G. P. LINK GIVEN ROAD SENTENCE

He Escaped on One Occasion and Gets Additional Time As a Result

G. P. Link, who sometime ago escaped from the county roads where he had been sentenced for passing worthless checks, was returned to the roads yesterday having been captured. An additional 30 days was attached to him by Judge P. C. Graham in recorder's court.

Prayer for judgment was allowed in the case of Joe Jackson, charged with non-support. He was recognized, however, to appear before the court each month to show that he is providing his family with necessities of life.

Prayer for judgment was given in the case of Will McGinnis, charged with larceny. He was placed under $50 bond to appear each month to show good behavior.

SANITARY OFFICER ISSUES WARNING

The health department, according to announcement made by Dr. Arch Cheatham, the superintendent, is pushing its sanitary campaign in the county vigorously. Yesterday the special workers sent by the government reported finishing up their program at Bahama and Rougemont. The examination of school kiddies throughout the county is also progressing rapidly. The finest possible cooperation is being accorded by pupils and teachers, it is stated.

TEACHERS ASKED TO HELP DRIVE

Rev. C. C. Smith and Mrs. Eubanks Presented the Campaign Plans

Teachers of Durham county were urged to lend their assistance to the Armenian relief drive, that is to take place during the ensuing month, at their monthly meeting held yesterday morning in the office of Superintendent of Education C. W. Massey. The relief fund campaign was outlined to the teachers by Chairman C. C. Smith, and Mrs. I. S. Eubanks, county home economic demonstrator. Miss Salter of the health department also spoke to the teachers, concerning health work in the schools.

At the meeting the teachers reported the best average attendance for February, that has been reported in the history of the county school system. There are now more than 3,000 children attending school daily in the county. This is by far the largest report for the term, and shows conclusively, according to Supt. Massey that the effects of the influenza epidemic are over.

The last teachers meeting will be held next month at which time the teachers will stand examinations on the books they have studied during the term. The meeting will be of general importance and all teachers are to be asked to attend.

Yesterday afternoon colored teachers of the county held their monthly meeting, and were in session for about an hour. The usual program was carried out.

WILSON TO HEAR IRISH-AMERICANS

Pleas of Ireland to Be Presented to President on Eve of His Sailing

Washington, March 1.—On the eve of his departure from America President Wilson will listen to the presentation of Ireland's plea for self-determination. The cause of Ireland will be advocated by former-Governor Dunne, of Illinois, and Judge Cohalan, of New York. The expression of the mind of the Irish people of the United States as reflected by the members of the Friends of Ireland will be dramatic in the extreme, as the arguments will be presented at a special audience for 25 delegates before the President in his suite at the New York hotel following his public address on the night of March 4.

The meeting was arranged today when the delegation as named at the recent convention of the Friends of Ireland in Philadelphia visited the White House to lay before the President several resolutions reflecting the policy which the friends of Ireland wish the President to urge upon the peace conference when the Irish question comes up for consideration.

Owing to previous engagements the President was unable to see the delegation today but the resolutions were left for his perusal and it was arranged that he would give the delegation the opportunity to present their case on the eve before sailing from New York.

The delegation included Recorder Goff and Judge Cohalan, of New York; Monsignor Henry and Francis Doyle, of Philadelphia; Robert W. Wolfe, of Chicago, former-Governor Dunne, of Illinois and John F. Grace, of Charleston, S. C.

New York, March 1.—"Wilhelm" is still in bad with the courts of New York. Wilhelm Sternberg (no connection with the man in Holland) except the same name) applied for citizenship today.

"You might make a good citizen," Sternberg was told by Justice Tierney, "but I won't admit you with that frightful first name. If you change it I will reconsider your application."

"I'll get it changed to William," Sternberg replied and started for county courts.

GREAT IN GERMANY'S UNEMPLOYED PEOPLE

London, March 1.—Unemployment in Germany has increased 200 percent since the signing of the armistice, while the former commercial activity has degenerated to a state of stagnation, according to the Daily Telegraph which has sent a correspondent into Germany to study internal conditions.

Prior to the armistice when war industries were operating there were 500,000 idle workmen in Germany. The number has been rapidly increasing since November until now 1,500,000 workers are unemployed.
