro, N. C., April 18.—Special.—Application was made before Judge Peebles in superior court yesterday for the appointment of a receiver for the Hudson Overall company. The application was made by Thos. A. Shaw & Co., through a local attorney. The amount involved is $225. It is alleged, however, that the company is indebted to others in large sums and that it is now insolvent or in imminent danger of becoming so. The summons issued by the court for the Overall company to show cause is made returnable June 2. The Hudson Overall company operated here for some time, though its home offices are at High Point, Mr. W. H. Ragán, of that place, being president and a large stockholder. The plant while in operation gave employment to about one hundred people, though it has not been running for the past several months.

County Health Officer W. M. Jones made an excursion into the southern section of town yesterday where a number of negroes reside and found a regular smallpox nest. In six families in that section the officer located a total of 19 cases of smallpox. Precautionary measures were promptly taken, a number of those in the neighborhood being vaccinated and the victims of the disease given treatment. Jones believes that the disease will be confined to the southern section.

The negroes of Greensboro became greatly excited yesterday when it was learned that a demented negro woman named Minnie Lewis had kidnaped two small negro children and had disappeared. The full police force and scores of citizens joined in the search for the woman and the children. The woman and the children were located during the evening near Hillsdale, several miles from town, and in almost a complete state of exhaustion as a result of their long tramp. They were brought back to town in an automobile. The woman is said to be harmless but the kidnaping episode created much excitement among the negro population.

Two interstate secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. were guests in Greensboro last night and spoke to the members of the local association at a supper given in the banquet hall of the association building. The secretaries were Mr. G. C. Huntington and Mr. E. C. Wilson, of Charlotte. They spoke with reference to the association work in the Carolinas, of the growth in number of buildings and membership and the general usefulness of the Y. M. C. A. during the past few years. Secretary Huntington impressed two points particularly: Co-operation for increased efficiency and an increase in the support of the institutions. Mr. Wilson made an interesting talk during which he explained illustrated pictures showing what the associations in the Carolinas have accomplished in the erection of new buildings.

Yesterday afternoon was an interesting occasion at the State Normal college when the New Woman's building was thrown open to the faculty members and a number of town friends, the seniors informally entertaining the visitors. The building was elaborately decorated with dogwood blossoms, potted plants and cut flowers and presented a scene of rare loveliness. In the cozy alcoves were placed tea tables and the guests enjoyed dainty refreshments served by the young women. The full membership of the class aided in receiving the more than 150 guests present for the occasion.

Bridge of Arta.

It was by the bridge of Arta that the Greeks on the west side entered Turkey. "The Bridge of Arta," one of the most pathetic of Greek folk songs, tells of the sacrifice of a human victim at the building of a bridge to appease its demon. In the version translated by Mr. J. C. Lawson sixty apprentices and forty-five craftsmen have toiled for three years at the bridge, and every night their day's work falls in ruin. Then the demon's voice bids them sacrifice the master craftsman's wife as she comes to supper. They induce her, with a false story of a ring to be fished up to let herself be lowered, and her husband himself hurls a stone down upon her. She prays that the bridge may ever tremble and all who cross it fall as now she trembles and her tresses fall; but a reminder that her brother may some day cross it changes her prayer to one that bridges and passengers may be as iron-like as she now feels.

Physician Often Blamable

"It is a most unfortunate thing," says the North American Journal of Homeopathy, "that the moral degeneration to which every drug habitué almost inevitably comes is a sin that almost always lies at the door of some medical adviser. Few patients live so far from the doctor as to warrant his leaving a supply of morphia tablets for them to take, if an attack comes on. The practice of medicine seems to be summed up in the prescription of opiates in the case of some physicians. It is better to wear out the medicine case and let the hypodermic rust out than vice versa. Of course, we know that the hypodermic should not rust and that the medicine case cannot; but our readers are bright enough to read between the lines."

Col. L. James left yesterday for Raleigh on a short business trip.

Many Industries in Building

In Fulton street, New York, there is one structure which though classed as an office building has more than two hundred separate industries. There are lapidaries of various kinds among them diamond cutters and polishers, all from Amsterdam. There are manufacturing jewelers who take gold and gems and enhance their value many fold by their artistry. There is a woman shoemaker, with several Wall street information bureaus, a detective agency, burnishers of metal, workers in words—otherwise free-lance writers—manufacturers of face cream and toilet preparations in general, well borers, shirtmakers, doctors, perfumers, architects, engravers, dealers in real estate in cigars in liquor. There is one firm which is the largest dealer in the world in black diamonds, the gems used for boring deep into the earth.

Mattresses For Plate Glass

The mattresses whereon we sleep by no means the only ones. There is for instance, the mattress that is placed in wagons for the conveyance of plate glass in safety. These wagon mattresses are made of curled hair. They are of a thickness scarcely greater than that of the coverlet that is known as a "comfortable." The expenses of plate glass transportation required that these mattresses be constructed with exceeding care, inasmuch as a slight lump anywhere in the mattress might prove sufficient to cause the breakage of the glass that rests upon it. In the event of two plates of glass resting upon that lump the same little still greater danger to the glass is courted. These plate glass mattresses cost, according to size, from $60 to $75. The mere remarking of such a mattress may cost from 20 to 25.—Harper's

Shrewd Patent

A doctor who had been attending an old farmer for a fortnight or so pronounced the patient so much improved that it would be unnecessary for him to call again professionally. Next day the medico was not a little astonished to find the expatriate the surgery with a half-consumed bottle of medicine in his hand. "I thought, doctor as you said was all right again that needn't 'nish t' bottle, so I've brought it back so it'll happen come in handy for some other body (sick) body that's got t' same complaint as I had. And you'll likely knock something off my bill, seeing that I've only supped half of it." Thus showing a shrewd saving turn on the convalescent's part.

Health—Color—Sunshine.

A wonderful trinity this. Your health, the color of your clothing and the glorious sunshine have much to do with the human body. If you have not given the subject any special thought, you may well wonder what connection there can be between the color of one's clothing and health. The salutary influences of solar light—not solar heat—are not sufficiently well known to have their therapeutic value appreciated. The sun has its effect, beneficially or otherwise, on everything in the universe, the human body not excepted. There are certain cases wherein one needs the heat of the sun, but there are many more in which the light of the sun is of greater value.

Indian Rice Rolls.

The cultivation of rice in India includes divers varieties, differing in size, shape and color of grain, as well as in suitability for culinary purposes. More than seventy million acres are annually put under rice in India, and samples of all the varieties produced have recently been analyzed in England. One of these is peculiar in that it is too glutinous to be boiled in the ordinary way. This difficulty is avoided by boiling it in bamboo tubes, and after being thus prepared it is left in the tubes to be eaten cold, especially by travelers. When the rice is eaten the bamboo is peeled off and a long roll of rice appears, which forms an excellent substitute for bread.—Harper's Weekly.

'Curious Illness.

"Yes," said the good woman who was describing the last illness of a friend, "she was taken suddenly sick with pantomime poisoning, and four doctors came to the house and insulted about her and diagrammed her case very closely. BACKACHE A SYMPTOM

Of More Serious Illness Approaching. Mrs. Bender's Case.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Read about Mrs. Bender's experience.

St. James, Mo.—"About a year ago I was irregular, had cramps every month, headache and constant backache. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used the Sanative Wash and I am relieved of all my troubles and am in perfect health. I shall recommend your medicine to all my friends and you may publish this testimonial for the benefit of other suffering women."—Miss ANNA BENDER, St. James, Missouri.

Another Case.

Dixon, Iowa.—"I have been taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time and it has done me very much good. My back troubled me very much. It seemed weak. I had much pain and I was not as regular as I should have been. The Compound has cured these troubles and I recommend it to all my friends."—Mrs. BERTHA DIERKSEN, Dixon, Iowa.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.
