RECORD BREAKER ON SUNDAY

All of the Churches at Which Revivals Are Being Conducted Report Much Success in Work.

(Reported for The Herald.)

The Baptist pastors met in the Y. M. C. A. parlors yesterday and heard reports from the various churches on the results of the revival meetings for the week. 88 additions, according to the report, was made to the seven churches. Everybody reported unusually large congregations Sunday morning and night. The First Baptist church was filled with men at 3:30 to hear Dr. Wilson on "Influence," and they were not disappointed for he certainly did preach a great sermon.

The Second Baptist church was filled with women to hear Rev. E. C. Madry, of Raleigh.

In East Durham at 5:00 o'clock Rev. Ham, of Atlanta, preached to fifteen hundred people. Some men said there eighteen hundred present but the writer is sure he is not putting it too high at fifteen hundred. It was a great meeting in God's out door world.

The East Durham band, the East Durham quartette made sweet music for the people. By special request Mrs. Ham favored the great congregation with a beautiful solo. At the close of the sermon the invitation was given. There were two conversions and fifty or sixty requests for prayer.

The audience was a good one for Monday night, filling the main auditorium. Rev. Ham preached on the subject of the soul. There was one addition and much interest shown by the Christians in behalf of the unconverted.

FRST BAPTIST.

Congregation good. Earnest sermon by Dr. Wilson. One addition and quite a number of requests for prayer.

SECOND BAPTIST.

Congregation good. Preaching by Dr. Wilson. Two additions. The ordinance of Baptism was administered at the close of the service.

WEST DURHAM BAPTIST.

Rev. Cox did the preaching. Congregation good. Splendid interest. Four conversions and four additions. Ten stood for prayer.

EAST DURHAM BAPTIST.

Congregation good. Preaching by Rev. E. C. Madry. Eight additions. Splendid interest, and many requests for prayer. There were some conversions but the writer failed to get the number.

BASEBALL CHATTER.

Manager Evers, of the Cubs, has shipped Pitcher Suttcliffe to the New London team of the Eastern Association.

Manager Callahan, of the White Sox, figures that Pitcher Benz is fifty per cent stronger than he was last year.

The Cincinnati club lost quite a bunch of money by being compelled to cancel exhibition games on account of the flooded condition of the ball yard.

The St. Joseph team hung one on Big Ed Walsh in an exhibition game the other day, when they drove the Big Moose to the woods in six innings.

The Athletics pitching staff looks to be some staff with the youngsters Wychoff, Durning and Bush helping out Bender, Cooms, Plank and Brown.

Domestic Economist.

An excellent Manchester lady frequently invites her friends to tea, but she does not furnish her table lavishly. When her guests have eaten all the bread and butter and cookies, and realize that the meal is over, she looks brightly at the empty dishes, "Well, now," she says, in triumphant tones, "haven't I judged your appetites exactly?"—Manchester Guardian

The Steamfitters' Union of Worcester, Mass., has recently joined the United Association of Plumbers, Gasfitters and Steamfitters' Helpers.

It is said that Gaby Deslys has received an offer for more than $600 a week for four weeks in Buenos Aires.

"The spirit of your husband wishes to speak with you, madam." "What does he say?" "He says that he doesn't have to dress in a cold room."—Bohemian.

MUCH BEAUTY IN SHRUBBERY

Recommended for Planting Between Trees Where Luxuriant Effect is Desired.

Shrubs as well as trees have a place in the beautification of the city streets. In the suburbs and outlying sections of the city one often sees masses of shrubbery in the parkways along the residence streets. I feel certain that every one will agree that this sort of beautification ought to be encouraged in every possible way.

Planted between the trees, flowering and other shrubs add much to the appearance of a street. Such treatment of our parkways need not be confined to any particular section of the city. Still, shrubbery is more becoming in streets which have wide parkways and naturally will thrive best and make the finest showing in sections where most appreciated and best cared for.

Wherever such planting is done in the residence sections of the city, along streets where a large number of people pass daily, it should be confined to the low-growing varieties, no higher than three or four feet. The high-growing shrubs form dense thickets along the parkway which afford lurking places for hold-up men and thugs. The high-growing shrubs also have a tendency to droop over on the sidewalks, often causing inconvenience to pedestrians.

Such shrubs as the Thunberg barberries, Japan quince, snowberries, rugosa roses, matrimony vines and the various wild roses make perfect masses when left to grow in their natural form. They should be planted about two and one-half feet apart, depending upon the size of the individual bushes. The plants should be placed irregularly in masses, and no four bushes should stand in a straight row.

MILLIONS ARE TO BE SPENT

Seventy Cities of the United States Join in the Effort for Civic Improvement.

One hundred million dollars is to be spent to make seventy United States cities beautiful.

Improvements requiring this nine-figure expenditure have been planned by municipalities all over the country. Cities along the Pacific slope, cities along the eastern coast and intermediate cities are all part of the movement to evolve the real city beautiful. It is expected that fifty more municipalities will follow this pioneer example within a year and that foreign observers soon will have to omit the customary chapter on the ugliness and monotony of American communities.

When James Brice wrote his "American Commonwealth" he remarked justly that "with but five or six exceptions American cities differ from one another only in that some are built with more brick than wood and others with more wood than brick."

That these conditions are going to change was demonstrated very clearly in the course of the meetings of the fourth national conference on city planning, held at Boston. The mayors of twenty-five different cities accepted the invitation tendered to them by Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston, the Boston chamber of commerce and the Boston City club. With them came many municipal engineers, many men prominent in landscape architecture and the representatives of many civic organizations which are directing their activities toward the rational beautifying of American cities and towns.

Community Improvement.

It is not wise for a community to undertake general improvement until each shall first have cleaned up his own property. In fact a neighborhood must be noted for its neat appearance before much good will come from united effort looking to the so-called cleaning-up for beautifying. While rake and hoe and shovel will aid much, saw and pruning shears in the hands of one lacking judgment may do (and often does) more harm than good. Spasmodic efforts seldom result in great permanent improvement. When one's own premises are above reproach he may with propriety urge a very general improvement upon the neighborhood. In attacking and prosecuting this work observe the same rules and methods by which you keep your own place neat and attractive, and you will not go far astray.

School Garden Work.

If we are to interest the child in the world about him we must begin early in his life to teach him the things that touch his life. He will see plants every day of his life and at every step he will find them more necessary, more interesting than the mere words he learned in the school-house. It is neither the words or the knowledge of plants that we are after, but the best and highest development, both mental and physical, of every child who attends school. This high standard cannot be attained through that alone which may be learned within a schoolhouse.

To Clean a Gas Range.

The loose parts of a gas range frequently become so greasy and dirty that they can scarcely be cleaned. Place these parts on the coals in the furnace when the fire is low and it will quickly burn them quite clean without injury.

Boils--Pimples--Abscesses

All Evidence of Impure Blood and a Run-Down Condition.

When the blood becomes thin, poor, devitalized nature cries out through such external and often painful evidence for help, and the safest, surest and most helpful remedy we know is Vinol.

This is because it is a combination of the two most world famed tonics—the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil (without the oil) and tonics iron for the blood. Vinol strengthens the digestive organs, creates a hearty appetite purifies and enriches the blood, creates strength.

Mary Lang, of Altoona, Pa., says: "Ever since childhood, I have been delicate, and my blood poor, thin, and devitalized. Nothing seemed to help me until I took Vinol and it has built me up and made me strong."

We say positively there is nothing like Vinol to purify and enrich the blood and build up weak, run-down people. If it should fail in your case we will return your money. Ben H. Thomas, druggist, Durham, N. C.
